

Scott
Concert
Tomorrow

Summer Collegian

"Ladies
in Retirement"

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY THE STUDENTS OF THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE

VOL. 26—No. 6

WEDNESDAY, JULY 28, 1948—STATE COLLEGE, PENNSYLVANIA

PRICE SEVEN CENTS

PUB Replaces Circle Mess Hall

Artist Course Pianist Plays Chopin and Boogie

Swing, classics and humor will be packed into the fourth Summer Artists Series concert by pianist Henry L. Scott, known as the "Will Rogers of the piano," in Schwab Auditorium at 8:30 tomorrow night.

Liszt's "Second Hungarian Rhapsody," Chopin's "C Sharp Minor Waltz" and Scarlatti's "Pastoral" are included in the classical portion of the concert. The popular group ranges from ballads to boogie-woogie.

Among the humorous titles are "Chopin in the Citrus Belt," "Rhythm at any Cost" and "Eccentricities of my pupils." Mr. Scott writes all his musical sketches, arranges most of his popular compositions and originates the ideas for his hilarious pantomimes.

Versatility

Since he early determined to make versatility the keynote of his concert career, Scott has learned to interpret the music of all ages and places. His major goal is to increase the appreciation of concert music, especially among young people.

He is especially noted for his accurate interpretations of Liszt and Chopin, and is indebted to Rachmaninoff and Paderewski, who served as his early models, through their musical recordings.

A keen musical ear has supplemented Scott's classical training.

(Continued on page three)

Concert Pianist

Henry L. Scott

Vets' Book Checks

Veterans who turned in their book receipts at the Bursar's office by the July 10 deadline will be able to collect their checks on or after July 29.

Checks for book receipts which were turned in after July 10 will be available as soon as possible.

The Bursar's office has announced that there will be no deductions on these checks as there are no general assessments made by the College during the summer sessions.

Residents to Eat In Nittany Hall

To provide additional recreation facilities for men students living on campus, the Pollock Circle dining hall will be converted into a recreation building, College officials announced today.

The PUB (Pollock Union Building), as the new recreation hall will be known, will open on Sunday, September 19.

The decision to convert the building was made, George L. Donovan, manager of Student Union, explained, in response to requests of men students living in the Pollock Circle-Nittany Dormitory area and as facilities at the Temporary Union Building (TUB) become more and more inadequate.

Candy, soft drinks, and cigarette vending machines will be placed in the PUB. One wing of the building will consist of a lounge where students can play checkers, chess, or other games. There will be magazines available. The other wing will house eight tables for table tennis.

Table Tennis

Donovan explained that the demand for table tennis facilities at the TUB has been far in excess of the facilities available. He also pointed out that the PUB will offer more table tennis facilities than does the new Student Union Building at the University of Illinois, or the Student Union building at either the University of Michigan or Michigan State.

Unusually hot air heating ducts have been removed from the building and steam heating has been substituted.

It was explained that since the Pollock Circle area is "off limits" for women students, the PUB will be open only to men students. The TUB will continue to be available to both men and women students.

Nittany Dining Hall

With the opening of the new recreation building, students residing in the Pollock Circle dormitories will use the Nittany Dormitory dining hall. Harold W. Loman, director of dormitories and dining commons, explained. He said the Nittany dining hall was retained because it is better designed and better equipped for use as a dining hall and also provides a pleasanter atmosphere.

(Continued on page eight)

Drama Students Produce 'Ladies in Retirement' Revival

"Ladies in Retirement," first major summer dramatic production since pre-war days, will be presented by the division of dramatics in Schwab Auditorium at 8 p.m. next Monday and Tuesday.

Tickets for the performance are on sale at Student Union from now until the time of performance. Admission is $1 including tax. All seats are reserved.

Members of the cast are Ruthye Cohen, Lucy Gilham; Carolyn

Cox, Leona Fiske; June Williams, Ellen Creed; Ann Balmer, Emily Creed; Joe Bird, Albert Feather; Jean Kriner, Louisa; Martha Lewis, Sister Theresa. Mr. Warren Smith will be director and Robert Kendall, technical director.

The cast of "Ladies in Retirement" has no affiliation with Players but is selected from those students attending summer session who are active in dramatics.

Stage Crew

Miriam Lesker is stage manager and Helen Fitzsimmons is bookholder. Members of the cast.

(Continued on page eight)

Supper Club Schedules Alumna As ABC Show's Girl of Week

Joyce Hodgins, Miss Penn State of 1948, will be saluted on a coast to coast radio show Friday night, as one of the 12 finalists in Sammy Kaye's contest to find Miss American Coed of 1948.

Each week, one of the 12 selected from 150 entries by the judges, is featured on the Chesterfield Supper Club as the ABC Girl of the Week. The program is broadcast over the NBC network at 7 p.m.

John Robert Powers, head of the Powers Model Agency; Tina Leser, New York designer; and Ed Sullivan, Broadway columnist formed the beauty jury which selected the finalists from photographs and which will choose the titlist in August.

