

Complete Plans Of Men's Dorms TUB, PUB Provide Recreation Facilities

Planning has been completed for the construction of five major dormitory units, providing rooms for 1200 men students, in the area south and west of the Tri-dorms.

A dining hall capable of serving 1500 men also will be built. It will house a canteen for men, a game room, a lounge, and post office facilities.

One dormitory unit will join Jordan Hall and extend south, parallel to Sparks. A second unit will be built south of the first, joining it by means of a second-floor arch.

Another unit will extend southward from Watts Hall, and will join a fourth unit by a similar archway. A terraced court facing Pollock road and the Mineral Industries building will thus be formed by the four new units and the Tri-dorms.

The Temporary Union Building, stop-gap recreation center erected last year to fill student needs until funds become available for a permanent structure, was augmented during the summer by the conversion of the Pollock Circle dining commons to the Pollock Union Building.

While the combined facilities of the TUB and PUB are not expected to fulfill the need for a Union Building completely, the eight tables for table tennis in one wing of the PUB are in excess of those provided at several prominent rows and Curtin roads merge, the fifth dormitory unit will be built. The dining hall will join the unit south of Watts Hall, facing Burrowes road.

Lounges, social quarters, pressing and typing rooms, and other conveniences will be provided in the five new units. There also will be a suite for a house mother.

college Unions, George Donovan, SU manager, explained.

The decision to convert the Pollock Circle building was made in response to requests of men students living in that area and as facilities at the TUB became more and more inadequate, he said.

Twin wing lounges, a main lounge, dance floor, kitchen, game room, card room, and offices compose the interior of the TUB, located directly behind the infirmary. The dance floor has been the scene of numerous all-college dances, including Forestry Ball and Beaux Arts Ball.

Candy, soft drinks, and cigarette vending machines have been placed in the PUB. One wing of the building consists of a lounge where students can play checkers, chess, or other games. There will be magazines available in the reading room. The other wing will house the table tennis tables.

Donovan explained that since the Pollock Circle area is "off lim-
