Hicks who was hurt in the opener against Bucknell.

On the doubtful list are Larry Joe and John Smidansky. Joe was injured in the Syracuse battle, and although he is practicing with the team, Trainer Chuck Medlar is not certain if the Lion speed merchant will be ready for tomorrow's contest.

Smidansky, a sophomore end, was injured in pre-season scrimmages and again in the Bucknell game. He is just about ready for battle, and with Hicks sidelined, Coach Higgins may send Smidansky against West Virginia.

Soccermen Set For Navy Scrap

Coach Bill Jeffrey's soccermen, victorious in their first two encounters this season, are set to make their battle cry, "Sink the Navy," a realization.

Traveling to Annapolis tomorrow, the Lion booters will seek to avenge last year's setback handed to them by the Middies.

The Blue and White bowed only twice last season, to Army and to Navy. Both defeats were by 2-1 margins. Army has all ready succumbed to the Nittany soccer juggernaut this year and all indications are that Navy will also go down to defeat.

The Midshipmen opened their season with a 2-2 deadlock against Cornell and then went on to drop a 2-1 contest to Penn's booters. The Lions have two victories to their credit.

PSK Wins IM Contest, 20-0

Hitting his ends and backs with long, spiral passes, Don Keck tossed Phi Sigma Kappa to a stunning 20-0 victory over Pi Lambda Pi Wednesday night as intramural touch football continued to roll despite a damp New Beaver practice field.

Three other contests saw Sigma Nu extended to defeat Alpha Chi Sigma, while independents saw their first action when Coal Crackers trampled the Comets 19-0, and Penn Haven edged the Indies, 1-0.

Alpha Zeta and Zeta Beta Tau open festivities at 7 o'clock tonight, followed by last season's champs, Phi Epsilon Pi vs. Delta Theta Sigma, Beaver House vs. Jordan Blues, and Phi Kappa Psi vs. Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Spartans Next for Harriers

Faced with an open weekend, Coach Chick Werner's cross country proteges have resumed regular practice sessions for what promises to be their stiffest dual test of the season against Michigan State October 23.

The harriers were originally slated to meet Pitt tomorrow, but negotiations between the two schools broke down, leaving the Wernermen free to watch the football game against West Virginia.

The open weekend may well prove to be a blessing in disguise, however.

"Now that we don't have to worry about a meet this Saturday, I can get the squad in shape," Werner said. Although pleased with the showing of his runners in last Saturday's meet against NYU, which the Lions won, 19-36, the Lion coach felt that the team was definitely not in the best condition.

Tuesday afternoon the squad ran one-minute quarters on the oval track at New Beaver field to improve pacing and pick up speed.

In other sessions this week, Werner spent the major part of the practice session concentrating on the proper way to run up and down hills. Several of the team members, notably Al Vigilante, are weak in this department. Although a good uphill runner, Vigilante has trouble on the down-grade.

Practice sessions will continue daily, as usual, as Werner attempts to get the squad into peak condition to upset what is sure to be a favored Michigan State team.

Predictions Tomorrow

Because of space limitations, the weekend football predictions of the Daily Collegian and those of Joe Harris, nationally-known forecaster, do not appear today. Instead, tomorrow's Daily Collegian will feature them.

Soccer Manager

Sophomore students who wish to try out for assistant soccer manager are urged to report to head soccer manager Joe Sumner at the golf course practice field any afternoon after 4 o'clock.
