Truman Clings To Peace Hope

WASHINGTON — President Truman said yesterday he still is clinging to his belief that the world can eventually see peace, but his confidence, he declared, has been somewhat marred. One of the President's firm beliefs is that aid to European countries can help to bring about the peace we are looking for.

He asked Congress yesterday for $55,000,000 to tide Western Europe over the difficult days until the Marshall Plan can be put into effect, saying it was a matter of "extreme urgency" the Marshall plan be approved at the earliest possible moment.

A State Department spokesman said the $55,000,000 would represent an advance installment on the eventual allocation. At the present rate of spending it would last about four days.

Vote of Confidence

PRAGUE — While the country mourned the death of Masaryk, the Czech parliament yesterday gave new Communist Premier Klement Gottwald a vote of confidence. The vote, in effect, was approval of the sweeping Communist program, but 67 members were absent when the vote was taken.

Gets The Brush-Off

LAKE SUCCESS — The chief United Nations delegate from Czechoslovakia, Dr. Jan Papanek, yesterday reopened his fight at Lake Success for a UN investigation of the Communist seizure of power. Yesterday Secretary-General Trygve Lie brushed aside his demands.

Threatens Walk-Out

LAKE SUCCESS — Russia yesterday threatened to walk out of the four-power talks on Palestine if the Jews and Arabs are invited to take part. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko declared that conciliation already has failed and that the partition plan should be carried out.

Choir Presents 'Messiah' In Palm Sunday Service

Chapel Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Willa W. Taylor, will present selections from Parts II and III of Handel's "Messiah" in Schwab Auditorium at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. March 21.

Thirty members of the College Symphony will accompany the choir during the two performances. George Ceiga, chapel organist, will play three organ numbers.

Soloists are Jacqueline Heckert, soprano; Maynard Hill, tenor; and Thaddeus Komorowsky, baritone.

Thespians Begin Show Tryouts For Great White Bear

Tryouts for Thespians' spring show, "The Great White Bear," will be held tomorrow and Sunday, Robert Koser, Thespian president, announced.

Singers will try out in 405 Old Main from 7 to 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night, and dancers in that room from 8:30 to 10 o'clock. The same schedule will be in effect Sunday, with tryouts in Schwab Auditorium. Those trying out for speaking parts should report to Schwab any time from 7 to 10 p.m. Sunday, Koser said.

Anyone desiring to be in the production, which enters rehearsal next week, should come to tryouts regardless of previous experience, he emphasized.

Production staff for the show includes production manager, Ted LeFevre; assistants, Raymond Fortunato, Robert Koser, Russell Teall; business manager, James Cuzzolina; cast director, Pepper Birchard; music, George Washko; dance, Bea Stern.

Publicity, Alan Pottasch; program, James Dunaway; construction, Alan Richter; stage manager, Warren Hinks; properties, Arlene Spencer; paint, Katherine Bitner; light, Robert Shivedesign, George Kline and Duffield Sipes.

Art Groups Offer Beaux Arts Ball

Two architectural organizations and an art honorary are combining to sponsor the annual Beaux Arts Ball, scheduled for the TUB from 9 to 12 p.m. on April 3, according to Robert Widder, general chairman.

Scarab, architectural honorary; Esquisse, architecture department club, and Pi Gamma Alpha, art honorary, are joint sponsors of the dance.

The theme of the costume ball will be a carnival with clowns, caricaturists, and fortune tellers scattered throughout the crowd to offer entertainment. Music will be by Paul Grove's orchestra.

Committee chairmen are Herbert Beckhard, general committee; Thomas Lannen and Eva Winter, publicity; Arthur Lilien, decorations; Harry Mumma, finance; Albert Sauer, entertainment.

Bank Excavation Begins For Transformer Vault

Excavation for a transformer vault, to be built in the University Club bank at the southwest corner of the Power Plant, began this week.

The bank of three transformers which will be installed is part of the power expansion program which includes a new boiler now being constructed in the Power Plant and a generator still at the factory.

Campus-scape

Old Main etched against the cheerless-gray skyline... O mar, the tent-maker, must still be in business. "Gosh the skirts and coats on the coeds are long!"... Puddles freckling the concrete walks... "Think Ash and Karver will do it again this week?"...

