

On New Beaver Field at 2 P.M. Booters Meet Owls Tomorrow; Drop 2-1 Decision to Cadets

Smarting under a stinging 2-1 defeat administered by a rugged Army aggregation at West Point Wednesday, Bill Jeffrey's Lion soccermen resumed practice drills yesterday in preparation for the season's finale against Temple tomorrow.

With the Owl tiff the lone Penn State sports event to be played at home over the weekend, the booters will meet the invaders on New Beaver Field at 2 p.m. No admission will be charged.

THE POTENT OWLS

Temple, a top flight contender in eastern soccer laurels during the past three years, boasts one of the most potent booting juggernauts in the nation this season. In their nine engagements during the current campaign, the Owls have lost only one engagement, a 3-1 upset at the hands of Maryland two weeks ago.

Leading the Temple attack tomorrow will be a brace of high-spirited offensive men in Johnny Hughes at inside right, and Fred

Barlow at center forward. Owl fullbacks Clothier and Lambert, long the bane of opposing forward lines, promise to supply the Lion point makers with a challenging defensive duo.

Coached by Dr. Pete Leanness, a standout soccer performer for the Owls in his undergraduate days, the invaders will feature a brisk, short-passing style of play that closely approximates the system used by Bill Jeffrey in his tutelage of Lion elevens. Harry Rogers of Philadelphia, a famed booting official in eastern intercollegiate circles, will referee the tussle.

Lion starters are Gene Graebner at goalie, Chuck Margolf and Jim Kline at fullbacks, and Dean Hartman, Ralph Hosterman, and Jack Campbell in the halfback slots.

Harriers Run in NCAA Monday; Finale for Karver, Lennox

The College cross-country team will hold its last practice of the year tonight in preparation for the NCAA meet Monday afternoon at Michigan. This will be the last time Jerry Karver and Fred Lennox will run with the team since Jerry and Fred will graduate before another cross-country season rolls around.

"A Penn State cross-country team has never placed lower than third since the first NCAA meet in 1938," said Coach Werner, "and this year we will be aiming at the top." Coach Werner, who was the first president of the association, remarked that in 1942 the harriers took first place in the national event, in 1943 they took second, and last year, with Curt Stone placing second, the squad placed third.

A case of taking a wrong turn caused Horace Ashenfelter to drop from his position with the leaders to 25th in last year's meet. After realizing his mistake, Ash retraceed his steps and came in 13th.

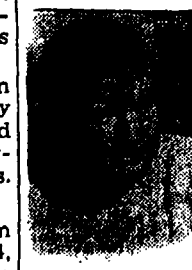

Also in last year's encounter, Karver placed seventh, "Pappy" Longenecker placed 40th, Mitch Williams placed 69th, Howie Horne placed 94th and Bill Shuman placed 124th.

All of the men who competed in that meet with the exception of Stone, Horne and Shuman will wear the blue and white this Monday at East Lansing.

LEAVE SATURDAY

Seven harriers, two coaches and a manager will make the long trip to the Michigan State course. Leaving for Pittsburgh Saturday morning, the team will stop to see the State-Pitt football game, and then board a sleeper for Michigan. They will arrive at their destination Sunday afternoon.

The complete list of men making the trip is as follows: Jerry Karver, Horace Ashenfelter, Don Longenecker, Fred Lennox, Mitch Williams, John Bates, Bob Auman, Coach Chick Werner and Norman Gordon, and head manager Duke Robinson.

IM, IFC Bowling Loops

Beaver House Leads IM Bowling League

Although yielding their first points to an opponent this season, the Beaver House bowlers continued to remain well out in front of the IMA Bowling League after the fourth evening of matches held at the Dux Club recently.

However, the spotlight was focused on second place where the Nittany Co-op, Lazy Five, and I.T.K. were all even. The former two won all of its matches while the latter was gaining three-fourths. Dorm 9 dropped from second into tenth place by dropping all of its games.

High scoring honors for both single and three game scores of the evening were taken by Carl Kackenmeister, Dorm 13, who tallied 242 for the single game high and totaled 544 for the three game high. Dan Polansky, Beaver House, also stood out by placing second in the single game high with 204 and rating fifth in the three game totals with 513.

Three out of four of the three game total highs were made in the Dorm 13-Ath Hall match. Beaver House had the high individual game average with 162.

Twice this season, Penn State's football team restricted major opposition to minus yardage on the ground.

Theta Chi Strengthens Hold on First Place

Scoring an impressive win over Delta Tau Delta, Theta Chi maintained first place in the IFC Bowling League after the matches held recently at the Dux Club.

Alpha Chi Sigma, meanwhile, entered into a second place deadlock with Lambda Chi Alpha by shutting out Delta Upsilon. Lambda Chi Alpha defeated Beta Theta Pi.

Glenn Oyler, of Alpha Chi Sigma, took high single game scoring honors for the evening with a 212. Following him were Joe Orlando, Delta Upsilon, 194; and John Pouch, Chi Phi, 193.

In the three game score department, Harold Miller, Alpha Chi Sigma, totaled 535 for high honors. Paul Margolf, Delta Upsilon, and Oyler, were closely behind with 535 and 527 totals respectively.

The league standing now reads, in respective order, Theta Chi, Lambda Chi Alpha, Alpha Chi Sigma, Delta Sigma Phi, Delta Upsilon, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Alpha Gamma Rho, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Chi, Chi Phi, Delta Tau Delta, and Kappa Delta Rho.

GOOD ATTRACTION

More people saw Penn State play football in 1947 than in any year since the 1920's.

Grid Scrimmage Records

Jeff Durkota's scoring scampers of 48 and 43 yards against Navy definitely stamped him as the best heavy duty back on the Lions' roster and also boosted his season's yardage to 401 yards, only 12 yards behind State's top ground gainer, Francis Rogel.

Durkota has carried the mail for the Nittanymen 31 times to gain 401 yards for an average of 12.9 yards per carry. Only Larry Joe, fleet-footed Lion halfback, comes close to that mark by gaining 287 yards in 37 tries for an average of 7.7 yards per try.
