

State
Welcomes
Gymnasts

The Daily Collegian

WEATHER
Partly Cloudy
and Mild

VOL. 47—No. 55

SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 1, 1948—STATE COLLEGE, PENNA.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

Select Olympic Gymnasts Today

Stone, Klepper Lead Staff As 48-49 Collegian Heads

Lewis S. Stone, Jr., and Vance C. Klepper will head the Daily Collegian staff for 1948-49 as editor and business manager. Stone, a chemistry major, succeeds Allan W. Ostar, retiring editor, while Klepper, an advertising major, replaces Donald W. Ellis as business manager.

Elliot Shapiro will serve under Stone as managing editor with Malcolm White assuming the position of news editor. Other senior editors are Arnold Gerton, editorial director; Thomas Morgan, sports; Jo L. Fox, features; Frances Keeney, women's; Claire Lee, assistant women's; Lois Bloomquist, wire; Betty Ruth Gibbons, photo; and Selma Zasofsky, co-promotion. Elaine Nelson and Loretta Neville were named to the senior editorial board.

Assisting Klepper on the business staff will be Margaret Breece, assistant business manager; Barbara Keefer, advertising director; Selma Lampert, local advertising manager; and William Frazier and Brett Kranich, circulation manager.

Other Senior Positions

Other senior business positions will be filled by Wilma Brehm, classified manager; Elliot Rosengarden, co-promotion manager; Kosti Bargas, junior board director; George Latzo, sophomore board director; and Mimi Pomerine, secretary.

Serving on the new junior editorial board will be Seymour Barash, Raymond Benfer, Richard Brossman, John Bonnell, Barbara Brown, Florence Feinberg, Dorothy Hunsberger, Elaine Katz, Anthony.

(Continued on page eight)

Ad Contest

The Daily Collegian's "Its in the Ads" contest has gone over the top today with prizes valued at $105.50 as a Mirror-tone radio from the Harmony Shop is added to the list of awards in the quest for the "thing."

The other prizes are:

1. Old Town Trampies—Glick Shoe Store.
2. Blouse—Smart Shop.
3. Record Album—Book and Record Shop.
4. Sweater—Young Men's Shop.
5. 5-pound box of candy—Candy Cane.
6. $10 credit—Mitchell's Dress Shop.
7. Du Barry make-up kit—McLanahan's Drug Store.
8. Fishing rod—Don Kenler's.
9. $10 credit—Margaret Shop.

Press Convention Meets At College

The College will be host to approximately 500 high school students and advisors attending the State High School Press Convention today. The students are representatives of most of the secondary schools in Pennsylvania.

Pierre Huss, diplomatic correspondent to the United Nations for the International News Service, will address the convention. Mr. Huss, originally from Luxembourg, has been with the INS for 18 years. Most of his work has been in Germany before the war. He will speak on "The Soviet Union and the United Nations."

Other speakers will be John Biddle, president of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publisher's Association, who will deliver a message from the Pennsylvania publishers, and Pen Euwema, dean of the School of Liberal Arts. Dean Euwema will discuss the value of liberal arts training.

Registration will be conducted at 10 o'clock this morning at the Daily Collegian business office, in Carnegie Hall by Theta Sigma Phi and Sigma Delta Chi, women's and men's national journalism fraternities.

Dr. J. Allen Figurel, president of the Pennsylvania School Press Association will present the opening convocation in 121 Sparks at 11 o'clock. Roberta Hutchison, Theta Sigma Phi, Richard Sarge, Sigma Delta Chi, and Baylen Smith, Alpha Delta Sigma, presidents of their respective societies, will officially welcome the students to the convention.

Discussion groups will follow (Continued on page eight)

Coeds Subdue Fire, Vow Not to Miss Drills

It's doubtful that Kitty Romano and her roommate Florence Buick of Watts Hall will ever sleep through a fire drill again as they did Monday night. Commenting at the time on their lack of concern about the drill, the girls shrugged shoulders and mumbled that the dorm "would never have a fire anyway."

At 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning, Kitty received forceful proof to the contrary when she was awakened to find her pillow in flames. Jumping out of bed she screamed to her roommate and together they filled a wire wastebasket with water (it was letter than a glass, Flo said) and in a few minutes succeeded in subduing the flames.

