

Miller Twirls Two-Hitter As Lions Capture Seventh

Field diamond. It will be the only meeting of the year between the two clubs.

Yesterday's diamond performance, with the exception of Miller's fine hurling performance, was a boring spectacle to the scanty crowd that braved threatening skies and falling temperatures to witness the affair.

A righthander, Art Raynor, performed the hurling chores for the Bisons in creditable fashion, and if he had received some support from his teammates might have made Miller earn his victory dearly.

The Blue and White batsmen got to Raynor for two runs in the opening frame. Solomon opened the inning with a scratch single and stole second. He came all the way home when Doebler threw wild past second after Hackman had grounded out, short to first.

A single by Potsklan, another stolen base, and Wertz's one base blow accounted for the second tally.

The Lions added another in the second when Miller's double to right center scored Holler who was safe at first on a miscue by Troast.

Raynor held the Nittany sluggers in check then until the sixth when they got another marker without benefit of a hit. They collected one more run in the seventh and added three final scores in the hectic eighth.

Acacia Champs Win Bridge Cup

David Sims, from Erie, and William Whitby, from Uniontown, added another cup to the mantle of Acacia fraternity when they won the all-College duplicate bridge championship recently.

It was the third tournament won by the pair, who were interfraternity champions in 1946 and 1947.

Scoring 82½ points, Sims and Whitby defeated 12 other teams to capture the College title. Runners-up were Frank Ortolani and Henry Rea with 77½, while Robert Jones and James Kjellman finished third with 69.

The winning team will receive a traveling cup, to be held one year, and two smaller trophies for permanent possession.

Johnson Sets Spartan Pace

Even before the ink is dry on the records set by Ohio State's ace, Lloyd Duff, last Saturday, another one-man team, in Spartan standout Fred Johnson, looms on the horizon for this Saturday's meet at Michigan State.

Holder of two IC4-A titles, Johnson has been out of action since the Winter campaign but is expected to resume his record-breaking pace this week.

He won the IC4-A title in the low hurdles this winter and then broad jumped 25 feet, 4¾ inches to take his second title.

The versatile sophomore also runs the 100, the 120-high hurdles, and competes with the sprint relay team.

Candidates for the varsity basketball squad should report to Rec Hall at 7 o'clock tonight.

Net Team Seeks Third Straight

Seeking the third successive victory, the Penn State tennis team battles Bucknell's netters on the varsity courts 4 o'clock this afternoon, weather permitting.

After capturing a one-sided victory from the Bisons at Lewisburg last Friday, the Nittany Lions are favored to win.

Probable starters for the Lion etters are Herb Beckhard, who will oppose the Bison number one man, captain Bob Tuttle, Del Helt, Dick Greenawalt, Al Sopp, and Ralph Peters, in singles matches.

In doubles competition Beckhard and Greenawalt will probably team against the Bisons' first team, and Dave Miller, George Kline, Frank Pessalano, and Bob Ogden will share roles in the other doubles lineups.

HURRY! HURRY! HURRY! Mother's Day is this Sunday, and you will want to send her a card and a gift. Of course, you will want it to be in the best taste possible, and that means that it will have to come from THE COLLEGE BOOK STORE.

Our Mother's Day cards are the type she will like. There are all kinds from which to choose: humorous, cute and sweet. For you who like the more conservative kind, we have flower cards with a suitable verse for Mother. Our advice is to send the card not later than Thursday.

If you think Mother would like a good book, we have a few suggestions. Mildred Jordan, the popular author of ONE RED ROSE, FOREVER and APPLE IN THE ATTIC, has just written a new book called, ASYLUM FOR THE QUEEN. It is a novel based on the attempt of the French to rescue Marie Antoinette and Louis XVI and bring them to the Pennsylvania colony of Asylum.

Peal Buck has just published a new novel, PEONY. It is a beautiful novel of a lovely Chinese girl. It is Pearl Buck again in a setting she knows best. Louis Bromeld's new book, MALABAR FARM, is a delightful new book about Pleasant Valley. It is an excellent down-to-earth book, the type we think mother would like reading. And then there is Elizabeth Goudge's new book, PILGRIM'S INN, which is a "safe" kind of book for conventional mothers.

For a gift, we can think of nothing better than a selection made from our numerous Pennsylvania Dutch line of novelties. An Amish family, Mother, Dad, and two children for $2.50. A reproduction of old Pennsylvania Dutch trivets for $1.25. A Pennsylvania Dutch wall rack with excellent recipes for $2.50, and many other items that will delight you.

What about stationery? We have lovely boxes of flower, bird, and butterfly notes for $1.00 and $1.25. They are so gay and spring-like that we are sure they will make a hit.

Does Mother enjoy listening to music? Then select an album from our excellent stock. You are bound to find something she will want. With records, you can count on the whole family enjoying the gift. Come in and let us help you make your selection.

You see, no matter what it is you want for mother, you can make your selection under one roof at THE COLLEGE BOOK STORE. You will enjoy browsing around to make your selections, and if you want help, you can count on our advice. Remember, you are always welcome, and our store is your store.
