Excess Demand Could Limit Student to 1 Penn Ticket

A warning that unprecedented demands for tickets to the Penn game may force a limitation of one seat for many students was issued today by a committee of four student leaders.

The committee, consisting of William Lawless, All-College president; Terrell Ruhlman, senior class president; Joseph Colone, Athletic Association president, and Lewis Stone, Collegian editor, was asked by Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics, to determine the method for distribution of the student allotment of 5200 tickets.

Students will still be permitted to apply for two tickets, at the Athletic Association windows on the first floor of Old Main from 7 a.m. to noon and 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday.

5200 Guarantees

It was the intent of the committee that the first 5200 applicants would thus be guaranteed one ticket each. The leaders' action was based on the belief that this system would permit more bonafide Penn State students to attend the game than any other manner of allocation.

Applications will be numbered in order of their receipt, odd numbers at one window and even at the other. Each person may submit only his own application, and his identity must be verified by means of a matriculation card, the committee ruled.

Students desiring to sit together should submit their applications at the same time, and request that they be pinned together.

Tabulation

Tuesday, after the applications have been received, they will be tabulated, and the first 5200 will be granted one ticket each. If the allotment is not then exhausted, one additional ticket will be given to those who ordered two seats, in order of application number, as long as they remain.

Lines will form along the east corridor of first floor Old Main, when the doors are opened at 7 a.m., said Capt. Philip A. Mark, of the campus patrol. This will prevent congestion in the lobby.

Vishinsky Flays U.S. On Atom Control

PARIS—Russian delegate to the United Nations General Assembly, Andrei Vishinsky, accused President Truman and Governor Dewey of wanting the United States to have monopoly control of the atom. He also hinted that Russia may have the secret of the atomic bomb.

British delegate Hector McNeill sharply rebuked the Russian delegation. He said it must be made clear to the world who is to blame.

Dulles Recalled

PARIS—Governor Dewey yesterday called his foreign policy adviser, John Foster Dulles, home from the General Assembly meeting for consultations on the East-West cold war.

Tours End

WASHINGTON—Both President Truman and Governor Dewey finished their coast-to-coast speaking tours last night. Mr. Truman spoke in Charleston, West Va., at his last stop and Governor Dewey at Cheyenne, Wyo.

McDowell Called

WASHINGTON—U. S. Attorney John McGohey yesterday called on Representative John McDowell, acting chairman of the House unAmerican Activities Committee, to appear before a federal grand jury and prove the charge he has made against McGohey. McDowell claims the indictments McGohey drew up against 12 top-ranking Communist leaders last July would not stand up in court.

Higginsmen Begin 1948 Campaign; Seek to Maintain Undefeated Mark

Holding a nine-game winning streak and a top place among the leading grid teams of the nation, the Penn State football team will inaugurate its sixty-second year in collegiate competition on New Beaver field at 2 o'clock this afternoon against Bucknell University.

The Lion team, which scored 320 points while limiting ten opponents, Southern Methodist included, to 40 points in 1947, holds a decided edge in this series, with 27 victories to Bucknell's 10. Last year's 54 points equaled the all-time high of this series.

Standout on the Bison's "it can be done" team is 182-pound sophomore scabbard Smokey Jim Ostendarp, of Baltimore, Maryland. Called by Line Coach Joe Bedenk a "fast and shifty back," Ostendarp will be used by the Herd in wide end sweeps and fancy reverses.

LORE

Beside Smokey Jim, the visitors will feature Frannie Lore, Tony Miele, Jim Hoover, Ed Stec and Cal Seaman in the backfield. Seaman, who last year averaged only 2.7 yards less per kick than Joe Colone, is not listed as a starter.

Belle Hop Tops Bison Weekend

The first football weekend of the semester will be highlighted by the Belle Hop Ball to be held at the TUB from 9 to 12 o'clock tonight under the sponsorship of the Junior Greeters Club. Music will be furnished by the Ted McCarthy Quintet, a musical organization from Harrisburg.

Dance tickets can be purchased for $1 per couple including tax at the Student Union desk in Old Main or at the TUB tonight.

Belle Hop Ball is an annual dance sponsored by the Junior Greeters, an organization of hotel administration students that is affiliated with the Hotel Greeters Association of America.

Collegian Resumes Delivery to Dorms

Distribution points at which fraternities and coeds may pick up Daily Collegians were announced yesterday by Brett Kranich, circulation manager of the Daily Collegian. Points where copies of the Collegian may be obtained are:

Fraternities: Sigma Chi, Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Kappa Sigma, Delta Sigma Phi, Phi Sigma Kappa, Phi Kappa Tau, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Phi Kappa Psi, and Theta Xi.
Women's dormitories: Atherton Hall, Simmons Hall and MacAllister Hall.

Men living in Tri-Dormitories may obtain copies of their papers in the dorms.

All other students may obtain copies of the campus daily from the Student Union desk in Old Main Monday through Saturday.

Place Has Changed, Says '00 Alumnus Here for Game

Take it from a man who knows! The old place just doesn't seem the same. In fact, the campus has changed so much since the undergraduate days of Wayne L. Shearer, M.D., that he had a difficult time trying to find his way around the once familiar campus.

Dr. Shearer, '00, closed his office in Reading in order to be on hand for the Bucknell opener today. While attending the College before the turn of the century, Dr. Shearer was a member of the musical club and led the mandolin club.

Fraternity Fees

Fraternities that have not yet paid their $10 fee must do so at Student Union in Old Main by noon today. William McLain, IFC secretary, reported yesterday.

Penn State Club to Accept Applications for Membership

All independent men students will have an opportunity to join the Penn State Club, independent men's social organization, when that body holds its first meeting of the fall semester in 321 Old Main 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Applications for membership in the club will be accepted at that time, Fred Peruzzi, publicity chairman, reported yesterday.

The club is open to men of all races, creeds, and colors. The only qualification is that the prospective member can hold membership in no Greek letter social fraternity on the campus.

Upon acceptance by the organization, an initiation fee of 50 cents is charged. Membership dues are 50 cents per month. There are no other financial obligations.

Dances, swimming parties, and joint activities with Philotes, independent women's social organization, are among the social highlights of the coming season. The club operates a full sports schedule.

Heads Up! Hatmen

All hatmen are requested by the Hat Societies Council to meet at the southwest gate leading to New Beaver Playing Field at 2 p.m. this afternoon to form the traditional double line.

Soph Psych Test

All sophomore students who did not take the psychological tests during orientation week should report to 121 Sparks, 7 p.m. on Tuesday and Wednesday, said Dr. Robert G. Bernreuter, director of Student Advisory Service. The complete battery of tests requires two sessions of two hours each.

Lines from the Lion

Top of Mount Nittany.
Dear Gang—

My heart is filled with sorrow today. My best loved and most hated early season rival, the Bucknell Bison, was dropped from my 1949 menu.

I have feasted on Bison meat ever since I was a cub—I can still remember that first Bison steak I had back in '87. But no more. I guess I'll have to make today's meal an extra large one.

While I'm resting here on top of Mt. Nittany, I'll give you a guesstimate of today's score. I took Comm. 90 last semester and I consider myself an expert on statistics:

Since we mauled Bucknell 54-0 last year, and they haven't beaten us for over ten years and there are 22 players on the field, excluding the officials, I predict that we'll beat the thundering herd by a few TD's but we must score early and often.

I must hurry now so that I'll make New Beaver Field in time for the game.

I leave you with one thought in mind,
"Beat Bucknell."

Yours,
THE LION.

P.S.: Keep your eye on the bass drum, that is if you have time to keep your eyes off the Bucknell drum majorette.
