Karver Finishes 6th

at the one-mile mark, Jerry turned his ankle for the third time and was forced to stop running. Over a hundred runners passed him while he gamely started to test his injured ankle. After walking a short distance he started to trot and then t run.

Although his injury must have caused him great pain, and he was trailing behind 150 runners he started to increase his pace. Passing runner after runner Jerry sped ahead until he crossed the finish line in 26:47 for sixth place.
