Faux Pas

"Brother, you've had it! You're a has-been already before the semester gets started!"

. . . Those were the caustic comments of Foolproof Fauntle-roy, our a d m i r i ng fraternity brother whose sharp eyes focus automatically on any and all ty-pographical errors which creep into these hallowed sports pages.

He was referring to an unfortunate typographical mishap which occurred in Wednesday's Daily Collegian and which caused some little commotion around these parts. It seems we called Bob Higgins "Boob" instead of Bob.

Dear Foolproof got out the dictionary and began reading the definition for "boob": a fool, a dupe, any of the species of nincompoons or Simple Simons, etc., etc.

By that time we were on our way to New Beaver Field to get the Hig's reaction. We expected to be greeted with the cleat-end of a football brogan.

But as things turn out we guess the veteran Nittany Lion football coach, after 18 years, is hardened toward such hap-penings. At any rate his only comment was: "Ha, that's a pretty good one!" Which shows that Rob Higgins can take such things in stride.

Meanwhile, we ordered 20 lashes for our chief proofreader, fired him, and have signed up Foolproof Fauntleroy to do the job from here on out.

Now that he's back from Europe where he was United States Olympic gymnastics coach, Lion Coach Gene Wett-stone is in great demand as a speaker before civic groups in and out of State College.

About Lacrosse

There's one varsity sport, at least, on campus that doesn't raise a big fuss about previous experience of its participants. That's lacrosse.

To illustrate our point, Coach Nick Thiel has 28 lacrossemen -26 seniors and two juniorsreturning from last spring's squad. Of the 28, just one-Ed Belfield, a junior-played lacrosse before attending Penn State.

By the way, the fact that 26 lacrossemen this year are out-going seniors augurs well for the chances of incoming sophomores who want to take up the game. As Coach Thiel says, in urging newcomers to try out for la-crosse, "Absolutely no experience is necessary." All ya gotta do is isten and learn.
