

Save the Cement!

Now is the time for leadership and action. A serious crisis faces dear old beloved alma mater. It is a crisis which calls for tried and true leadership—the kind of leadership which only one man is qualified to give. That man is our year old beloved All-College Omnipotent Chief-tain, Thomas Jefferson Lennin.

Every year about this time George Bertie, head of Grounds and Buildings, issues an urgent plea for students to keep off the grass. In past years All-College Cupboard has been assigned the task of devising some method of reminding forgetful students to keep off the grass. Ordinary student leaders unimaginatively thought of such ideas as putting up "Please" signs.

Not so Lennin, however, Lennin uniquely came up with the colossal idea of issuing whistles to all the BMOC'S. These watchdogs blew their whistles at every miscreant who ventured upon the greensward. Evidently Lennin is outstanding among his fellow men, and so it is to him that we throw the latest crisis.

Here is the crisis. Pursuing Agent Harold Hiboy has been having a terrible time obtaining sufficient cement to keep the campus sidewalks in good condition. Since Lennin did such a good job keeping everybody off the grass, everybody has been walking on the sidewalks.

Imagine, thousands of students every day walking on the sidewalks. Imperceptibly the concrete has been wearing down, and Lemual Hosseneffer, assistant to Captair Mark in charge of lucre, has been demanding action.

It's up to you Lennin—to find a way to campaign for "Keep Off the Sidewalks."

Where's the Foul-up?

Things have come to a pretty pass here at State. Both political parties are perking right along and things in general are all in good shape. Now isn't that one hell of a fix.

Now just what does the College Administration and student groups expect Collegian editorial writers to gripe about? Without griping, a body is dead. That's what Alen W. Ostarsky, noted editor, once wrote. In fact, to quote Ostarsky he said, "Without griping, a body is dead."

Now we don't think that is so here at Penn State. Here we have a fine institution and an even finer student body. Here, we are not dead (At least, I don't think so). No, here at State we are alive—very alive.

Somewhere on this campus something is fouled up. It must be if Penn State is alive. However, we haven't found it yet.

But Penn State is not dead!

—FIB

Thither and Yon

By SLICK CHARGE

News release—The Board of Trustees at the Pennsylvania State College this morning announced that the College was entering the liquor business.

The above news item from the wires of the Associated Press brought consternation to State College citizens and to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The town has been dry as a dinosaur's thigh-bone for decades and the state legislature has frowned on the distraction which alcoholic beverages would offer to the sons and daughters matriculating at Penn State.

It is, therefore, with some surprise that this blurt is received from the Board of Trustees. Whiskey and ink do not mix comfortably. The ink generally settles to the bottom of the glass.

When queried about the reasons for the abrupt departure from hallowed custom, a spokesman for the Board said that for years there had been complaints from the student body on the tediousness and inconvenience of the weekly trip to Bellefonte for party supplies. The students' main argument stemmed from their distaste for the added expenditures of gasoline or bus fares.

BMOC Clarifies

Energine Pullman, student leader and BMOC, said that the Veterans Administration in granting subsistence allowances did not expect that veterans should pay extra for their beverages, i.e., that they should have them more conveniently, i.e., within easy reach.

It is for this reason that the College will make available for convenient purchase, three different varieties of drink. The Board of Trustees, it was explained by a source close to the seat of the administration (the second floor after in Old Main), always has the interests of the student at heart. In this case, manufacturer liquor on campus will make-the burden on G.I. pocketbooks lighter, will eliminate the middle-men's profits, e.g. gasoline dealers, bus companies, profiteering fraternity brothers, and it will allow the student more time for academic endeavor. This is in accord with their potential plans to allow the establishment of a student cooperative store, another noteworthy measure.

Campus Industry

"This project is not without its selfish aspects, however," said Mr. Garfinkle, the janitor. "The basic ingredient for choice beverage is abundantly present on the campus of the Pennsylvania State College. Each spring, tons of it are carefully sown, cultivated and harvested on every square foot of campus greens. The Penn State variety of giant, yellow dandelion serves the purpose perfectly."

Dandelion, favorite perennial of Mr. Ebert, superintendent of Grounds and Buildings, then will be harvested and stored on the first floor of Sparks until it has fully moulded. It will then be carried to the basement of Carnegie Hall to be converted into three varieties of potable stuff. The rumor that truth serum will be added at examination time is unfounded, according to the administration. The Honor System will prevail.

The three varieties of drink will be dandelion cider, bottled after a minimum of aging; dandelion jack, to which yeast and sugar have been added; and dandelion

Editor's Mailcall

Grrrr!

TO THE EDITOR—it has come to my attention within the last several years that this country is going to the dogs.

Something has to be done! Do you know, for example, that dogs' IQ's are lower than humans? Do you realize that if he dogs take over this country, they will not be intelligent enough to worry about communists, republicans, socialists, democrats, third parties, fourth parties, full houses and trumping partner's aces?

If the dogs take control of the United States we might be voting for Lassie for president (if Lassie ever comes home). Rin Tin, Jr., would speaker of the House.

Can you imagine Congress voting an appropriation of 50,000 dog biscuits worth of aid to Greece? But then, there are good features about a dogged republic. There would be a fire hydrant on every street corner and a telephone pole in the middle of every block. But don't be fooled by this menace! Don't let this country go to the dogs! Humans, unite!

A Penn State Wolf
PS—Horses have lower IQ's than dogs.

A Complaint!

TO THE EDITOR: I have a complaint to make. Everything is too much so. Isn't it about time something is done about this intolerable situation? With all the talk about nothing and hot air blowing around campus) it's amazing that so little gets done as it is. But then there's nothing unusual about that. The problem is whether to or not too. If you take the opposite point of view it's much easier and yet doesn't solve anything. Or aren't we? Confusion reigns and so does the sky. I hope that this will be investigated and an intelligent decision reached.

