

Nations Complete European Charter

PARIS—The formal draft for a Western European Charter has been completed in Paris by the Marshall Plan nations. The document sets up a basis for economic cooperation among the countries.

Lewis Fight Continues

WASHINGTON—The government will present its legal arguments today before Judge T. A. Goldsborough in its effort to have John L. Lewis found guilty of contempt. The government presented yesterday the developments that prompted a fact-finding committee to term the mine stoppage a strike. Lewis presented no evidence. The court may deliver its verdict today.

Stassen Takes Neb.

NEBRASKA—The Nebraska primary, in addition to giving a boost to Harold Stassen, showed some interesting changes since 1944.

Turn-out for the primary was more than 130,000 larger than the vote in 1944. About 100,000 of the increase went to the Republicans, the rest to the Democrats.

Ten Finalists Vie for Royal Crowns

Final contestants for the title of King and Queen of the Pan Hel-IFC Ball at Recreation Hall tomorrow evening were selected at a dance committee meeting Monday, Joseph Succop, publicity chairman, disclosed today.

He stated that although the number of finalists was listed previously at eight, late arrival of a picture changed the number to five male and five female contestants.

Names of women finalists and their sponsors are: Arlene Connor, Kappa Delta Rho; Jo Fox, Phi Kappa Psi; Barbara Meadows, Kappa Sigma; Ann Pearson, Delta Upsilon; and Evelyn Setevage, Alpha Gamma Rho.

Male finalists and their sponsors are: Huston Brosious, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Howard James, Chi Omega; Paul McNelis, Beta Sigma Omicron; Birney Stokes, Zeta Tau Alpha; John Ward, Alpha Xi Delta.

Sorority and fraternity mem-

Forum Presents Theater Director

"Margaret Webster is the best director of the plays of Shakespeare that we have," admitted George Jean Nathan in his critical review of the actress-director's production of "Tempest," starring Canada Lee and Zorina.

Miss Webster, widely known in British and American theatrical circles for a brilliant career in acting, directing, and producing plays, will speak on "The Adventure of Acting" to a Community Forum audience in Schwab Auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight.

Believing that Shakespeare is "extraordinarily good entertainment," Miss Webster, with courage and intelligence, has independently worked on a number of Broadway hits. These include such extravagant and controversial plays as "Othello" with Paul Robeson, "Twelfth Night" with Helen Hayes, and all of Maurice Evans productions from "Richard II" through "MacBeth."

Reserved seat tickets at 75 cents are available at Student Union until 7:55 o'clock tonight.

Bursar Distributes Vet Book Refunds Today

Veterans' refunds for books and supplies may be obtained in the Bursar's office today. Richard H. Baker, co-ordinator of Veterans Affairs, announced. These refunds include all veterans who turned in their receipts by March 31.

All veterans who have not turned in their receipts are urged to turn them in at the Bursar's office by 4:30 p.m. April 30. This will be the last chance to obtain refunds. The final payment date is May 15.

Cancer Fund Seeks $1000 on Campus

One thousand dollars has been for this year's cancer drive goal. The drive, which opens today, continues until April 30. The drive is sponsored by the Health Education Society of the School of Physical Education, Dr. Arthur F. Davis as faculty adviser.

Harry Patchin, student chairman of the drive, has announced the following unit chairmen: Albert McDonald, fraternities; Alvin Russell, honoraries, professionals and educational societies and town dormitories for men; Virginia Gallup, sororities; Margaret Erb, women's dormitories; Nancy Killiam, Windcrest; Harry Patchin, Pollock Circle and Windcrest; Celia Illingworth, publicity. Marilyn Allen, Jean Allison, and Phyllis Starr will assist Miss Gallup and Miss Erb.

Lion Coat Sets Style, Ousts New Look For Summer

Predicted for summer wear at the College instead of the New Look are Lion Coats, traditional garb for senior men and women.

John Bohm, chairman of the Lion Coats committee, based his prediction on the number of Lion Coats worn by seniors in former years. More Lion Coats will be worn than in any year since the start of the war, Bohm said.

Lion Coats costing $1.95 will be sold at Student Union until April 17.

Pictures of Old Main, the Nittany Lion, Varga girls, or the lettering "Penn State" adorned Lion Coats in former years, Bohm pointed out.

CORE To Decide Final Shop Plans

Final report on the sale of haircut tickets will be made 7 p.m. Wednesday, according to a decision made at a CORE meeting Tuesday night.

At this time it will be decided whether or not to continue with the non-discriminatory barbershop plan. Volume of sale will be the determining factor, according to Chairman Arthur H. Reede.

James Smith, chairman of the ticket committee, reported that the committee had been unable to obtain permission to place a table in front of the Corner Room from which to sell tickets. The owners of the restaurant believed that it was inadvisable to give such permission considering that they rent two shops to barbers.

The constitution was ratified in the only other item of business of the evening.

Fuoss Continues Priestly Series

Priestly lecturer Ds. Raymond M. Fuoss will speak on "Precision Enters Theory" in the fourth of his series on "The Development of Theoretical Electrochemistry" in 119 Osmond Laboratory at 6 o'clock tonight.

The open lecture, which is being held at the early hour prior to the Phi Lambda Upsilon banquet, will be presided over by Dr. Grover C. Chandlee, head of the department of chemistry in the School of Chemistry and Physics.

That the foundations of all of today's electrochemistry were laid within two years of the development of the Voltaic pile was the theme of Dr. Fuoss' second lecture Tuesday. Such phenomena as electrolysis, electrodeposition, oxidation and reduction were studied qualitatively in that period.

List Omitted Clique Platform Planks, Pledge

Four planks and the pledge of the State Party platform were inadvertently omitted from yesterday's Daily Collegian. They are listed below.

