Theta Bazaar

TO THE EDITOR: The charity bazaar to be sponsored by Kappa Alpha Theta sorority on Saturday afternoon has a two-fold purpose. One is to help support a foster child and the second is to raise funds for the Institute of Logopedics, the Thetas national charity.

The institute, located near the campus of Wichita University, serves as a center for the correction of all types of speech defects.

By attending the bazaar and purchasing one of the many quality items for sale, you will not only shorten your Christmas shopping list, but your money will enable both worthy causes to continue the fine work.

Complete Addresses, Please

TO THE EDITOR: We appreciated your list of the trustees executive committee. But did you ever address a letter to John Smith. c/o New York City?

Why not print the complete addresses of these men, our Lords and Masters?

Yours for a real co-op.

Better Housing for Men!

TO THE EDITOR: Yipee! Another dormitory for women goes up. Isn't about time that independent men are given better housing? It sure would be a boon to independents' morale if this dormitory would be used to house men instead of women. Here is a solid plank for a campus political party if it's interested in the Independent men's vote.

Miss Penn State

TO THE EDITOR: Has the Pennsylvania State College fallen to such a low in the feminine pulchritude that we are unable to find in our midst a coed that we would be proud to hail as Miss Penn State at the Cotton Bowl?

Apparently someone thinks that such is the case. Why are we required to hail a movie star as our representative?

No doubt Hollywood and Miss Blair will welcome and profit by this unwarranted publicity, but what will our backers have in reply to the doubtless questions that will greet them from SMU students?

I for one feel that Miss Penn State should have been one of our own students. Penn State should have been represented by a bright, youthful college coe and not by a Hollywood charmer.

Let us hang our heads in shame and hope that the powers of our football giants will hide the weakness of our beauty experts.

Hot 'n Gold—

final scene of the first big act, entitled "The Senate Chambers" is without a doubt one of the best in the entire show, with Jack Calhoun, Jimmy Ambandos, Jim Dunaway, Bob Koser, "Yabby", et al providing the hilarity, and the girls in the chorus prancing in last year's bathing suits, providing the oomph.

If practice brings improvement then tonight's second act will go a long way in making for a much better show all-round. Bobby Cooper, Bill Bonsall, and Fuzzy Lomady were given a fine bit in which to show their wares but there was a distracting bit of hesitancy that could have been eliminated with a few more rehearsals.

And it was the second act, with but a few exceptions, that kept "Hot 'n Gold" from being a first rate Thespian show. The exceptions: an excellently staged number, "I'm Just a Rollin' Stone," with Bea Stern, Ginny Gallup, Koser, Lomady, and the Glee Singers; a slick arrangement of the "Nittany Lions," under the direction of Ray Fortunato, backed by a first-class replica of the Lion shrine.

Putting all these numbers into some plot sequence was out of the question, so Thespians Ken Holderman, Pepper Birchard, and Ed Coles did the next best thing, and by way of a pair of angels, Eddie McCoy and Eddie Coles, presented the entire shebang to "Elmer Tootle," a gent long since departed because he dared say a Thespian show "stunk" . . . well, we never did find out what happened to Elmer, and the two angels hadn't convinced him he should take back what he said, but they did come forth with some good humor.

Pat Schwab's genial janitor, and long reviewer of Thespian shows, sent us home . . . true, "Hot 'n Gold" dragged in places and could have been improved, but in all fairness to cast and crews, it was a night not ill spent listening and watching some good clean entertainment.

Cabinet Suggests AA Send Band

All College Cabinet voted last night to recommend to the Athletic Association that the Blue Band, the senior cheerleaders, and the Lion be sent to the Cotton Bowl game January from the College's share of the proceeds.

Prof. Hummel Fishburn, Blue Band director, had previously estimated that $12,000 would be required to make the trip with the band. Penn State's share of the gate will be $755,000, it was reported.

Delegates Chosen

Cabinet also appointed four representatives from each class as delegates to the Pennsylvania Region Assembly of the National Student Association, the direct appointment winning over suggestions that a student referendum or a combined method be utilized.

Delegates are Ted Allen, Harold Brown, Harold Fahringer, William Meek, and Nancy Cray (alternate). Junior delegates are Jane Fouracre, Jo Fox, Abram Bosler, Emory Brown, and Richard Morgan (alternate). Senior delegates are Alan Ostar, Harris Gilbert, Robert Troxell, John Keller, Patricia Meily, and Eugene Fulmer and Earl Kemmler (alternates).

A motion to protest the Trustees' disapproval of the Cabinet co-op plan was tabled after much discussion, but a motion to instruct the co-op committee to continue gathering information concerning co-ops on other campuses and alternative proposals for one here was passed.

IFC Backs Co-Op In Trustee Letter

Interfraternity Council voted last night to write a letter to the Trustees stating that it was in favor of the Co-op. The letter will be written by Willard Agnew, president.

Each fraternity has been requested to donate $15 to the Hetzel Memorial Fund.

IFC Assesses Greeks

An assessment of $25 for each fraternity, and $20 for each sorority will be made as insurance to the IFC treasury in case the joint Panhel-IFC dance on April 16 runs into a deficit.

Other topics of discussion included the mixed drinking section of the Dating Code, the interpretation of which was left up to IFC's Judicial Committee; inquiries as to a possible curfew on dormitory serenading, which Agnew said he would investigate; and statistics from a Caterer's Association report on food costs and house bills.
