

Cabinet Earmarks $1856.50 For Campus Cooperative

By unanimous vote, All-College Cabinet earmarked $1856.50 for the campus cooperative project at 5:05 p.m. yesterday.

The only hurdle remaining before the co-op can be realized, is approval of the plan by the Board of Trustees. Samuel K. Hostetter, assistant to the president in charge of business and finance, will present the co-op plan with the statement of Cabinet's financial backing, to the trustees on December 5.

Cabinet's decision to finance the store resulted when questionnaires circulated by the co-op committee showed that 93 per cent of over 4000 students tested favored the project. The appropriation figure, $1856.50, is based on 25 cents per student, and entitles every undergraduate to membership in the store. Should the present enrollment increase, a corresponding increase in the allotment would be made. The funds for the appropriation will be drawn from Inter-Class Finance, and not solicited from individual students, as was originally planned.

Inter-Class Finance committee presented the appropriation bill at Cabinet meeting Thursday. The special session was necessary, since the All-College Constitution requires all bills involving an expenditure of over $100 to be read at one meeting and voted on at the following one.

The campus co-op will probably be located in the Temporary Union Building, Emory Brown, chairman of the co-op committee, said. If the trustees grant their approval, on December 5, the store will be in operation by February.

The store will be run on a non-profit basis, Brown revealed. Mark-ups on all items will not exceed 5 per cent, as compared to a 50 per cent margin on book supplies, and 35 per cent on toiletries, at local retailers. Any profits above operating costs would be returned in the form of lower prices on future sales. Used books, incidental book supplies (pencils, notebooks, paper, etc.), and toilet articles will be sold. An elected student board of directors would direct the management of the co-op.

SU in Charge of Bulletin Board

Grounds and Buildings personnel began erection last week of the new All-College bulletin board, which will be the direct responsibility of Student Union, on the north-west corner of the Mall-Pollock Road intersection.

The bulletin board was requested by All-College cabinet last year as a convenient location for announcements concerning organized campus groups and all-college activities. Lack of proper materials delayed its construction until last week.

Members of the Student Union office staff will have direct responsibility for placing and removing all posters and announcements, said George Donovan, Student Union manager. Groups or individuals wishing to use the facility are asked to bring their posters to the SU desk in Old Main.

Size limitation of 12 x 14 inches has been placed on material for the board to allow maximum use by all organizations, said Donovan.

Blue Band, in their last appearance of the regular season, provided lively football airs of the College. The cheerleaders, under Stan Ferman, led the singing, and Tom Lannen, All-College president was master of ceremonies.

Froth Moves Up Staff Members

Move-ups on Froth editorial and business staffs were announced Wednesday at a party at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house.

Sheldon Mermelstein, business manager, said that Benjamin Levy has been named a senior board member as Business Associate. Joe W. Kelly and Frank A. Rugh, Jr. were added to Junior Board. Junior Business candidates are Sylvia Levy, Harriet Miller, Lorraine Munz, Nancy Parent and Carolyn Rice.

John R. Connelly, Harriet Denby, Bernie Dobosh, Frances Esherman, Jane Gray, Vaida Riggs, Dorothy L. Smith, Lewis Stein and Kay Stephenson were named for Sophomore Business Board.

J. Arthur Stober, Editor, announced move-ups to Sophomore Editorial Board. They are Anthony Bowan, Diane Byran, Walter Cowan, John L. Fuller, Henry Glass, Nan Harris, Robert Himler, Carol Jungman, Elliot Krane, Ralph Meier, Lois Ostwind and George Potter.

Henry Glass, Thespian, entertained with a street vander routine. Louis Bell, faculty adviser to Froth, remarked in speaking before the group that Froth is among the best college humor magazines.

Students Judge Stock in Chicago

Ten students have been selected to represent the College in the intercollegiate livestock and meat judging contests to be held at Chicago next week.

Coaching the meat judging team will be Percival T. Zeigler, while Dr. William L. Henning will head the livestock judging team.

