Junior Service Board Plans Formation of National Group

Junior Service Board, local Junior Women's Honorary, will entertain representatives of several eastern colleges and universities this weekend to discuss plans for organizing a National Junior Women's Honorary, Nancy Ault, president, said today.

At present, Junior women are the ones who do not have a National Honorary. The freshman honorary is Alpha Lambda Delta, sophomore is Cwens, and senior is Mortar Board. It is the purpose of this conference to form a national Junior organization to be on a par with these other class honoraries.

Sigma Delta Tau

Newly elected officers of the pledge class of Sigma Delta Tau are Judy Dankster, president; Shirley Teper, secretary; Myrna Tex, treasurer.

Sigma Delta Tau is having an open house at Atherton Hall from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday afternoon for all fraternities and sororities on campus.

In the beginning of the semester, letters were sent out to colleges and universities all over the country to see if they had a local junior honorary and if they were interested in forming a national one, said Miss Ault. Several had such organizations and were in favor of becoming part of a national group. On the basis of these replies the coming conference was scheduled.

If the conference is successful in completing arrangements for a national honorary, the request for such an organization will be sent to the National Conference of College Fraternities and Societies. This group, to which Arthur R. Warnock, dean of men, and Dr. Francis Tschan, history professor, are members, will decide upon the acceptance of this group.

WSGA Asks Support Of Christmas Drive

The annual Christmas drive sponsored by WSGA began yesterday. Every coed will be asked to contribute at least thirty cents to this cause.

The money collected from the Christmas drive will be divided equally among the Mifflin County Children's Aid Society in Lewistown, the American Women's Hospitals, and the local Estelle Hietzel Emergency Fund.

Janet Lyons, chairman of the drive, spoke to the dormitory presidents at the House of Representatives meeting Tuesday. She stressed the need for contributions, as well as the worthiness of the organizations to which these funds are to be given.

The drive will continue until

Fashion Notes

The sleeveless Daryl dress pictured above is ideal for those informal Saturday evenings. Made of toast brown Riori crepe with a waist nipped-in by a wide band, the skirt falls straight in loose pleats to the new long length. It has a matching long-sleeved jacket and is currently pictured in leading fashion magazines.

Panhel Lists Code Revision

Panhellenic Council has made a revision in its rushing code with regards to open houses which precede each formal rushing season, said Mona Smulyan, Panhellenic president.

Previously prospective rushees often visited only the houses or suites with which they were familiar or whose location they were certain of. This prevented their becoming acquainted with as many sororities as it is to their advantage to.

The new system, which is to go into effect at the time of the next formal rushing period, will provide what will amount to a guided tour of the various houses and suites.

The prospective rushees will be conducted from sorority to sorority, remaining a fixed time at each. This will facilitate their becoming acquainted with all of the sororities instead of a very limited number as was often the case under the former system.

Louise Homer To Pledge 27

Louise Homer Club, women's music honorary, recently held an informal party for its new pledges in Atherton Hall, said Josephine Rotill, president.

Entertainment included group singing led by Mrs. Willa Taylor, faculty advisor to the club, and a short biography of Louise Homer, famous American contralto, for whom the club was named, by Miss Rotill. Formal initiation of the pledges will be held soon.

Pledges are Nancy Ault, Shirley Cogswell, Beverly Corman, Margaret Cunningham, Elizabeth De Muro, Cynthia Doan, Marian Fister, Lois Hughes, Jo Marie Jackson, Margaret Jones, Frances Keeney.