Nation's Prime Gym Stars Vie for Honors in Rec Hall

By Tom Morgan

Gymnastic fans and competitors from all sections of United States will flock to Rec Hall today for one of the farthest-reaching, largest-scaled sports events ever staged at the College—the 1948 Final Olympic Gymnastic Tryouts and 60th Annual National Athletic Union Championships.

Divided into two programs—afternoon and night, the event will mark the first time in Olympic history that final United States gym tryouts have been held outside New York City.

TICKETS

Tickets for remaining unreserved seats will go on sale at Rec Hall prior to this afternoon's program. Price is $1.20, which covers admission to both sessions.

First program event this afternoon—calisthenics—is scheduled for 2 o'clock, while side horse competition will open tonight's proceedings at 8 o'clock.

However, at 1:55 and 7:45 o'clock, specialty acts will entertain the crowd assembling in Rec Hall. At 1:55 girls from Elizabeth, N.J., will demonstrate United States Olympic women's free-hand exercise, under direction of George Miele and Joseph Saltzman.

George E. Ceiga, assistant professor of music at the College, will accompany the women's routine with organ selections.

INDIAN CLUBS

At 7:45 Edward A. Hennig, 68, "grand old man" of the Indian clubs, will entertain incoming spectators with a clubs act backed by organ music and an instrumental ensemble composed of Ann Wisden, violin; Genevieve Taras, violin; Robert Frederick—(Continued on page three)

CORE Volunteers Receive Ticket Drive Assignments

"CORE Day" volunteers will receive assignments and instructions for an all-out pledge ticket drive, to be conducted Monday to Wednesday, in 304 Old Main at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

The final effort to obtain patrons and $2600 to insure one or more non-discriminatory barbershops will reach every man on campus and in town. The $1 pledge tickets will not be donations, but

Ad Honorary Sponsors Pittsburgh Field Trip

Twenty advertising majors will make a field trip to Pittsburgh Monday and Tuesday under the joint auspices of Alpha Delta Sigma, professional advertising honorary, and the department of journalism.

Tours of the Service Engraving Co., Ketchum McLeod & Grove Advertising Agency, radio station WWSW, the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, and a large department store advertising department have been arranged.

The students and Robert Van Slambrouk, professor of journalism who will accompany them on the trip, will be luncheon guests of the Advertising Club of Pittsburgh.

Caps and Gowns

The deadline for ordering commencement caps and gowns has been extended to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Seniors may place orders at Student Union during the following hours:

- | | |
|----------|-------------------|
| Saturday | 9-12 a.m. |
| Monday | 2-4:30 p.m. |
| Tuesday | 2-4:30 p.m. |

will mark the first time in Olympic history that final United States gym tryouts have been held outside New York City.

Tickets for remaining unreserved seats will go on sale at Rec Hall prior to this afternoon's program. Price is $1.20, which covers admission to both sessions.

First program event this afternoon—calisthenics—is scheduled for 2 o'clock, while side horse competition will open tonight's proceedings at 8 o'clock.

However, at 1:55 and 7:45 o'clock, specialty acts will entertain the crowd assembling in Rec Hall. At 1:55 girls from Elizabeth, N.J., will demonstrate United States Olympic women's free-hand exercise, under direction of George Miele and Joseph Saltzman.

George E. Ceiga, assistant professor of music at the College, will accompany the women's routine with organ selections.

INDIAN CLUBS

At 7:45 Edward A. Hennig, 68, "grand old man" of the Indian clubs, will entertain incoming spectators with a clubs act backed by organ music and an instrumental ensemble composed of Ann Wisden, violin; Genevieve Taras, violin; Robert Frederick—(Continued on page three)

Tribunal Punishes Traffic Violators

Campus traffic violators will be fined by Tribunal beginning Monday at 8 a.m.

For the first three violations of parking and operating regulations fines of $1, $2 or $5 will be levied, said Alan Hack, Tribunal chairman. A $10 fine and/or probation will be levied for a fourth violation.

Failure to appear at a hearing of Tribunal will automatically advance the fine to the next higher offense. Tribunal will hear cases beginning May 11 at 8 p.m. Funds collected from the fines will be turned over to inter-class finance.

