Lion Eleven Records Great Offense Mark

Combining solid strength, speed and football know-how, a great 1947 Nittany Lion team cleatmarked gridiron history with one of Penn State's top offensive records.

Geared to a powerful pitch, Coach Bob Higgins' well-known and well-knit single wing attack rolled up the highest nine-game scoring total in 61 years of Lion Coathel bisters. Only the twice football history. Only the twicebeated 1916 team amassed more points-a total of 348-but needed ten games to do it.

Following are Lion scores for the past grid campaign:

teams. Grantland Rice succeeded the famed Walter Camp in 1925, and has continued to "Glorify the American boy." Said Rice in his story, "In the old days, when football was more or less confined to a few colleges on the Eastern seaboard....it was possible for one man to do the job.

continued the one-man method for few years, but soon found that I couldn't possibly see enough games to make the proper selections. Then Collier's organized an Advisory Board, composed of experienced football writers who have covered the games in their sections for many years."

This thirteen man board, composed of many of the leading sports editors in the nation, corlaborated with Rice in determining the team.

Of Ukrainian birth, Steve Suhey was a key part of one of the finest lines ever to represent the Warriore of Nittany in intercol-legiate competition. His familiar number 62, which jersey he has carried with him since his prewar football days, was ever-active on the field.

Steve's a running guard, and this position requires the utmost in physical conditioning and dural ility. A favorite pupil of Line Coach Joe Bedenk. Suhey showed again the fruits of Bedenk's stringent pre-season conditioning.

To Bedenk and to Higgins extreme satisfaction and the fine feeling of pride in their player. To Steve, who hands all of the credit to his teammates. the student body and the nation echo "nice going."