Mounds of snow growing wan from the spring-warmth... A battle jacket, arm once soggy with Rhine mud, entwined about the waist of a new-look, brick-red coat... "Why ya splashing through the mud?" "Saddles don't look good till they're dirty"...

Pandemonium!... Only ten minutes to dash from Mineral Industries to Temporary... A young mother pushing her baby coach under the canopy of gaunt oak branches... "Gee, 30 pages! He must think that's my only course"...

Collision! a student laughing over Froth, bumping into a maple... The library fringed by a web of branches... "D'ya hear the one about the coed who—"... "Let's go to the TUB." "That's a good idea."

Cabinet Unanimously Votes NSA Membership

Agnew Names IFC News Staff

Richard Curto, Alpha Phi Delta fraternity president, has been named editor of the IFC Newsletter by Willard Agnew, IFC president, succeeding Peter Warker whose resignation becomes effective tomorrow. Warker resigned because of other duties.

Joseph Succop, publicity director of IFC, assumed the post of business manager, Edwin Buckley was appointed circulation manager, and Wilbert Roth was moved up to managing editor, following the reorganization of the Newsletter staff.

Curto has announced plans for five more issues during the present semester. They will be distributed every two weeks to fraternities by mail, and to independent students at Student Union.

Monday will mark the first appearance of the Newsletter in printed form.

Windcrest Wives Plan May Festival

Plans for a May festival, or bazaar, were instigated by Windcrest Wives at their bi-monthly meeting in Community Hall Wednesday night. This event will be open to the public and is to take place after Community Hall is renovated, said Mrs. John Middleton, publicity chairman.

During the business meeting a committee was appointed to send cards to sick members and to those with recently born babies. Plans were also formulated for decorating and fixing Community Hall as a lounge.

After the business session, the members sorted boys which are available to children visiting the Red Cross Well-Baby Clinic. The remaining toys will be cleaned and repaired, and members of Windcrest Wives are urged to donate outgrown toys to replace the old ones, said Mrs. Middleton.

MI Exhibit Features Microscopic Pictures

An exhibit entitled "Electron Microscopy" is now on display in the rotunda of Mineral Industries.

Photographs, taken with the electron microscope in the College's high magnification laboratory, show magnification ranging from 10,000 to 43,000 diameters of clay particles, smoke, the surface of etched steel, and the internal structure of the bacteria shell.

Information is now available at the library on study, travel and work in foreign countries during the summer months.

NSA's international affairs representative at the College, Harold R. Brown, has placed eight copies of an NSA information booklet in the periodical room of the library. The booklet is entitled "Study, Travel, Work,—Abroad."

Information concerning university work in Central and Western Europe, Scandinavia, Latin America, and seminars in London and Paris, has been compiled. The cost of tuition and living are given also. In France, for instance, $70 a month suffices for tuition, room,

Names Fouracre Head Of Permanent Group

All College Cabinet last night unanimously voted to become a member of the National Student Association. $375 was voted for NSA dues.

Jane Fouracre was named chairman of the permanent NSA committee on Cabinet.

An appropriation of $25 was voted for CORE, with no stipulations as to its use.

A report by the All-College elections committee suggested dates for preliminary and final nomination meetings. These were April 4 and 11 respectively. The All-College election would tentatively be held in the week of April 19.

The committee was instructed to look into the feasibility of holding the elections in either the TUB or White Hall as well as the Armory.

Thomas J. Lannen, All-College president, named William McLain to the elections committee.

Independent Constitution

The committee to revise the All-College constitution reported that the tentative independent association constitution made provision for a Governing Council of 68—36 from the men's dormitories, 25 from the men living down-town, and seven from Windcrest.

Book Exchange Report

Janie Weigle reported on the Student Book Exchange. Books handled totaled 1070; $892 worth of business was done. About $160 paid for books has not yet been picked up by people who gave books to the exchange to sell, Miss Weigle said.

A motion that Cabinet meetings be held in a large public place once or twice a semester was unanimously passed.

Cabinet also voted to send a letter to Congress requesting passage of two bills that would aid student travel to Europe this summer.