Confused

A Complaint!

Deer Edetar, I gesticated to git off me mind the way youse guys hoit de englis langage .... it hoits me. I didn't mind dose 2 split infinitives in de mar. 17 issue, but heavens! .. how could you call 1 (one) man who gradiated from heer a alumni .. O the tortue o fitt al, how could youse, how could youse?? Everybody noes its a alumnae. Pleeze be so kind to taak more care. I yam an averrag Penn State student who want a well rittan paper. Pleeze cooinside with me wishes.

Name withheld.

A Complaint!

DEAR EDITOR: Why do fraternity men threaten pledges to their organization with threats of banishment to Pollock Circle? I heard this cry issuing from the hallowed halls of a fraternity last night: "Either you do this or it's back to the Circle!" Personally, I can think of more horrible fates than life at Pollock Circle. I live there and it's O.K. —Satisfied.

Church Calendar

Thursday, April 1

STUDENTS for Weston rally. Grahams, 7 p.m.

HULA dance class, 16 Huff 'n Puff Hall, 2 a.m.

FOAM junior board meeting, BathTUB, anytime Saturday night.

PINK Elephant club for obese women, 1 a.m., Dollar Sixty Five Fraternity.

ALCOHOLICS Anonymous, all day, Pugh Street Library.

WEDNESDAY night choral sing, 9 p.m., 232 West College Avenue.

DEMONSTRATION of how to feed 200 men for $2 by Miss Fall, 1:30 p.m., 112 Ome Heck.

KRAPPA Krappa Grandmaw blue book raffle, 12 p.m., Ski Lodge.

Placement Service

U.S. Army and Air Force, eighth semester idiots from AE, BE, CE, DE, EE, FE, GE, HE, IE, etc., or any other curriculum on campus, at any time.

Kickapoo Jo Juice Corp., April 16, 17, eighth semester men from Skellarology, Boozeology.

Moe and Joe's Skunk Refinery, April 15-18, eighth semester men, women, or children from any curriculum with strong noses.

Penn State College, April 1-Sept. 31, freshmen with an IQ above 30, no illegitimate children, fairly temperate habits, preferably above age 10.

Bernarr McFadden Publication, Inc., April 14, 15, eighth semester men from Journ., Phys. Ed., to write stories or do pushups.

Charles Atlas Health and Strength Corp., April 16, eighth semester men with chests over 45 inches, biceps over 16 inches, to act as demonstrators. Eighth semester women with chests and biceps.

Hotshots Replace Johnny Long

Wilberforce Agnutz, president of IFC, announced today that Johnny Long's contract to play for the PanHel-IF Ball had been canceled, and that in his place the dance committee had signed Lem Hershkowitz and his Snowshoe Hot Shots featuring Jim and Jane.

"We don't want no darn left-handed fiddle players at our dances," Agnutz said. "Besides I believe in giving local talent a break. Lem's Hot Shots are known far and wide throughout Snowshoe and vicinity as a great band, and I think all the Greeks and their dates will like him. Besides he's an awful lot cheaper."

Hershkowitz and his band have recorded extensively for Broken-down records, their current hit tune being "Big Woodwind Quintet from Brookville." Jim and Jane have been featured over Mutual Network's key station, WMAJ, the most powerful station between Bellefonte and Boalsburg.

No word could be obtained from Johnny Long whose band is currently appearing at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York City. However, Music Corporation of America, booking agent for Long's orchestra, said:

"This will not go uncontested. Before Lem Hershkowitz plays for the PanHel-IF Ball, I'll see Agnutz, Dean Cornstalk, and the rest of those commies in —."

A Complaint!

TO THE EDITOR: This is just a little note to thank you for the U. S. Weather Bureau

THE DAILY COLLEGIAN

Successor to the Free Lance, est 1877

Published Tuesday through Saturday mornings during the College year by the staff of the Daily Collegian of the Pennsylvania State College. Entered as second class matter July 5, 1934, at the State College, Pa., Post Office under the act of March 3, 1879 $2.50 a semester; $4.25 the school year

Alan W. Ostal Editor
Donald W. Ellis Bus Mgr.

Man Ed., Ben I. French, Jr., News Ed., Roberta Hutchison; Sports Ed., Ted Rubin; Ass't. Sports Ed., Dave Adelman; Feature Ed., Eleanor Fehnel; Woman's Ed., Marjorie Mousley
Photo Ed., Bennett Fairorth; Wire Ed., Howard Back; Senior Board, Janet Adler, Helen Lewis, Helen Reed, Richard Sarge, J. Arthur Stober, Peter Warner.
Ad. Dir., Spencer Scheckter; Local Ad. Mgr., Barbara Keefer; Ass't. Bus. Mgr., Jack Strickland; Co.-Circ. Mgr., William H. Frazier, David Lambert; Sec., Mary Lou Callahan; Class. Ad. Mgr., Lucille Martin; Prom. Mgr., Michael Horan.

STAFF THIS ISSUE

NOW AT YOUR WARNER THEATER

Cathann
William Powell
in
"The Senator Was Indiscreet"

State
George Raft
June Havoc
in
"INTRIGUE"

Hittans
"CARNEGIE HALL"
ALL-STAR CAST

AT PENN STATE
"BARNEY" BARNETT
smokes
CHESTERFIELDS

"Barney" says:
"When the pressure of blue books bogs me down, nothing relieves the tension more than the cool satisfying taste of a Chesterfield."

A nation-wide survey shows Chesterfields are TOPS with College Students from coast-to-coast.