College Room, Board Fees Rise As Cost of Operation Increases

Fees for all students and room and board rates for dormitory students have been increased, effective this semester, James Milholland, acting president of the College, announced last month.

In a letter to all students enrolled on campus or at the Mont Alto branch of the Pennsylvania State Forest School, President Milholland pointed out that appropriations from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania account for only a part of the education cost of each student and that the remainder must be provided from Federal government appropriations and student fees.

"The small increases now being made will offset, in part, the additional present-day cost and make it possible to continue to provide you with the kind of education you have a right to expect from the Pennsylvania State College," President Milholland wrote.

Typical fee increases for undergraduates will range from $5 to $10 per semester while the increase for part-time students will total $1 per credit per semester.

Tuition charged out-of-state residents was increased from $75 per semester to $110. This fee is in addition to the general and incidental fees, which amount to about $110 per semester and which are paid by all students.

The revised fee schedule also eliminates many of the fees that were assessed for specific courses. A blanket $10 fee, paid by each student, replaces laboratory fees formerly assessed for individual courses.

Rates for board in all dormitories on campus were raised from $187 to $200 per semester while room rentals were increased about $10 per semester. These increases, it was explained, were necessitated by rising living costs.

Labor-Saving Forms, New Photos Serve as Registration Innovations

Registration of the 2700 sophomores and more than 5500 upperclassmen who are returning to the College for the fall semester will continue today and tomorrow as all available College facilities are geared to the "signing-up" of the record enrollment.

Undergraduate students who have pre-registered will first report to their advisers to receive class cards and schedules. Students who have not completed the first phase registration will receive schedule cards signed by an adviser or the dean of the schools in which they are enrolled.

They then report to the Board of Control in the Armory to receive a class card for each course scheduled. When both schedule and class cards have been procured students report directly to Recreation Hall to complete registration.

A new labor-saving device for registering students is the use of carbon paper for copying of class cards and schedules. Another feature new to upperclassmen is the fact that all students, no matter what class, will have photographs taken for new, plastic-encased matriculation cards. The photograph will include the student's number and school. On the reverse side the student's address, height, weight, color of eyes and hair will be listed.

Late registrants will be required to have the matriculation photograph taken at the Penn State Photo Shop, where a fee will be (Continued on page three)

AA Sets Limit On Penn Tickets

Penn-Penn State football game ticket application blanks will be issued to students when they obtain their Athletic Association ticket books at registration in Recreation Hall today and until noon tomorrow.

Applications, accompanied by $3.90 per ticket, will be accepted at the Athletic Association windows October 4 and 5. A maximum of two reserved seats may be applied for.

No provisions have been made for faculty and townspeople to order tickets, because of the expected high demand from students and alumni, according to Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics.

Penn State's contingent has been assigned the north side of Franklin Field from goal-line to goal-line, for the highly-publicized November 6 fray. The Athletic Association has allotted 7500 seats to alumni, and 500 to students. A block of 300 of the best student seats has been reserved for the football squad.

Alumni applications, on a maximum-of-four basis, with the AA reserving the privilege of cutting the number to two, have been streaming in for several weeks. The deadline for alumni is October 23. So far applications for 12,000 tickets have been received.

Final decisions on the amount of limitations required, will depend on the total number of applicants. Applications will be filled in order of receipt, with paid-up Alumni Association members receiving top priority.

Book Exchange Reopens Today

For the benefit of students having financial difficulties, the student book exchange is operating again this year, opening its doors in TUB at 9:30 o'clock this morning, according to Joanne L. Hobbs, chairman of the book exchange committee.

Hours for the exchange will be from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon and 1:30 to 4 p.m., starting today and continuing through next Wednesday, with the exceptions of Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

Books at the exchange will be sold at a price up to 60 percent of list. All unsold books will be sent at the option of the owners to an out-of-state student cooperative.

Students sending books to the exchange will receive no payment until their books are sold, at which time they will be notified of the sale. They may then take their receipts to the Student Union desk, where they will be cashed in.

All sorts of text books are acceptable at the exchange. At present there seems to be a superfluity of liberal arts texts. A few other articles, such as drawing sets, are also obtainable.

Cabinet Plans First Mixer

Sophs and senior, new and old Penn Staters, will have a chance to meet each other under informal social conditions in Rec Hall at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

The occasion is the first mixer of the year sponsored by All-College Cabinet. One of the leading dance bands on campus has been engaged to play for dancing, said William Lawless, All-College president.

Collegian Distribution

Daily Collegians will be available at Student Union desk every morning from Tuesday to Saturday inclusive, beginning next Tuesday. Details of distribution to fraternity sections, and campus dorms or dining commons, will be revealed next week.

All undergraduate students are entitled to obtain Collegian, since 75 cents of each semester's class dues was voted to pay for a blanket subscription during the war. Faculty members and townspeople as well as parents, may obtain Collegians by mail, for $2 per semester, and $4 a year.

Alumni Solve Travel Problem

"Homecoming Special," is the Alumni Association's solution to the housing and transportation problems which Alumni Homecoming Weekend always provides.

With the help of Paul Lloyd, manager of the Keystone Travel Bureau, and the Pennsylvania Railroad the Alumni Association has made possible the unique plan of bringing approximately 16 Pullman cars directly onto the campus to solve the problems of eating, housing and travel.

The special can be boarded on Friday evening, October 22 in New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, York, Lancaster, Harrisburg, Greensburg or Pittsburgh. The eastern section will proceed to Harrisburg and on to Altoona, while the western section heads for Altoona. The eastern and western alumni cars will be assembled for the special movement to Bellefonte and a ride to State College on the Bellefonte Central tracks.

The "Homecoming Special" is scheduled to arrive in State College at 7:15 a.m. Saturday. The cars will be parked on the College siding for occupancy and meals by the travelers.

A detailed itinerary and rate schedule have been prepared by the Alumni Association. Ticket rates include all meals on the train, first class rail ticket, Pullman space (compartments and drawing rooms) and a reserved seat ticket of the Michigan State game. The use of a club car enroute and on the campus is a special feature of the trip.

Governor Duff Proclaims Week

I, James H. Duff, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby designate and proclaim September 26 through October 2, 1948, as Pennsylvania Week, to be observed by the citizens of our Commonwealth as an opportunity to acquaint themselves more fully with the resources, development, history and potentialities of their home State and community.

We, as Pennsylvanians, can take deep pride in the fact that it was on Pennsylvania soil that the representatives of the thirteen original colonies met to form a union of free states, and that it was also on Pennsylvania soil that that Union withstood its most severe test in the Civil War. We can take pride also in Pennsylvania's vast resources, her versatility and manifold attainments in industry and commerce, and her amazing diversity of products.

This celebration of Pennsylvania Week, however, is not a mere rejoicing in glories past and present. Pennsylvanians must look to the future too, ever searching for new endeavors which will mean continued growth and prosperity for the local community and for the State.

Student Office Offers Work

Students seeking part-time employment should contact the student employment office located in the TUB, said Allan M. Reece, in charge of student employment.

Available positions include working for meals, baby sitting, housework, manual labor, and jobs which require technical training. From time to time other types of work is offered by employers registering at the office.

To help speed the work of the student employment office, class schedules and telephone numbers should be brought to the office, Reece recommended.

The office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, with the exception of the lunch hour from 12 noon to 1:30 p.m.
