

Stock Barns Busy As Contest Nears

Ag Hill stock barns are buzzing with activity this week as almost 100 College students are working daily to "fit" their animals for the hill's biggest event of the year, The Little International Livestock Show.

Four classes, livestock, beef, horses, sheep and hogs, will be judged by experienced Pennsylvania stockmen in the show to be held in the stock pavilion, 1 p.m. April 24.

In March the contestants drew for the animal they were to "fit," clean, brush, shine and train. The beef contest holds the largest number of entries since the prize is a pure bred Herford heifer, valued at well over $100.

Awards in the other divisions will be a Southdown ewe lamb for the winner in the sheep contest, a Berkshire Gilt hog for the winner in the swine contest, and a

As added attractions to the show, the Block and Bridle Club of the Animal Husbandry School will hold a raffle and a pig derby.

Topping off the livestock day will be a banquet given by the Block and Bridle Club at the Allencrest Tea Room at 8:00 o'clock the same evening.

Co-chairmen of the event are Louis Jacobson and Charles Cameron. Heading the beef division is William Stone and Amos Zimmerman, while Lynn Christon is in charge of the horse division and Paul Smith the hog

MI Gallery Opens State Art Show

The Gimbel Pennsylvania Art Collection will open a two-weeks showing in the Mineral Industries Gallery of the College Sunday, April 25. State Secretary of Commerce Orus J. Mathews disclosed yesterday.

The collection includes 116 paintings, drawings and sketches of contemporary Pennsylvania.

Throughout 1948, he said, the collection will continue on tour throughout the state, including an exhibit in Erie opening during Pennsylvania Week which this year will be observed from September 26 through October 2.

More than 40,000 persons have viewed the paintings in three exhibits held thus far. Alice Frank Merriam, of the Associated American Artists, who has supervised the display of paintings, reports the collection was seen by 6,279 persons during a 10-day exhibit in Philadelphia, by 22,630 in five weeks in Pittsburgh, and by 12,345 during a month's display in Harrisburg.
