faithful followers of our present football "powerhouse."

WHAT IS THE SCOOP ON THIS BOWL BUSINESS? So far I have heard that we might play in any one of the New Year's Day Classics ranging from the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans to the Finger Bowl in Port Matilda. In my opinion, to play in one of these "over-rated" bowl games would be an insult to the coaching staff and players of the greatest football team in Penn State history. I say this for several reasons but primarily because it is impossible for us to play the only two teams in the country who have as much potential strength as we do. The records show that these two teams are none other than Michigan and Notre Dame.

Now don't get me wrong. I want to SEE a post-season game but NOT with a hundred other Penn State rooters "deep in the heart of Texas" or way out in "Oklahoma." Why not play our own "blood rivals," the University of Pennsylvania, in Franklin Field with the proceeds going to some worthy charitable organization. Call it the "Charity Bowl" or something, but play a team where rivalry truly exists and right here in our own home state.

Mr. Jay Returns

One of the most interesting events held at Schwab auditorium last season was the lecture-movie on skiing by John Jay, well-known ski authority.

Tonight Mr. Jay returns to Schwab with a new movie and talk on skiing. This year the Penns Valley Ski Club is again sponsoring the program with the proceeds going to the fund that will send the United States ski team to the 1948 Olympics.

Unless enough funds are collected in the next month or two the U. S. ski team will not be able to make the trip to the competitions at St. Moritz. The skiers are not able to raise funds by exhibition matches as the wrestlers, boxers, etc., can. Their only way is through contributions and benefits.

A $50,000 goal has been set to finance the team's trip to St. Moritz and the proceeds from the John Jay program tomorrow night will help the U. S. skiers to make that trip.

Edit Shorts

• Men simply must break the habit of going bareheaded, "a custom started by college men," was the edit of a fashion expert at a California style conference. . . . Considering the difference, however, between masculine and feminine reaction to such "musts," we don't foresee any mad rush to the local hatteries.

Exchange Dinners Prove Successful

"Even more successful than was expected," was the general comment of the Atherton Hall coeds and the Pollock Circle men who took part in the first, exchange dinner last Sunday.

As a result, Suzanne Romig, WSGA president, and Edmund Walacavage, Circle social chairman, said yesterday that the number from each group for the next exchange will be increased from ten to twenty-five.

The date for the second exchange has been set for the first Sunday after Thanksgiving holidays. This Sunday is being omitted because of Pitt weekend.

If the second exchange with Atherton Hall is as successful as the first, the plan will then be extended to the other campus dormitories, Miss Romig said.

College Receives $8,000 For Ag Investigation

A research grant of $8,000 has been given the College by the Allegheny Conference on Community Development for the purpose of investigating agricultural potentialities of the Pittsburgh area.

The study is designed to determine the most desirable type of agricultural development and the possible market for agricultural production of counties in Southwest Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia.

The departments of agricultural economics and rural sociology will conduct inquiries into the number and size of farms, rural populations, and production facilities; also the uses and acreage of land and the numbers and types of livestock.

This project is a continuation of research undertaken cooperatively by the College, the Allegheny conference, and the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

Penn State Gets Bid To Chesterfield Bowl!

Right here in State College, there will be a "bowl game" from Wed., Nov. 19 to Wed., Nov. 28. The place is the CORNER ROOM and there will be no reserved booths. On the counter, where you pay for that cup of coffee will be a glass bowl filled with cigarettes—Chesterfields. All you have to do to "score" is guess the number of cigarettes in the bowl, and the winner or winners will receive a carton of Chesterfields each. Drop your estimate of the number of Chesterfields into the box provided, with your name and address. The winners will be announced after Thanksgiving.