June Graduate

Miss Hodgins, a member of Chi Omega sorority, was graduated in June with a degree in home economics. Her photograph was entered in the Froth-sponsored campus contest by Sigma Phi Epsilon and appeared in the April issue of the humor magazine.

Special coronation ceremonies for the winner will be held at Virginia Beach, Va., Labor Day, when Sammy Kaye will present the crown to Miss American Coed. An Atlantic City vacation for two, a $500 set of luggage and a screen test are included in the awards she will receive.

(Continued on page eight)

Most Beautiful Coed?

Joyce Hodgins

Philadelphia Story Tops Season

By Elaine Nelson and Jack Taylor

Jo Peoples Fisher's portrayal of Tracy Lord on Thursday night added sparkle and finish to the Town and Nine Players' third production, "Philadelphia Story."

Ease and skill mark the startling changes in mood that Jo Peoples Fisher effects on stage. The hilarious "drunk" scene in the second act and her closing speech at the end of the third prove her a veteran.

In the popular comedy staged and directed by James Ambandos, action centers around the complications confronting divorcee Tracy Lord on the day before her second wedding.

A returned ex-husband, C. K. Dexter Haven, and fiance, George Kittredge, duel for Tracy's affections.

The father, Seth Lord, who has involved the family in a scandal, and a journalist, Mike Connor, who was sent for a magazine article on the impending wedding, produce further tension. Especially when Mike becomes interested in Tracy as more than a journalistic subject.

Fred Vogel lives down his pretentious name, C. K. Dexter Haven, to play a warm, understanding, although somewhat designing role. Portman Paget, the unhappy but righteous fiance, is cold and unfeeling as the character demands.

Actor as well as director, James Ambandos plays the sympathetic brother Sandy Lord, in a convincing professional manner.

The journalist-photographer team, however, brings an air of average performance to the play. Omar Lerman as Mike Connor seems adolescent and uneasy, while Jane Staus as photographer Liz Imbrie overemphasizes her

(Continued on page six)

Musicians Give Joint Concert

The Summer Sessions Band and Chorus presented a joint concert in Schwab Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Monday. James W. Dunlop, assistant professor of music education, conducted the band and Austin H. Truitt directed the chorus.

Gloria Wharry was soloist for the chorus. George Ceiga, assistant professor of music, was organist and Jane A. O'Hara and Ethel Pitman were accompanists.

Among the outstanding selections of the band were "Don Quixote Suite," "Oklahoma," "The Desert Song," and "La Fiesta" which was presented by a brass sextet composed of John Sloan, Cecil Oyler, Robert Manning, Richard Criswell, Homer Savige and Warren Johnson.

"Christ Went Up Into the Hills," "Evening Prayer" and "Dream Pantomime" and "Listen to the Lambs" were among the pieces presented by the chorus.

Alums Receive Ticket Blanks

Application blanks for tickets to nine football games were mailed Saturday to 30,000 alumni, according to Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics.

By order of the Athletic Advisory Board, each alumnus will be limited to a maximum of four tickets for any particular game. The unprecedented demand for pasteboards, as indicated in pre-season mail, forced athletic officials to take this precautionary step.

The Athletic Advisory Board, anticipating record-breaking demands for several games on the schedule, principally the Penn and Pitt games away from home, and the Michigan State game at home, also instructed the graduate manager to cut the ceiling to two tickets where necessary.

In the case of the Michigan State game, Gilbert pointed out that capacity of New Beaver Field is 14,500, although it will be boosted to 17,000 by temporary stands, whereas the ticket allocations for the Penn and Pitt games are both limited by the host team's season commitments.

Gilbert said the team's success in 1947 undoubtedly contributed to the current unprecedented demand for tickets.

LATE AP NEWS—Courtesy WMAJ

GOP Plans Anti-Poll Bill First, Expects Dixiecrat Filibuster

WASHINGTON—Senator Taft of Ohio says the Republican leaders in Congress will bring up the Anti-Poll Tax Bill first in Congress. The special session faces a probable filibuster on the civil rights issue.

The Republican leaders in Congress apparently have just one answer to most of the anti-inflation and other proposals put forward yesterday by President Truman, "No." Some of the GOP leaders say action is possible on what they call non-controversial measures.

Draft Plans

WASHINGTON—In the first six months of the draft program, men will be taken into the armed forces by age groups, beginning with 25 and going down through 22. The plan has been revealed by Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service. He indicated that after the program gets under way, the bulk of the men will come from the 19-through-21 group.

Proposal to Moscow

LONDON—The Western powers apparently have decided what to propose to Russia for settling the dispute over Germany. These suggestions are now being taken to Moscow by the American ambassador to Russia, Walter B. Smith. No hint of their contents have been made public.

French Reds Lose

PARIS—The Communists in the French Chamber of Deputies tried to bowl over the new government yesterday, but they were beaten. The Premier, Andre Marie, did not ask for a vote of confidence.