Lions, Orange Clash Tonight At Syracuse

Holding the top spot in the nation in pass defense and second place in total defense, the Penn State football team will tackle Syracuse tonight at Archibald Stadium, Syracuse, N. Y., determined to hold its position among the best defensive teams in the country.

Fans who will be unable to travel to the New York state game tonight can head the battle over station WMAJ which will air the Mutual-Atlantic football broadcast starting at 7:45 o'clock. "Syracuse is a better all-around team than Bucknell," commented Coach Earl Edwards who scouted the Orangemen in their 13-9 win over Niagara. "Bernie Custis and Wait Slovenski are excellent broken field runners, and there is always the danger that one of them will intercept a pass and score."

OUTSTANDING

Custis, rated by Coach Reaves Baysinger as 'the most outstanding passer I've seen in ten years,' is a sophomore and 'Slivers' Slovenski is a senior.

"Many times in the Niagara game," continued Coach Edwards, "Custis passed the ball right into the hands of the receiver, only to have him drop it." Commenting on last week's disastrous battle against Holy Cross, he said, "The Syracuse line couldn't give Bernie enough protection on passes and he was constantly being rushed."

Praising the Syracuse line, Coach Edwards emphasized the fact that the Orange has four tackles bigger than any four that the Blue and White can put into

Cleveland Wins 4-1, Series Deadlocked

Before a crowd of 40,000 fans, Bob Lemon evened the world series count at one each as he hurled Cleveland to a 4-1 decision over the Boston Braves.

Striking out five and walking three, the Indian ace would have blanked the Braves except for an error by second baseman Joe Gordon. The series now moves to Cleveland for the next three days.

IFC to Regulate Own Dating Code

Louis Cohn Heads Enforcement Group

Faced with loss of its unchaperoned dating code, the Interfraternity Council took active steps at its meeting Wednesday night to put teeth into enforcement of the code provisions relating to mixed drinking and prohibition of women above the first floor of fraternity houses.

George Chapman, IFC president, announced formation of a committee whose job it will be to make recommendations regarding elimination of the two outlawed acts.

The committee's report, after approval by the Council, will then be submitted to Dean of Women Pearl O. Weston as concrete proof that IFC not only can, but will, enforce its own dating code.

Dean Weston, who made the first assault against the code by prohibiting sophomore women from entering unchaperoned fraternity houses, has stated that it is not the code itself, but the laxity of enforcement, that brought on her action.

Louis Cohn was appointed chairman of the committee. Other members are Robert Boedecker, George Ohlman, Alan Richter, and Herman Staaf.

By a majority vote the Council rejected a proposal that floats instead of lawn displays be used this year as displays for Alumni Homecoming Weekend, October 21 and 22.

Theme of the lawn displays will be "Penn State Through the Years." Houses will either present a comparison of the old College and the new, or recall the College in some of its younger days.

Two new chapters, already approved by the College, were unanimously approved for membership in IFC. The two fraternities are Sigma Alpha, which was started on campus last spring, and Omega Psi Phi, Negro national, which was on campus before the Second World War.

Women's Debate Holds Open House

A preliminary debate meeting, open to all women, will be conducted in 2 Sparks, 7 o'clock Wednesday night.

Graduate Student Dies of Leukemia

Jerome Norman Behrmann, 20, graduate assistant in meteorology at the College, died in the Mt. Sinai Hospital, Philadelphia, yesterday morning of leukemia.

Behrmann was graduated from the College on June 7, as an honor student, with a bachelor of science degree in meteorology. He returned to the campus after graduation and was working for his master's degree.

A graduate of Central high school in Philadelphia, "Jerry" Behrmann enrolled at the College in June, 1945, as a freshman. He was an active member of Beta Sigma Rho fraternity even after graduation.

Special memorial services will be held at the Hillel Foundation at 8 o'clock tonight. Friends and associates are invited to attend.

College Examiner

C. E. Marquardt Resigns Post

Dr. Carl E. Marquardt, College examiner and professor of romance philology, will retire February 28 with emeritus rank, James Milholland, acting president, said today.

Dr. Marquardt came to the College in 1909 as an instructor in German and rose to associate professor of German.

In 1920 Dr. Marquardt was named College examiner, a part-time position. Since becoming College examiner, he has evaluated the records of 22,000 graduate and transfer students.

During the last 16 years he has also served as chairman of the Artists' Course committee. By a strange coincidence, Helen Traubel will present the final number of the 1948-49 series on February 28, the date of Dr. Marquardt's retirement.

The chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic society, was established at the College in 1937 largely through the efforts of Dr. Marquardt. From 1920 until the chapter's establishment, he had served as president of the campus Phi Beta Kappa Association. He was first president of the College chapter and is now chapter historian.

A native of Missouri, Dr. Marquardt received his B.S. degree at the University of Michigan, his M.A. at the College, and his Ph.D. at the University of Pennsylvania. He also holds a master of education degree from Harvard University.

Lines from the Lion

Seerakuse

Dear Gang:
The Seerakusians look pretty tough this year. We're going to have to squeeze the Orange mighty hard to get any juice!

We did a pretty good job of squeezing last year but you can't always live on last year's record. The record favors us, in fact it's been since 1937 that the Orangemen last came out on top against us and to make things worse all that the Hig's boys have given to the boys from Seerakuse is big goose-eggs for the last four years.

How about it Draz and PUNCHY and Co., you're not going to let them score on you this year? Coach Baysinger feels pretty sure of getting seven points every time his boys cross into pay dirt because of a certain lad named George Brown.

George is one of the best place-kicking specialists in the East. His string of 27 straight was broken when he missed one of the two extra-points in this season's opening game. Let's try to keep George out of this game boys.

This will be my first night in my new fur. Those lights sure give me a thrill. I remember last time I was under the lights—I was in a police station—well—I better not say any more.

For the glory,