6. To effect the policies and program of the NSA as an integral part of student government by carrying out the aims and projects set forth by this organization.

7. To better orient incoming students of the various undergraduate centers.

8. To continue the principle that religious and racial discrimination have no place in our way of life, and that the State Party will do everything possible to eliminate these evils in State College.

9. To support Fred Waring in his endeavor for a new and more adequate auditorium.

"In presenting this platform containing the solutions of the major problems of today, the State Party continues its policy of a more active student government. As other important issues arise, the same open and direct procedures will be followed. The State Party will always be ready to work for those important things which will benefit the student body."

New Contest Opens

A big, new "It's in the Ads" contest, replete with prizes ranging from a dressing gown to golf clubs, starts with this issue of the Daily Collegian.

Sponsored jointly by the Collegian and the merchants of the town, this is the second in a series of the quest for a "thing." The last contest, won by Alan Pottasch, netted him $94 worth of merchandise from the local stores.

Every day this newspaper will have clues hidden in the ads. All of these clues lead to the identity of one, and only one "thing." All entries must be sent to the Collegian office on a post card addressed, "Ad Contest, Daily Collegian."

For those who tuned in late on the last contest, the following is the list of rules for the second "It's in the Ads" contest.

1. Clues will be inserted in the advertisements of the Daily Collegian.

2. Some issues contain one or more clues; others may contain no clues.

3. These clues will aid in identifying a person, place or thing; whether animal, vegetable or mineral.

4. Each publication day a new gift will be added to the total list of gifts.

5. Anybody can enter the contest just by mailing a penny postcard with his name, address, and "Ad Contest" to the Daily Collegian. (Members and families of

Ad Contest

A dressing gown from Hur's Men's Store starts off the list of prizes for the "It's in the Ads" contest. Four clues are in the ads in today's paper and all clues lead to the identity of a new "thing" in this second ad contest.

One hundred and five belated answers from the first contest were received today with four of the entries correct—but too late.

Collegian Sponsors TUB Political Rally

Candidates of both political parties will meet students personally at the dance being sponsored by the Daily Collegian at the TUB from 7:30 to 9 o'clock tonight.

Allan Ostar, editor, will introduce the candidates of both parties. Nominees for All-College president, Harold E. Brown of the Lion Party and William Lawless of the State Party, will explain briefly the platforms of their respective parties.

Following presentation of the other candidates, with their qualifications for office, all students are urged to meet the candidates and to talk with them personally.

Three special tables will be set, one with both Lion and State Party candidates for All-College offices, the other with candidates for senior and junior class offices. Bill Loomis and his Blue Notes will provide music for dancing. No admission will be charged.

Ann Zekauskas, a member of the promotions staff, is chairman for the affair.

Cabinet To Hear Campus NSA Plans

Plans for the campus program of the National Student Association will be outlined to All-College Cabinet by Jane Fouracre, chairman of the NSA committee, in 201 Old Main at 8 o'clock tonight.

The desirability and feasibility of more than 30 items were discussed by the committee last night. Among the possible lines of action are curriculum revision and support of organizations such as CORE.

Surveys of student employment agencies at six colleges with systems which are applicable at Penn State will be presented to Cabinet by Abram Bosler. Methods of financing and management, type of jobs performed, and town merchant relations will be mentioned.

Bosler will also ask Cabinet to defray costs of a personal visitation with Allan Reece, in charge of student employment, to examine the student employment facilities of Cornell University, trophy for the winning entry in the horse contest.

(Continued on page eight)

Rain to Continue, Says Weatherman

No immediate relief from the deluge of rain which has saturated the campus for the past four days is expected, Prof. Hans Neuberger, head of the College weather office, said yesterday.

The downpour which began early Sunday morning totaled 3.97 inches by 1 p.m. yesterday, and was still falling when the measurement was taken.

Average rainfall for the month of April is 3.44 inches. Prior to the current heavy rains .81 inches of precipitation had already been recorded, making a total for the month so far, with only 14 days gone, of 4.78 inches.

Current weather conditions are caused by a low pressure area now covering the entire southwestern part of the state, while a high pressure area over Newfoundland prevents this low pressure area from dispersing.

Heavy rains have been reported not only at the College and surrounding areas, but also throughout most of the Ohio Valley. Flood stage at Pittsburgh was passed yesterday and rivers are still rising.

"This entirely normal phenomenon of a low pressure area being blocked off, makes it unlikely that a sudden change in weather conditions will occur," Prof. Neuberger stated.

"On the contrary, conditions are such that the current weather picture may be expected to last at least throughout most of tomorrow."

The College weather station participated with the United States Weather Bureau, in conjunction with weather stations all over the world, including ships at sea, in a recent minute check of weather conditions on the earth. The operation was in progress from April 1 to 10.

News Briefs

Students for 'Ike'

"Students for Eisenhower" will meet in 417 Old Main at 7:30 o'clock tonight to discuss petitions and a program of acquainting students with the merits of Dwight Eisenhower's candidacy.

Froth Edit Board

Froth junior editorial board will meet in 111 Carnegie Hall at 7 o'clock tonight. Members are requested to bring manuscripts.

Dairy Science Club

Dr. Howard Johnson, a member of the Bureau of Milk Sanitation, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Dairy Science Club, 117 Dairy at 7 o'clock tonight.

Eng Elections

Balloting for Engineering Student Council will take place in each department from 8 until 4:30 o'clock today.

Management Society

The Society for the Advancement of Management will meet at Alpha Sigma Phi, 7:30 o'clock tonight. Prof. Norman B. Thompson, of the economics department, will speak on "Promoting and Financing Your Own Business."