Ceramic Art Exhibit Includes Ancient Cup

An Italian drinking cup made in 350 B. C., and the most modern American glass tableware are included in the current exhibit of ceramic art in the outer lobby of the Mineral Industries building.

"Evolution of a Plate," showing the various stages in the process of making a flower-decorated, glazed dinner plate, is one of the informative features of the display.

Other examples show the etching of a design on glassware and several steps used in cutting designs into glass table pieces.

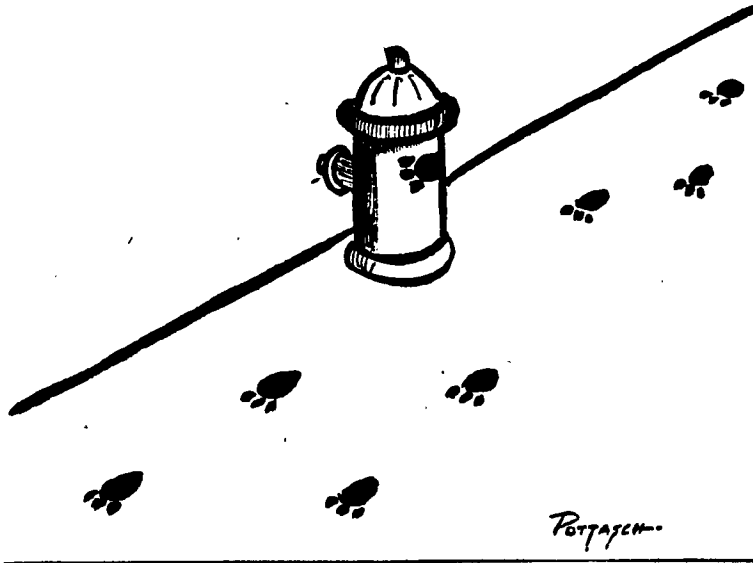

Historical portions of the display contain Egyptian, early Pennsylvanian, and American Indian ceramic items, both ornamental and service pieces.

The exhibit, which will continue for about two weeks, consists of gifts and loaned items from several ceramic organizations.

Players Group Organizes Summer Stock Company

State College's first professional theatre group and the only summer stock company, known to be active within 100 miles, has been formed around a nucleus of students prominent in Penn State Players who will graduate in June.

Town and Nine Players, as the group will be known, plans a six-weeks season beginning June 23 with six performances scheduled each week. They will present at least three plays, done in the arena style at Center Stage, according to James Ambandos, director.

Fanna Brown, Lois Hartwick, Edward McCoy, Harry Natschke, Jane Staus, Francine Toll, Omar Lerman, and Fred Vogel complete the group from which the title is derived.

Jo Peoples, a College graduate of last June and star of Players' first arena production, "Skylark," has also indicated that she will be with the group, Ambandos said.

As an aid in making the theatre group representative of the community, a limited-subscription solicitation will get under way early next week in which memberships may be purchased for $1, Ambandos said. Members will receive tickets for all performances at a reduced rate, and will have preference in the choice of seats and reservations rights.

Borland—

England. From 1922 to 1924 he served as President of the American Dairy Science Association, and from 1925 to 1927 he was President of the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association. Besides this he has been active in community enterprises, especially church activities.

Under Professor Borland's supervision the College has developed outstanding purebreds of Holstein, Guernsey, Brown Swiss, Ayrshire and Jersey cattle, as well as contributing to solving many problems in dairy production and dairy manufacturing research. Students will use animals from these herds in the annual fitting and showing contests featured in Saturday's event.
