NSA Endorses GI Subsidies; More Professor Ratings

By Jane Fouracre

The educational objectives of the local chapter of the National Student Association will include, among other activities, increased GI subsidies, professor ratings, curricula reforms and elimination of discriminatory practices.

The national education panel endorsed salary raises for professors and will set up commissions on the regional and campus levels to investigate college facilities and to work with administrations to raise academic standards. A system for rating professors, similar to the one used in the Liberal Arts School last year, has been used successfully in other schools. Samples of such forms will be distributed to member schools this year.

NSA will also work for increased GI subsistence, while holding the line on college tuitions. Plans include a program similar to the GI Bill to aid worthy students who need financial assistance to attend college.

The problem of discrimination in northern and southern states was resolved nationally by the decision that each region and member campus would work on the problem locally. The results will be reported at the next convention when it will be decided whether a national policy applicable to all schools will be necessary.

The reports of the southern delegates showed that advances are being made, evidenced by non-segregated conventions and joint attack of mutual problems by negro and white schools. The northern delegates pointed to reforms in New England and New York. Both factions felt that the situation could be met locally. The year's delay will give us an opportunity to prove what can be done on the local level. It will be

Fans See Bowl Movies In 2 Showings Tonight

Movies of the Cotton Bowl football game in which Southern Methodist and Penn State played to a 13-13 tie New Year's Day in Dallas will be shown in Schwab Auditorium at 7 and 7:45 o'clock tonight.

Two showings will be presented to accommodate the large numbers expected to be interested in these official College films, said Ray Conger, of the physical education staff and sports photographer.

Assistant Coach Jim O'Hara will explain the movies.

SDA Meeting

The local chapter of Students for Democratic Action will select delegates for the national convention at their meeting in 409 Old Main at 8:15 tonight. The National charter of the organization and a report on the petition drafted by SDA for the joint co-op committee will also be presented at this time.

Box-Lunch Social

IWA will entertain men from Nittany Dorms at a box-lunch social in the Grange playroom, Saturday at 2 p.m., said Sylvia Schenfeld, publicity chairman. Hank Glass will be the auctioneer. All independent women and men from Nittany Dorms are invited.

'Serenade' Cures Sunday Boredom

"Sheepskin Serenade," senior class entertainment, "will help fight off that Sunday afternoon boredom," said C. Frederick Troutman, show director.

The Serenade, with Henry Glass as M.C. and music by Paul Grove and his band, will include a dance routine from the last Thespian show by "Fuzzy" Lomady and "Ginny" Gallup.

One of the features of the afternoon will be the appearance of the winner of the Penn State Club Talent Show. The senior class has arranged with the Penn State Club, said Troutman, that the winner of the Friday night show will appear Sunday afternoon.

A group of coeds, known as the "Chocolate Drips," will do several black face dances. The "Drips" include Mary M. Barnett, Louise Grossman, Barbara Knoll, Gladys Lou Miller, and Lee Ann Wagner. Troutman characterized the group as "terrific."

Other performers from the ranks of Thespians will also appear, said Troutman, but just what they will do is still indefinite.

IE Professor Dies at 65

Dr. Phillip R. Hall, industrial engineering professor, died at his home at 11:45 o'clock yesterday on his 65th birthday.

Dr. Hall's death resulted from a heart attack climaxing a two weeks' illness. He had been with the College 37 years and had just completed the signing of his retirement papers Wednesday.

A private funeral will be held at the Koch funeral home, 2:30 p.m. Saturday. Dr. Hall is survived only by his widow.

Student Musicians Play In Intercollegiate Band

Student musicians from the College will be chosen this Sunday at Lock Haven State Teachers College to play in an intercollegiate band, said James W. Dunlop, assistant professor of Music Education.

Each college in the state has submitted a list of their outstanding musicians from which the final band will be chosen.

Once selected, the band will rehearse at Lock Haven on April 1, 2 and 3 and give a public concert on the third. The band will be under the direction of Erik Leidzen of New York City.

Chapel Choir Director Lists Audition Dates

Tryouts to fill the vacancies in the chapel choir created by the graduation of several seniors at the end of this semester will be held next week, said Prof. Willis W. Taylor, director.

Prospective tenors may audition Monday, January 19, from 7 to 7:30 p.m., and basses from 7:30 to 8 p.m. Sopranos will try out Tuesday, January 20, from 7 to 7:30 p.m., and altos from 7:30 to 8 p.m. All tryouts will be given in 211 Carnegie Hall.

WRA Swim Club Offers Interpretive Swimming Based on Tchaikowsky

"Interpretive Swimming," based on selections from Tchaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite," will be presented in White Hall at 8 o'clock tonight and tomorrow night.

Admission to this annual aquacade is by tickets presented to interested students by participants in the program who were listed in yesterday's Daily Collegian.

The opening number will be the "Overture" followed by a dance interpretation of the "Reed Flutes." Nan James and Louise Grossman will present an original comedy duet. Another duo number will be presented by Judy Klein and Jacques Zivic.

Mickey Barnett will use "The Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairies" in the only solo of the evening. The 41 participants will take part in the finale, "Waltz of the Flowers." Miss Marion Whallon, swimming instructor, is adviser for the group.

