Blockade Crisis Continues; Cleveland Wins World Series

PARIS — The so-called "neutral", nations apparently are stalled in their efforts to mediate the Berlin blockade crisis. Spokesmen for the western powers yesterday declared in Paris that they are standing firm on their demand that the blockade be lifted before direct negotiations are attempted. The western powers believe enough time has been spent on mediation and that the UN Security Council should go ahead with meetings on the issue.

Cleveland Takes Series

BOSTON—The Cleveland Indians have finally achieved their goal of winning the World Series after a 28-year attempt. Cleveland won the series from the Boston Braves by a 4-3 score yesterday in the dramatic sixth game.

Railroads Ask Increase

WASHINGTON—The American railroads have announced they will ask for a 13 per cent increase in freight rates instead of eight per cent. The eight per cent increase petition was filed October 1, but today the larger increase will be demanded because of new wage hikes.

Marshall Denies Rumors

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State Marshall flew back to Europe yesterday and told reporters there was no basis for the rumors of his resignation. The Secretary also expressed the belief that America has shown the world we have a completely united foreign policy.

Changes in Telephone Ruling Need College, Bell Co. Approval

Changes in the rules governing the use of dormitory telephones must be worked out by the College administration in conjunction with the Bell Telephone Company, Robert Y. Sigworth, supervisor of utilities, said yesterday.

Mr. Sigworth made the statement in reply to a letter written by Howard Cohen, 316 Watts, in Saturday's Safety Valve column, asking why local calls from Tri-Dorms are prohibited after 10 p.m.

Group Surveys Dining Halls

Following a decision reached at last week's All-College Cabinet meeting, William Lawless, governing body president, yesterday named Richard Schlegel to head a 14-member investigating committee to survey campus dining facilities.

The newly formed group will hold its initial meeting in the second floor lounge, Old Main, at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow night, it was announced.

Named as members of the committee in addition to Schlegel are William Dietz, Gerry Hassel, Joan Knapek, Paul Kritsky, William Manus, James McCallum, Bernard Miller, Diva Petrucci, John Richards, Sylvia Schwartz, Nick Supron, Edmund Walacavage, Selma Zasofsky, and Lawless.

Cover of Student Confusion Announces 'Return of Frothy'

"The Return of Frothy" is the theme of Froth's first issue of the semester on sale today, said Frank Philipbar and Art Ward, co-editors. Ed Tylden's cover depicts a student at the crossroads near State College in a state of bewilderment at the sign post before him.

Feature story of the issue is "A Perfect Season?" by James H. Coogan, Assistant Director of Public Information. Coogan introduces members of the 1948 football team, and speculates on the Lions' chances for another unbeaten year.

Dorms 25-44 Hold AIM Vote

Elections for representatives to the executive committee of the Association of Independent Men will be conducted in Nittany dormitories 25 to 44 tonight.

Results of elections conducted last night in all Pollock Circle dorms and Nittany dorms 21 through 24 will be published in tomorrow's issue of the Daily Collegian.

.. Tonight's schedule is as follows:
Nittany dormitories 25 to 31, 6:30 p.m.

Nittany dormitories, 32 to 38, 7 p.m.

Nittany dormitories 39 to 44, 7:30 p.m.

An election to name representatives from the Tri-dorms has been tentatively scheduled for Monday night.

Representatives elected in both last night's and tonight's polling will take their seats on the AIM executive committee as soon as that body is officially organized.

The nightly deadline, which does not affect long-distance or emergency calls, was adopted "years ago" in line with the College policy of equal service for all dorms, the supervisor said.

Asked whether the Board of Trustees would have to approve lifting of the 10 p.m. ban, Mr. Sigworth said he believed their approval would be needed. Campus telephone service is one of the topics under discussion by College authorities.

A factor in the adoption of the present regulations was the requirement that the College furnish transportation for telephone operators working after 10 p.m. A separate switchboard is maintained for dormitory telephones.

Mr. Sigworth did not predict whether the complained-of rule might be revised in the near future.

"Anything can happen," was his only comment.

Pi Kappa Alpha House Flashes 'Bold Look' In Color Schemes

Members of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity can have their dreams in technicolor now that a completely new decorating scheme featuring bold colors instead of the traditional browns and tans has been realized at the house. Brothers returning in the fall had an eye-catching surprise when they stepped into a burnt orange living room and saw their trophies lined up along dark maroon walls.

A decided departure from the old look in fraternity decorating, the unconventional colors add warmth and cheerfulness to the house, each one performing a definite function. The maroon of the trophy room is a particularly striking emphasis for the silver and gold trophies and makes the room decidedly masculine. A pink-tinted tan ceiling forms an excellent contrast to the maroon and to the dark woodwork of the beams.

Another color combination especially suitable from the psychological viewpoint is found in the cardroom. Here bold yellow walls topped by a black ceiling help to give the player an adventurous feeling. In the dining room, lime green adds cheer in addition to providing a colorful background for the dark furniture, and in the powder room a pink lightningish shade of fuchsia brings about the transition from the maculine accent to a more feminine one.

Richard Shultz, house president, is proud of the fact that although most of the rooms have been redecorated they were done on a completely voluntary basis.

Coeds Ask Men for Dates To Cwens' Dungaree Drag

Rushing may be all over but the shouting for the sororities, but for all the coeds on campus this week will see the most intensive rushing and lead-piping of all. The objective now is not the prospective pledge but a more elusive creature—the human male.

Cause for this sudden turnaround is the Cwens' Dungaree Drag in Rec Hall from 9 to 12 p.m. Saturday. They are still better off than the men, however, since it is far easier to make calls from 5051 than to call into 5051. At least once a year the girls get a taste of what it's like to be told "I'm sorry, but I have a date next weekend."

The Cwens have in the past several years adopted the more informal theme for the dance, originally formal, with the girls asking the boys, then digging

Contract Let For New Dorms

The contract for clearing the site and excavating for the foundations for new men's dormitories and a dining hall was let to M. W. Schreffler, of Pleasant Gap, Samuel K. Hostetter, assistant to the president in charge of business and finance, said yesterday.

Work has already started and it is expected that the job will be completed within the next three months, George W. Ebert, director of the physical plant, said.

The new dormitories, which will house 1200 men, will consist of three major units. One unit will be located at the junction of Curtin road and Burrowes road, east of Recreation Hall. One other unit will join Jordan Hall and extend south, while the third unit will join Watts Hall and also extend south, forming a terraced courtyard.

The dining hall, which will have facilities for feeding the 1500 men who will live in the West Dormitories, will be built north of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity along Burrowes road and will join one of the new dormitory units.
