Cancer Fund Begins Final Week of Drive

Harry Patchin, chairman of the College Cancer Drive, today listed collection points for all students who have not yet contributed to the fund, as the drive went into its final week.

Volunteers will approach as many individual students on campus as possible while in the town dorms representatives will call at each house.

Fraternities are requested to take total contributions from each house to the Student Union desk. All honorary and professional groups should send their money to Dr. A. F. Davis, 610 E. Beaver Street, State College.

Patchin stated that the results in the campaign so far have been very gratifying.

No Truce Seen In Jerusalem

LAKE SUCCESS—The United Nations has been informed that there will be no truce inside the walled city of Jerusalem. The Arab higher committee has withdrawn from any such agreement, blaming intensification of Jewish military operations in the new city. Indications are that the entire UN Holy Land truce attempt has failed.

Students Enter Speech Contest

Undergraduates may enter the annual John Henry Frizzell Ex-temporaneous Speaking Contest by registering at a preliminary meeting scheduled for 10 Sparks at 7:30 p. m. Monday.

Prizes of $50 and $25 will be awarded to the two contest winners. The winners will also receive the John Henry Frizzell award of merit, containing the College seal and the president's signature.

Select Topic

Entrants must select a topic at the preliminary meeting, where they will be assigned to one of 12 elimination sections.

These sections will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in rooms as assigned, where each entrant must speak on his chosen topic for five minutes without notes.

From each elimination section, one person will be chosen to speak in the semi-finals in 316 Sparks the same night on his topic. Six contestants will be chosen from this round to enter the finals in 10 Sparks at 7:30 p. m. May 10.

Final speeches must be arranged in conference with Professor Clayton H. Schug in 311 Sparks, by appointment.

Contest judges are members of the department of speech.

The contest sponsored by the department of speech dates back more than 50 years.

Last year, the present name was adopted in honor of John

International Intrigues

WASHINGTON—In a radio address to the Russian Armed forces, Soviet Armed Forces Minister, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, warned of what he termed the "Intrigues of International Reaction." Such plots against peace, Bulganin declared, require the Soviet army to remain constantly in military preparedness.

Insurance Lapse

WASHINGTON—The government home loan insurance program will lapse at midnight tonight. This is the result of Senate failure to approve an extension.

A sharp fight preceded the upper chamber's deferral of action until Monday.

Beer Can-Band Mixer

PRINCETON—The undergraduate body of Princeton University smarted under a verbal spanking from college president Harold Dodds. Because the Johns Hopkins band was pelted with beer cans during a lacrosse game last week, Princeton students have been forbidden to bring any alcoholic beverage to future games.

Henry Frizzell, first head of the department of speech and former acting chaplain, who retired with emeritus rank June 30, 1946, after nearly 45 years of teaching.

The only undergraduates ineligible to enter the contest are previous prize winners. Last year's winners were Richard Hill, first, and Sally Freedly, second prize.

In last year's finals, Hill was victorious over five women, a fact pointed out with a glow of masculine pride by Coleman C. Bender of the department of speech.