Cabinet Sets Registration

Priorities for final phase registration have been set by All-College Cabinet, with registration time for the different categories of students following this schedule.

Third and fourth semester, two-year agriculture, special and new students, register from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, February 6.

Fifth and sixth semester students, from 1:10 p.m. to 5 p.m., February 6.

Seventh and eighth semester students, from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, February 7.

Graduate students any time before February 14.

"The semester classification is the semester in which the student is registering for the second semester 1947-48," explained Ray V. Watkins, scheduling officer.

Students will be permitted to register only at the designated time, and any student who fails to complete final phase registration on the above schedule will be charged a $5 late registration fee, he said.

Players' Tickets

All tickets for Saturday's production of the Players' show, "Out of the Frying Pan," have been sold, but there are still some available for January 24, said Robert D. Reifsnider, director.

Trustees Approve Sketches For Old Main Mural Panels

Preliminary sketches for the east and west panels of the Henry Varnum Poor mural in the Old Main lobby have been approved by the mural committee and the President of the Board of Trustees, Milton Osborne, chairman of the committee said yesterday.

Plans have been completed and the walls are ready for Mr. Poor to begin work as soon as he arrives at the College. He is expected this month.

According to the sketches, the new panels will be characterized by more action and more brilliant colors than the fresco on the north wall which was completed in 1940.

The same shade of red used on the barn in the upper left-hand corner of the present fresco will furnish the background of the east and west panels at the head of the stairways.

The west wall will depict the various student activities on the

Club Picks Judges For Talent Show

Judges who will select the semi-finalist winners in the seventh annual All-College Talent Show to be held at Schwab Auditorium tomorrow night were named yesterday by Fred Perizzi, publicity chairman of the Penn State Club.

The judges selected are Louis H. Bell, director of public information at the College; Ben French, managing editor of the Daily Collegian; Jean Haxton, vice-president of ISC; Robert D. Reifsnider, assistant professor of dramatics; and J. Arthur Stober, editor of Froth.

Semi-finalists will be determined on an aggregate point basis, with each judge giving 10 points to the act he thinks best, 9 to the next best, and so on. From the five contestants with the highest point total the winner will be selected by audience applause.

Tickets for the show are now on sale at Student Union and will also be available at the door on the night of the performance.

Co-op Committee Lays Final Plans

Final battle plans for the co-op plan campaign will be laid by combined efforts of the All-College Cabinet and joint co-op committees, in 417 Old Main at 7 o'clock tonight, said Emory Brown, chairman.

A setback occurred when the proposed main speaker for the educational mass meeting resorted to a previous speaking engagement at Northwestern University. He is nationally prominent and active in the Midwest's co-operative movement.

However, petitions have been prepared and will be distributed for student signatures before forwarding to the Board of Trustees. Letters to individual Trustees were posted last night. Decisions will be made tomorrow on the plans for a co-op tag day and a postal card campaign.

Dr. Arthur Davis Heads Collection Committees

The March of Dimes, national campaign for funds for the fight against infantile paralysis, opens today.

With a cyclical upswing in the number of polio cases the need will be urgent this year, says a letter from Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The campus goal in this great American charity is $1,000, said Dr. Arthur R. Davis, overall campus chairman, today. The drive is being conducted on the campus as a project of Dr. Davis' division of health education in the School of Physical Education and Athletics.

Students and staff members have been divided into groups, and committee chairmen have been appointed for each group. The faculty, said Dr. Davis, will not be included in the campus drive. They may contribute toward the campus goal if they wish by mailing contributions directly to Dr. Davis at Recreation Hall.

Permission has been granted by Dean Schott for the School of Physical Education and the office of the president of the College to conduct the drive on campus.

DRIVE ENDS JAN. 24

The campus drive will end on January 24, but the national campaign continues until January 30. The final collection on campus will be made at Recreation Hall at the boxing and wrestling matches January 24.

Chairmen and the groups they will cover are Margaret Erb and Nancy Killiam, women's dormitories, sororities and town houses; Albert McDonald, men's dormitories; Ray McDonald and Alvin Russell, Windcrest; and Harry Patchin, Nittany Dorms and Pollock Circle.

Nicholas Ranieri, fraternities; Mrs. C. Sumner, professional societies and honoraries; Virginia Gallup, non-faculty men and women.

This is the first time that the March of Dimes campaign has been conducted by a campus group, said Dr. Davis. It is being done in response to a request by the national office.

Truman on Economics

WASHINGTON — President Truman sent his economic message to the Republican-controlled Congress yesterday. He told the legislators they must give him powers to set up price control and rationing once again or take the responsibility for a nationwide slump.

Petrillo Curb

WASHINGTON — A Republican and a Democrat in Congress got together to propose decisive steps to curb what they called dictatorial methods of James C. Petrillo, Republican Representative Clare Hoffman of Michigan suggested a federal law making it a criminal offense to interfere with radio broadcasts. Democratic Representative Graham Barden of North Carolina followed this up by declaring, "Congress must take the anti-trust principles and see if we can't make Petrillo line up and walk with the rest of the nation."
