The engagement of Virginia Von Linn to Garth Seavy, both of Carnford, N. J., was recently announced. Seavy is majoring in chemical engineering and is president of Alpha Chi Sigma.

Engel—White

Doris White and Robert Engel of Camphill, Pa., recently announced their engagement. Miss White attended Bucknell University and Mr. Engel, a senior in the School of Liberal Arts, is a member of Delta Sigma Pi, commerce honorary, and Alpha Chi Sigma.

Surplus Pulchritude Seemingly Eases 4-1 Ratio

"Haven't seen so many girls at one time since Druids ran through the girls' dorms," was one comment heard yesterday.

Occasion for the remark was the visit to campus of several busloads of high school musicians, yesterday.

The girls concentrated outside Schwab Auditorium just as classes were changing at 3 o'clock. For a few moments, some male students were led to believe that the four to one ratio had been alleviated. A few inquiries soon proved how wrong they were.

"At least they were better dressed than the ones we saw that evening in the dorms," added the disappointed Druid.

Town Women Pick Delegate

Lois Dickson was elected as the new WSGA town House of Representatives member, announced Cynthia Dean, town senator, at the regular meeting of WSGA Thursday evening.

Coed dress and manners in the dining hall were discussed by the group. Suzanne Romig, retiring president of WSGA, requested that all girls try to be more careful in their dining hall attire.

Nobel Prize Winner Gives Curie Lecture

Dr. Gerty Cori, professor of biochemistry at the Washington University School of Medicine, St. Louis, and co-winner of the Nobel Prize in Medicine in 1947, will present the annual Marie Curie lecture.

The lecture, which is sponsored by Iota Sigma Pi, women's chemical honor society, will be presented at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, April 20, in 119 Osmond Laboratory.

Dr. Cori will speak on the enzyme, phosphorylase, which is found in tissues and muscles and is a catalytic substance by means of which the body makes and uses body starch and body sugar. For the discovery and isolation of this enzyme, Dr. Cori and her husband, Dr. Carl Cori, jointly received the 1947 Nobel prize in Medicine.

Advisors Recommend Camp As Ideal Self-Employment

By Betty Gibbons

Want to start your own day camp during the summer? Job counselors almost unanimously suggest a wide-open field for self-employment—the small, one or two-man day-camp. They point out that no capital is needed, little practical experience is necessary, and when the venture is operated intelligently, returns are good.

But for those who are not so initiative, there are many many opportunities for various types of summer work. A recently published government census revealed that over one million vacation-time jobs were filled by students last summer, and it is predicted that the number will be over two million this summer.

Co-Edits

Preliminary plans for holding a golden anniversary of Morrill chapter next fall were discussed at a meeting of the fraternity Monday. Morrill chapter is the second oldest chapter of Alpha Zeta.

Seven Categories

The vacation employment field is split generally into seven categories — self-employment, governmental work, transportation, sports and entertainment, summer camps, industry, and service and trades.

The first two job categories offer some of the best opportunities in summer work. Jobs are open in three branches of the Department of the Interior—in the Geological Survey division (for field assistants); in the Fish and Wildlife Service (as refuge and hatchery laborers); and in the Bureau of Reclamation (for engineering aids, survey aids, draftsmen and soil specialists.)

Other Positions

Numerous other positions are open in the National Park Service, and in hotels, restaurants, and concessions at these parks.

Examples of some outstanding positions are in transportation where there are airline passenger-relations jobs available. In the Summer Camp field, public and settlement camps often give jobs to inexperienced applicants—although they pay less.

So whether you're going to start your own camp, or want a job in some other field, there are lots of opportunities for vacation-time work this summer.

You'll Look Sweeter in a Sweater

ESPECIALLY IN A DOWNY-SOFT NYLON SHORT-SLEEVE SWEATER TO ESCORT YOUR SUITS AND SKIRTS. . . . They're styled to blend so completely into your wardrobe. Wear them for day-time or dance-time.

THEY'RE AS LIGHT AND SOFT AS A MAY MORNING. . . . In luscious shades of petal pink, powder blue, jonquil yellow, and snowy white. Each one so irresistible you won't be able to choose between them.

JUST SWISH them thru the water and hang them up to dry. . . . no need to block them or to worry about shrinking. Dry in a jiffy like your sheepest nylon hosiery. "IT wasn't at the Turnament of Roses.