For the information of students, Tribunal listed the following regulations concerning undergraduates:

Driving on central campus roads is prohibited between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday to Saturday noon, except that physically handicapped students may be granted special operating and parking permits.

Cars may be used for special classes or laboratory work if arrangements are made with Campus Patrol by the faculty member in charge.

Student car operators, including commuters, may park only in West parking area.

According to Tribunal practice, any person fined has the right to appeal to Cabinet.

Time Tables

Time Tables for the Fall semester are now on sale at the Scheduling Office, in the Armory. They are priced at 15 cents each. The office is open until 12 o'clock today and 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon, 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m., starting Monday. First phase registration will begin Monday.

Combined Fine Arts Festival Theme Depicts Integrated Hort Woods House

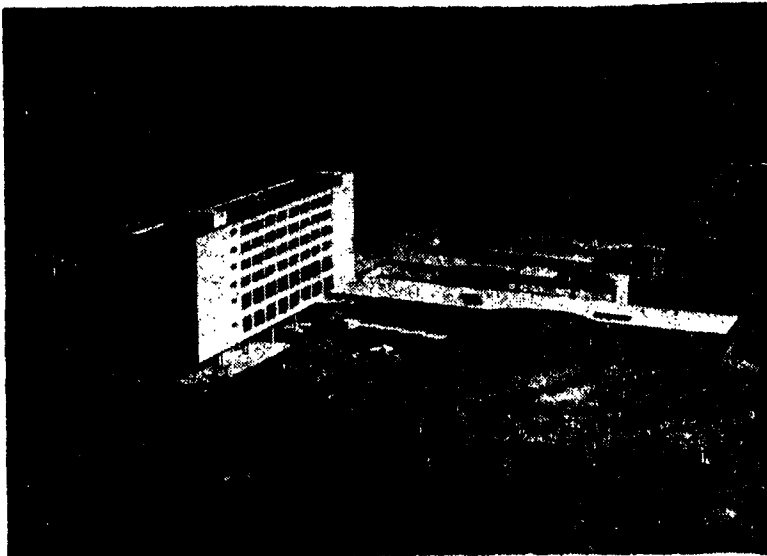

A proposed functional, modern building in Hort Woods to house an integrated fine arts school is the theme of the Combined Arts Festival May 2 to 15.

A model of the structure, the product of the combined thinking and work of student architects, will be displayed in 3 White Hall throughout the period. Concept of the school is the division of arts into three categories of time, space, and humanities with a major wing to house each.

Most of Hort Woods will not be cut, and thus will provide an artistic setting for the building. The theme, simplicity, is followed throughout with ribbon windows forming a horizontal stress design.

Robert A. Christensen, John R. Diehl, James H. Kring, and Edward D. Lenker executed the design and the preliminary plans, which are also on display at White Hall. P. Tony Astore, John V. Chapman, Vernon E. Frost, Carl R. Kohler, and James A. Younkens assisted with construction.

The Fine Arts School theme was chosen in an attempt to promote The College as the cultural nucleus of the state. Many connected with the festival feel that the development of such a school would (Continued on page eight)

Built of pre-cast concrete blocks, the proposed Fine Arts Building will be supported by columns which make it possible for cars and pedestrians to pass underneath. Studios and drafting rooms are oriented to the north light, while the library and roof garden are placed to provide a view of Mount Nittany.

Dance studios have convenient access to the outdoors, for summer practicing. The courts, which are formed by the extension of the wings from the main body, will be utilized for outdoor painting and sketching classes.

Cabinet To Honor Leading Seniors

Names of outstanding senior men and women being recognized by All-College Cabinet awards will be announced at a special Cabinet meeting in 201 Old Main at 8 p.m. Monday, said Thomas Lannen, All-College president.

These awards are made in addition to the six honor women and five honor men chosen by popular vote of the seniors themselves.

Cabinet will also vote on final acceptance of the constitution for the proposed Association of Independent Men. After preliminary Cabinet approval, it was adopted by Independent Student Council, and Pollock Circle and Nittany Dorm Councils.

Efforts will be made to set up voting machinery so that the Governing Council may be elected and begin its functions this semester, if the constitution is approved.

Also on the agenda is the recommendation to the new Cabinet for the disposal of about $900 in surplus funds and approval of next year's budget.