In a closed session the committee rejected a subcommittee recommendation. The smaller group had proposed that Congress withhold Federal funds for hospital buildings and vocational schools from states that deny Negroes equal educational and job opportunities.

Towne appeared before the committee in response to a subpoena directing that he show up with the controversial papers. But Towne did not have the papers with him, nor would he answer questions about them.

Trustees Study Co-op Project

NSA Staff Condemns IUS Secretariat

Meet Cabinet, SU Group, Hear Students' Needs

Campus co-operative store proponents received big news yesterday when names of the special Trustee committee to study the project were released by Adrian O Morse, acting secretary of the Board of Trustees.

Appointed by James Milholland, acting president of the College, the Trustee co-op committee includes Howard J. Lamade, chairman; William D. Harkins and W. Stewart Taylor.

All-College Cabinet will take a final vote Thursday night on whether or not Penn State will join NSA. At last week's meeting the Cabinet appropriation of $375 for NSA dues was brought up. Since resolutions for appropriations of more than $100 must be read at two successive meetings, the final vote will not be taken until next Thursday. Cabinet at that time may accept the appropriation and vote to join NSA.

These members of the Board of Trustees will meet with the All-College Cabinet student co-op committee in the Board Room, Old Main, at 2 p.m. April 2. Purpose of the meeting, as stated by Morse, will be "to give the Trustee committee an opportunity to hear reasons why a student co-operative store should be approved."

Emory Brown, chairman of the student co-op committee, yesterday listed the following members of his group: William Walker, Eugene Wheeler, Edward Cohen, Edward Sysmanski, Robert Troxell, Prof. J. Kenneth Stern is adviser to the committee.

Student need and desires for the co-operative store and plans for its operation, management and policies will be explained to the Trustee group by the student representatives, headed by Brown, who said yesterday. "This is a very good chance of showing just why we need a co-operative store, and I think we can make it seem practicable to them."

Efforts of the student committee were instrumental in persuading the executive committee of the Board to reverse its earlier decision. At its meeting December 5, the Board rejected a re-

Last year WSSF sent over half a million dollars to help educate European students. Contributions received this year have already doubled those made last year. Disregarding political, racial, and religious barriers, WSSF sends its aid where it is needed most.

Student Relief Activities Go on Despite Position

National Student Association representatives to the International Union of Students in Europe have resigned because the IUS secretariat has not condemned treatment of students in Prague by the Czechoslovak government.

The NSA staff in this country has confirmed the position taken by its representatives in condemning the IUS secretariat.

A procession of students, 1500 strong, was fired upon and one man was killed by Czech police. The students were demonstrating in an effort to keep President Benes from installing the new government.

The National Student Association will continue its international program in any case. Student exchange, travel, and relief activities will be continued in an effort to promote international understanding and friendship, said William Welsh, NSA president.

The two representatives, James Smith, University of Texas; and William Ellis, Harvard, stated in their telegram of resignation that all student groups and the Czech National Union of Students had been dissolved by Communist "action committees."

The resignations ended all relationships between the NSA and IUS. NSA officers believe that IUS' action precludes any possible affiliation by NSA. The NSA executive committee will review the entire matter in April.
