

Army Defeats Navy in Opener

WRA Army-Navy series of basketball games between the outstanding players of the class teams started Thursday evening in a game which resulted in the Army defeating the Navy by a score of 33-28.

The end of the first quarter found the Navy squad with a slight lead. But by half time the Army had forged ahead to hold the edge 12-11.

Army dominated the third period, but in the last quarter Navy picked up and gave the Army a stiff battle. The game finally ended with the score at 33 for the Army to 28 for the Navy girls.

Individual scoring honors for the evening went to Army's Peg Shettel, tallying 16 points, and Sally Hostetter of the Navy with 14 points.

Rushing Deadline

All sorority bids to be sent out during the first period of informal rushing must be handed in by 5 p.m., February 20, said Adelaide Finkelston, Pan-Hel president.

Saint Valentine's Lads and Lassies Have Their Day

This custom of sending sweet greetings to your "one and only" on Valentine's Day is no new fad, but one that had its origin way back in 270 A.D.

It was on February 14 of that year that St. Valentine, a bishop and a martyr, was put to death in Rome. To honor the memory of this popular bishop, the guys and gals of Rome would meet on the Eve of St. Valentine's death to draw lots and each fellow would get a lady friend for his valentine.

Shakespeare took up this theme in the 16th century by alluding to February 14 as the day for love birds to mate. It soon became the practice to send verses, lace, or flowers to your sweetheart on that day.

In the 20th century along with the gay twenties and rollicking thirties came the sending of humorous valentines, telegrams and candy. Now as the buzzing forties come to a close, old St. Valentine is still playing Cupid for lads and lassies on February 14.

We The Women

By Marjorie Mousley

This is a column of thank you's and orchids. The thanks go to the hostesses of Atherton Hall and Miss Edith Zinn, assistant to the Dean of Women, for there are now two lounges in Ath Hall open for 11 o'clock dating.

Miss Zinn has assured us also that a system for reserving the lounges will be set up so that only three may be used at the same time. One will always be open for use by the coeds who live in the dorm.

We the Women of Atherton Hall really thank you for prompt action on a pet peeve.

While we're handing out bouquets there is another group that deserves a few orchids—WSGA Senate. Other student organizations could profit from observing the efficiency with which the Senate meetings are run.

The recent meeting of the group lasted only 45 minutes and in that short time many varied subjects were discussed. Rules were passed, appropriations granted, and committee reports heard in short order. Coeds can be proud of their government under President Suzanne Romig.

Senate meetings are open to all women students. They are held in WSGA room in White Hall at 8:15 every Thursday evening and there is ample room for observers. They say a word to the wise is sufficient.

Senate Passes Guest Rules, Soph Hop Late Permissions

Mary Kay Rice, chairman of judicial, introduced four rules concerning guests of coeds at WSGA Senate meeting Thursday night.

The new regulations, if followed by coeds entertaining visitors, will entitle them to special consideration and a lightening or elimination of a penalty which might be handed to them by judicial because of infraction of the rules by guests.

These regulations, incorporated into the regular rules of WSGA, are (1) coeds must see that their guests sign in; (2) the guest must be introduced to the dormitory hostess; (3) coeds must tell guests the rules; (4) the guest must be reminded that any penalties she may incur by infraction of the rules will be received by the coed she is visiting.

The group granted Violet Gillespie, Senior Senator, a month's leave of absence for practice teaching.

Mary White Portrait Bequeathed in Will

Mary Beaver White, once active in the interests of women students during the early years of the College, has received one more tribute.

Her portrait, to be painted as a result of a bequest of $1500, made in the will of her late son, John Beaver White '94, will be hung in White Hall, women's activities building, which was named as another honor for Mary Beaver White.

James Milholland, president of the Board of Trustees, will name a committee to select the artist.

Mary Beaver White was a sister of General James A. Beaver, formerly governor of Pennsylvania and twice president of the Board of Trustees of the College. Her husband, Reverend John W. White, was the College pastor for many years. The John W. White Medal, two fellowships, and six scholarships have been established in his memory. A loan fund has also been established to honor Mrs. White.

Three sons of the Reverend and Mrs. John W. White were graduates of the College. They are James Gilbert White '82, William Fullerton White '87, and John Beaver White, the donor of the bequest for the portrait.
