Lines from the Lion-Lewistown

Dear Gang:
Here I am waiting for the train to take me up to Syracuse. I can't understand why everybody is staring at me. You'd think people never saw a Lion traveling on a train before.

Remember last year's game with the Orange? What a time I was still sobering up when the game started. But none of that for me this year.

I'm going to stick to my new motto—"The Lion has switched orange juice." I guess orange juice is better for you in the long run. I heard it makes your claws stonger and I'll need strong claws later in the season.

I'm looking over some of the Syracuse publicity releases and they boast of a triple threat commando named Bernie Custis.

According to this clipping, the guy is murder. He is posedly passes down the field and then runs after the ball and catches it. When he runs he digs a tunnel under the ground like a mole which makes him extremely hard to tackle and when he punts he kicks his shoe with the ball, knocking out the opponents' ball receiver.

I guess we better watch that guy—he's terrific.

Remember my new motto and switch to orange juice.

Yours,
THE LION

Applications at 4650 for Penn Game

A total of 4650 applications have been accepted for the Penn game, according to Walter Hosterman, assistant athletic director.

Only applications for one ticket were accepted today, he said, because of the 3281 received on Monday. These represent requests for 6167 seats, over 900 more than the guaranteed allotment.

Football Movies

Football movies will be shown in Schwab Auditorium at 7 o'clock tomorrow night—instead of tonight. Movies of previous Saturday's games will be shown each Thursday during the football season.

Al Michaels, backfield coach, will interpret the movies this week.

Fraternities Pledge 242 Since Fall Rushing Week

Early returns in fraternity pledging since September 19 show 242 men pledged. Theta Kappa Phi and Theta Chi each pledged 21 men to lead the list. Names of the new pladges appear below.

Dean Warnock Approves Soph Dating Dictum

In a recent letter to fraternity presidents, Dean of Men Arthur R. Warnock supported the injunction against sophomore women participating in unchaperoned dating in fraternity houses issued by Dean of Women Pearl O. Weston.

"I am of the opinion that Dean Weston's ruling on sophomore women students and unchaperoned dating was logical in view of the facts of the situation," the letter stated.

"Instead of asking the Student Welfare Committee to withdraw unchaperoned dating privileges from all women guests of fraternities, she elected to exercise her right to deny the privilege to only a specified portion of the women students; that is, the new coming students who in most cases are minors under the law."

Cites Violations
Dean Warnock cited unquestioned violation of sections of the Interfraternity Code for Unchaperoned Dating, involving the prohibition of mixed drinking, in approving of Dean Weston's action.

"Dean Weston's action was not based on her objections to the Dating Code; it was based on a quite general violation of some provisions of the Dating Code which the fraternities through IFC had agreed to enforce and support. Therefore I can't see that the fraternities have anybody but themselves to blame for this action," the letter said.

Observance a 'Must'
Dean Warnock pointed out that he had warned that fraternity movement in the direction of strict observance of the Code was a "must" for this year in a letter to fraternity presidents last summer.

"A great majority of women student — and particularly sophomore women students — are minors and as such are barred from drinking in licensed liquor retailing places by State laws. It seems entirely unreasonable that fraternity houses in a state institution could be permitted to do what licensed places are not permitted to do, without subjecting themselves and the College to severe criticism," the letter said.

Commotion Aplenty As Roof Falls In On AOPi Shanty

"Don't tell anybody, but I think the ceiling is coming down!" was the cry heard from AOPi Peggy Denion yesterday morning when she and several of her sorority sisters were in the midst of entertaining rushees.

Beneath the cracked living room ceiling in the AOPi house the girls could see wooden beams slowly appear from under the drooping plaster and the chandelier began to swing, giving promise of disaster not too far in the future.

The girls quickly removed two lamps and a coffee table to safer quarters. Suddenly it was 10:10 a.m. and the AOPi's had their ceiling and chandelier on their living room floor.

Harold W. Loman, purchasing agent for the College, has promised that the ceiling will be plastered as soon as possible. Until then Peggy and Mary Lou Hump-ton have turned their first floor room into a living room and are living temporarily on the second floor.
