

WSGA Plans May Dance

WSGA initiated plans for a May Day weekend dance at Senate meeting Thursday. Starring Paul Grove's orchestra, the dance will be held in White Hall.

The pre-war girl-ask-boy invitation system, traditional with the affair, will be used. Virginia McClusky was named dance chairman.

Shirley Gauger was elected secretary of the House of Representatives.

In answer to the complaints of roads who were being forced to turn radios off at 11:30 p.m., the Senate and the House investigated and found no rulings regulating radio hours. However, it was pointed out that black marks could be given for excessive noise late at night.

We The Women

By Marjorie Mousley

Independent women sometimes fit their name too well for their own good. Often they prefer to work on their own rather than join a group for fear of losing their independence.

Up to now IWA, which is primarily a social group, has been forced to represent non-sorority coeds on various college committees because there was no real representative group to assume this responsibility.

At the present an independent student constitution is being drawn up by an All-College Cabinet committee working with ISC. When this new constitution goes into effect IWA will be disbanded, but until that time IWA is actively planning for the new group.

This is the time for independent women to say what they would like in their own organization. This is the time to join. IWA needs and will welcome suggestions on how this new system can be set up most effectively.

IWA holds weekly meetings in 104 Temporary building at 7 p.m. Monday. Discussion in the next meeting will center on plans for the new Association of Independent Women.

Remember—the first aim of the new constitution is to represent all independent women as fairly and accurately as possible. Now is the time to talk up so there will be no reason to talk down when the system goes into effect.

Beaver House

Richard Haag, Edward Kovacs, Albert Gaber, Phillip Neely, Thomas Weaver, Melvin Weiss, William Scheidmantel, James McClain and Daniel Polansky were recently initiated by the Beaver House. A pledge dance was held following the initiation.

Lakonides Induct Seven

Lakonides, women's physical education honorary, initiated seven women in White Hall Thursday evening. They were Jean Allison, Marcy Lou Bower, Louetta Dinius, Marion Martin, Virginia Miller, Helen Milligan and Nancy Smith.

At the same meeting, Louise Grossman was installed as new president of the organization. A social hour followed the ceremonies.

A swimming party will be sponsored by Lakonides at the Glendale pool from 8 to 10 p.m. Thursday. The party will be open to all members of the physical education school.
