'Get a Racket,' Says Dean

"Only sockers work for a living," said Dean Trublu of the School of Delinquency in an interview this morning. When asked how to have an income without work, the Dean suggested that students should quit school and get into a good racket.

"There are any number of good deals lying around waiting for some smart student to muscle in on," the dean said. "State College needs a god numbers racket, a couple of bookmakers, and two or three floating crap games. The basement of Ath Hall would be a good place for crap game."

"Rum running from Bellefonte has provide da few bucks in the past and should continue to do so," Trublu said. "A protection racket would probably go over big with the State College merchants."

"As an after thought, the dean added, "the student who starts a good burlesque show, with an all-coed cast will probably make a fortune."

Seniors, Juniors Farmed-Out in Fa

So that there will be room for the thousands of new sophomores that will attend the College in the fall, Silliam H. Woolfman, College registrar, stated yesterday that all seniors and juniors will be farmed out.

Mr. Woolfman joyfully stated that all upperclassmen, and women too, should send their applications in to his office before today so that they can have their choice of off-campus colleges. Those still available are, the Harlingen Home Economics School for Young Men, Harlingen, Texas; Albuquerque School of Minors, Memphis, Tenn.; and Sacramento School for Stubborn Seniors, Kalamazoo, Mich.

"It is unfortunate," he said, "but the College Extension Center in Moscow has been closed because of subversive activities that have been going on. We hope that the Muskovite Kampus Kops will be able to deal with the situation so that our upperclassmen can complete their liberal education."

College Razes Ratty Schwab

Dismantlement of Schwab Auditorium commences today following a unanimous decision of the Board of Trustees to tear it down as the only means of ridding it of the strange breed of rats with which it is infested.

The parts of the building will be shipped to Loretto, Pa., to be reassembled on the site of the late Charles M. Schwab's mansion.

President Milholland expressed his regret over the necessity but said it was the only thing to be done under the circumstances.

"Otherwise," Milholland emphasized, "the plague will spread uncontrolled to other buildings and may make necessary an extended recess."

Nationally-famous rat exterminators have been unable to cope with the unusual species of rat infesting Schwab, which scientists call "Inhumanus miceus."

Presence of rats in Schwab was first determined when one of the rats bit a Thespian practicing an act called the "Pie-Eyed Piner of Hamlet." The ill-fated actor is recuperating at the College Infirmary.

well set," according to Frederick, but final production depends on the outcome of pending postal matches for the varsity rifle team.

"It seems that the results from the Bolivia U. match, and the Tanganyika Tech shoot have not been received," he explained. "Consequently, we can't build our $500,000 stage until we're absolutely sure they won't have a rematch because of a tie."

The play will be produced without the use of customary settings, he said, which will necessitate he use of xpsiv hangings, called curains.

The appointment of Sartre has occasioned some comment from other members of the production staff, coming as it does, on the heels of announcement by C. Artie Kligtow, dramatics, radio, and motion picture science dean, that Players budget will be charply curtailed in order to increase compensation on construction make-up crews.
