

WSGA Drive Reaches $169

The WSGA Christmas Drive has attained $169 of its $450 goal, Janet Lyons, chairman of the drive, announced yesterday. The drive started Tuesday, December 2, and will continue until December 15.

The drive is conducted through coed living units and by dormitory presidents, under the chairmanship of Janet Lyons. Every girl on campus is to be contacted before the end of the drive. If each coed gives a total of thirty cents to the drive, this year's $450 goal can be easily realized. Only an approximate 37% of the goal has been obtained in over half the period of the length of the drive, and girls not yet contacted are urged to contribute.

When the drive first started in 1926 the women of the College donated $105.26 to the American Women's Hospitals. The amount to the same organization increased in 1928 with a donation of $115. In 1938 $132.31 was divided between the Mifflin County Children's Aid and the Lytle's Addition Nursery School.

The 1939 drive brought a total of $196.25 which was divided among the Mifflin County Children's Aid, the American Women's Hospitals, and the Estelle Hetzel Emergency Fund. This year's drive is contributing to the same three organizations.

Windcrest Wives

Adopts Family

A local family of seven children and their mother have been adopted for the Christmas season by the Windcrest Wives. As a Yuletide project, the club plans to pack two baskets filled with gifts and food.

In an effort to help get a bill passed through Congress to raise the subsistence of the married students with children, members of the club individually wrote to Senators Edward Martin and Francis Myers. A reply from Martin written to the president of the club declared that the bill was at present being considered in the House of Representatives.

Among other festivities of the club this month are Christmas caroling at Windcrest, 8:30 p.m., December 18, and the Kappa Alpha Theta Bazaar and tea this Saturday afternoon.

The club is working in cooperation with the Elks Club to present the second Annual Christmas party for Windcrest children. The Elks will furnish a tree and trimmings and have asked Windcrest residents to do the decorating. As yet no date for decorating the tree has been set. The party will be held at Community Hall at 2 p.m., December 18.

College women who are or have been Girl Scouts are invited to come in and get acquainted, said Mrs. Phillip X. Rice, public relations chairman. The office is open each afternoon, Monday through Friday, from 2:30 to 4:30. The telephone is 6622.

Campus Fashions

The college wardrobe shown here is designed to take you from your eight o'clock till you sign in at 1 a.m. At left, for that special dance, is a black lace over taffeta ankle-length dress worn with black lace mitts and white shell jewelry. Who would feel the cold in a Forstmann fleece coat of light brown with a full "swing" back? The shawl-like hood protects the head from winter winds. The dark brown wool crepe suit pictured above is designed for dating and features the new padded hip line and tortoise buttons.

White Hall Bowling Plans Spark National Telegraphics

When Miss Mildred Lucey and the Bowling Club at White Hall organized a National Telegraphic Bowling Tournament in 1940, seven colleges and universities accepted the challenge.

This year 49 schools from 21 states are entered in the tournament.

Twenty of the 49 teams completed the first of four rounds of competition for the 1947-1948 schedule this week.

Results of the games, compiled in White Hall, show San Jose State College, San Jose, Cal., the top team for the first round with a high score of 1483.

Penn State's bowling team placed seventh nationally with a total score of 1369. Teams are composed of five members who bowl two games apiece toward the total score.

Individual scoring honors were taken by Phyllis Jones of San Jose State College with a high game of 208. Sally Hostetter of Penn State placed sixth with 174.

The New York Times recently published an article announcing Temple University champion for the four rounds of National Telegraphic competition last year. This was the third straight year Temple's bowling team had taken the title.

Miss Lucey, organizer of the original bowling telegraphics, served as editor of the bowling section in the 1946-1948 Guide for Recreational Games.

This guide is published for the National Section on Women's Athletics of the American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation. The association took over sponsorship of the tournament, at the request of Miss Lucey and the College Bowling Club, in 1942.

Theta Sigma Phi To Pledge Four

Theta Sigma Phi, women's national journalism honorary, will pledge four girls at a ceremony in the Southeast lounge of Ather-ton Hall at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

Those pledged will be Wilma Brehm, Claire Lee, Elaine Mittleman, and Mona Smulyan.

All women with a major in journalism, advertising or editorial, were considered. Requirements are a two average in journalism courses and active on a campus publication.

Since pledging will be short because of the Thespian show, all actives and peldges are urged to be there promptly, said Roberta Hutchison, president.

WRABoardReviews Intramural Rules

At the last meeting of the WRA executive board basketball and bowling intramurals were discussed.

Nancy Romig, WRA intramural chairman, pointed out that no official games can be played without a full team. If the required number of five players have not appeared on the floor within five minutes of the assigned time, that team automatically defaults. No member of any other team may play for another group.

Bowling must take place at the time set on the WRA fall schedule with both teams bowling on alternate alleys.

As was announced at the beginning of the basketball season, no woman can play unless she has worked out at least one hour during a practice game. The White Hall gymnasium is open Monday, Friday and Saturday nights for practice sessions.

Gertrude Fetzter was appointed chairman of basketball playday and Frances Nichols was placed in charge of the WRA Handbook.

Theta Bazaar Aids Charity

A charity bazaar, from which proceeds will be given to the Institute of Logopedics and for the support of a foster child, will be held by the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority at the sorority house from 1:30 to 4:30 Saturday afternoon.

A feature of the bazaar is the drawing for an imported angora sweater which will be given free to the person holding the lucky number, said Joan Seltzer and Jane Weigle, co-chairmen of the bazaar. Chances for this prize, are being sold by the members this week at 10c for one or three for 25c.

Articles on sale at the bazaar include all types of knitted goods, leather cigarette cases, wallets, comb cases, and shell earrings. Also displayed will be handpainted stationery, Christmas cards, decorations, plants and miniature oil paintings. Baked goods will be available and tea will be served ring the afternoon.

Sorority Alumnae

Hold Coffee Hour

The City Pan-Hellenic Association will entertain all town sorority alumnae and representatives from every sorority on campus at its annual Fall Coffee and Dessert Hour in the Anchor-age 8 o'clock tonight, Mrs. Carl P. Schott, president, said today.

During the social, the group will be serenaded with Christmas music, after which a business meeting will be held. Mrs. F. J. Doan is in charge of all arrangements.

The City Pan-Hel is composed of all sorority alumnae living in State College. Its main purpose is to award a $50 scholarship each year to a deserving junior or senior girl. Last year the organization raised enough money through dues, to give two scholarships.