The group left Saturday, November 22, on a trip that will include stops for practice judging at several Ohio and Illinois farms, as well as at Ohio State and Purdue universities. At the college stops, the College teams will join similar teams from West Virginia University, Cornell University, Ohio State, and the University of Maryland.

Intercollegiate livestock judging will take place at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago on Saturday, November 29. The meat judging team will compete on Tuesday, December 2. Livestock judging will include 12 classes of horses, beef cattle, sheep, and swine.

Making the trip are Charles Cameron, Lynn Christian, Walter Fairman, George Glenn, Thomas King, Francis Kirk, Robert Pennington, Paul Smith, George Swart, and James Work.

SU Temporarily Out Of Alumni Calendars

Sale of the new Alumni Association engagement calendars has proved so great that Student Union may be temporarily sold out, Ridge Riley, executive secretary, said today.

However, additional orders are expected within a day or two, and student demands for the unique desk calendars will be met.

Approximately 3,000 of the calendars have been ordered, and only 500 have arrived, which explains why students may have to wait one or two days to receive their copies.

The calendars come complete with a durable spiral binding, and in addition to photographs of the campus and surrounding scenery contain pictures of three campus beauties. These are last year's campus queen, apple queen, and May queen.

PS Club Seeks Talent for Show

Contestants for the Penn State Club's traditional Talent Show are asked by Michael Zaneosky, chairman, to sign up as soon as possible at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

The show will be held in Schwab Auditorium, Friday, December 5, and arrangements are nearing completion, said Zaneosky. Cash prizes will be awarded winning contestants. Students talented in singing, dancing, instrumental music, magic, comedy, or specialty are urged to participate.

Engineers Formulate Course Rating Sheet

Engineering Student Council, at a meeting held Tuesday evening, formulated the final plan for a course rating sheet for the School of Engineering.

The plan has been submitted to Harry P. Hammond, dean of Engineering, for final approval. According to George Bearer, chairman, the course rating sheet will be put into effect pending approval by the Dean.

Bridge Club Chooses Clarke Wahl President

Clarke F. Wahl has been elected president of the Men's Bridge Club. Other officers elected are Robert Tobias, vice-president; and George Widdowson, secretary-treasurer.

Wahl stressed that all students, both male and female, are eligible to enter the tournament to be played soon. The four winning pairs will compete with 36 other colleges in the eastern area. The winners of this area will be sent to Chicago with all expenses paid to play in the national collegiate tournament.

He mentioned that these are no dues or fees and that all students are invited every meeting which features duplicate play.

Fraternities desiring to hold individual play-offs are asked to contact either Wahl or Prof. Elton W. Jones, faculty advisor. Duplicate boards, cards and other necessary material and instructions will be furnished by the club.

Ed Majors to Get Eleven O'Clocks

Senior women who are education majors and who will spend one eight week period of their eighth semester off campus student teaching may send a written request to judicial for eleven o'clock permissions beginning the second eight week period of their seventh semester, Mary Kay Rice, judicial chairman, said today.

This will insure each senior woman her full quota of eleven o'clock permissions for one full semester, Miss Rice stated.

Requests may be left at the Dean of women's office.

Vet Enrollment Totals 5362

Veteran enrollment on the campus this semester totals 5362, Mrs. Rebecca Doerner, secretary of Veteran's Affairs, reported today. Of this number, 5315 are men and 47 are women students.

The report also revealed that 1512 men and 15 women veterans are enrolled in the four undergraduate centers of the College and at the Mont Alto branch of the Pennsylvania State Forest School.

The registration by schools at the College follows: Agriculture, 849; Chemistry and Physics, 535; Education, 370; Engineering, 1517; the Liberal Arts, 1204; Mineral Industries, 338; and Physical Education and Athletics, 166.

There are 335 veterans enrolled as graduate students; 42 as special students; and 6 as two-year agriculture students.
