

Women Argue World State In Ohio, Pittsburgh Debates

Women's Debate is sending a representative team to Ohio State University to participate in a series of three debates to last from next Monday to Thursday, Dorothy Lees, manager, announced.

Helen Dickerson and Jane Fouracre have been chosen to act as the College's team. These girls will argue on the negative side of the question of Federal World Government, subject for the three debates. Professor Clayton Schug, of the public speech department and coach

Juniors Take Class Series

In the final basketball games of the battle between the classes, Wednesday night, the junior A team emerged undefeated by handing the hard-fighting sophomore team a 27 to 26 setback. Peg Shettel led the victors, sinking the ball for 18 points. Bess Kriner was the big gun for the losers with 12 points.

In the other game of the evening the junior B team defeated the seniors, 17 to 19.

The teams chosen for the three-game Army-Navy series from among the girls who played in the interclass tournament are for the Army team Peg Shettel, Bess Kriner, Jo Bihl, Petie Kraemer, Sara Nichols, Kay Bitner, Anna Forn-crook and Virginia Miller. The Navy team will be composed of Sally Hostetter, Commie Keller, B. J. Sammons, Sally Brooke, Marion Memory, Wanda Rickard, and Lovetta Dinius.

Team members will choose their captains before the start of the games.

Speed is a creed with newsmen and the Bell System helps make that speed possible.

It provides the local, Long Distance and radio-telephone, telegraph, teletypewriter and wire-photo facilities over which news is channeled to presses and microphones.

Keeping these facilities in top condition, ever improving and ever expanding, is the interesting job of many qualified men.

It is but one phase of the many-sided telephone industry in which thousands have found challenging and rewarding careers.

There's a future in telephony.
