

Spotting the Lions . . .

Joe Colone

By SY BARASH

In 1942 a modest, unheralded freshman courted fame by becoming one of the standouts in Penn State's upset of burly Penn. Because of his stellar performances since 1942, he has continued wooing the headlines and has not been divorced from football's limelight. But modesty is still an integral characteristic of Joseph James Colone.

Asked how he felt when elected captain of the 1948 version of the Nittany Lion grid team, Joe looked away and replied, "Do I have to say?"

One incident concerning that eventful date in '42 remains in Joe's mind. The Lions were leading, 13-7, late in the fourth quarter, the Penns filling the air with an aerial bombardment. Penn lined up in a right formation. Playing one of the halfback positions, Colone realized suddenly that an enemy pass-catcher was streaking for the goal.

"The next thing I remembered was sitting on the bench," he explained. "I'd been replaced, but I felt lucky since the Penn player had butter-fingered the pass."

Colone's daily menu does not consist solely of football and studies. An interview with the 205-pound punting artist had to be sandwiched between scrimmage and an all-College cabinet meeting. Colone is president of the men's athletic association and Parmi Nu, senior men's honorary.

Although the blond six-footer now weighs 205 pounds, he hopes to shed 10 pounds. He was asked if he found it difficult getting into peak physical condition upon returning to the College after a tour of duty with the army in the Pacific area. "I'm still trying to get into shape."

Before the 1948 season, the Washington Redskins of the National Football League urged Colone to join play-for-pay ranks. Officials of the club talked of contracts and other things monetary. But Joe decided to complete school. If he does not coach after graduation, he plans entering professional football.

Concerning the 1948 schedule, Joe disagrees with the "experts" who know every score and every winner before the season starts. "Every team will be hoping to snap our win streak; especially rough should be the Penn, Michigan State, West Virginia and Pitt games."

Colone points out that the 1948 team is faster than the 1947 squad which went through the season unblemished and tied Southern Methodist, 13-13, in the Cotton Bowl classic on New Year's Day. He also points out that, position for position, the Nittany Lion does not have as many experienced players.

Colone's busy role this year is divided between fullback and quarterback, relieving Chuck Drazenovich at the latter post. Deviously he backs up the line; offensively, besides plunging duties, he's called upon for a major share of the punting.

Yes, this year's football campaign is full of action for Colone. Remaining in his senior year, Penn State's gridiron titans of '48.

And six years after his striking freshman performance in '42, Joseph James Colone's football opponents utter with relief, "Finally, his last season."

Nelson Cracks Swim Mark

Harry Nelson of Alpha Sigma Phi cracked the intramural swimming 60-yard breast record last night, but his stellar swimming didn't make a winner of his squad. The ASP's lost to Phi Delta Theta, 7-14.

Nelson swam the distance in 13.4 seconds, cutting 0.6 seconds off the record established by Bell, Sigma Chi, in 1946. His teammate, Monty Mitchell, came in a close second.

But Phi Delta Theta, with three firsts and two seconds and the relay, overcame Nelson's good work to win the meet and move into the second round.

Pi Kappa Phi swamped Chi Phi, 34 to 7, in the other meet at Glennland pool, finishing first in every event and winning the relay.

Thursday afternoon, Sigma Chi and Delta Tau Delta piled up 35 and 37 points, respectively, in defeating Theta Chi and Zeta Beta Tau. The DTD's placed first and second in every event, with Ralph Fritts turning in the best time, 44.8 seconds in the 60-yard breast stroke.

Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Kappa Sigma, and Sigma Pi vs. Alpha Epsilon Pi are the matches scheduled for Glennland pool, 5 p.m., Monday afternoon.

Football Forecast

Following are predictions of Joe Harris, who last week not only foresaw Southern Methodist's upset by Missouri but picked the exact score, 20-14.

Featured in more than 80 metropolitan newspapers, Harris' predictions have been correct in 79 per cent of college and pro games this year. Separately, his pro percentage is 93.

Probable winners appear at the left:

Alabama-Tennessee	14-7	TCU-Texas A&M	27-14
Army-Harvard	20-7	Texas-Arkansas	27-13
California-Oregon State	27-7	Tulane-Mississippi	20-14
Cornell-Syracuse	20-7	UCLA-Stanford	20-7
Dartmouth-Colgate	14-7	Virginia-Wash. & Lee	20-6
Duke-Maryland	14-6	Vanderbilt-Kentucky	14-7
Georgia Tech-Auburn	34-0	Wake Forest-Duquesne	27-7
Holy Cross-Brown	14-7	Wash.-Wash. State	13-7
Iowa State-Colorado	20-7	William & Mary-VPI	20-14
LSU-Georgia	20-14	Wisconsin-Yale	27-14
Michigan State-Arizona	34-7	Nevada-St. Mary's	27-6
Michigan-Northwestern	21-7	Chi. Bears-Detroit Lions	28-21
Minnesota-Illinois	27-7	Chi. Cards-N. Y. Giants	31-24
Mississippi State-Cincinnati	20-7	Green Bay-Los Angeles	24-21
Missouri-Navy	14-7	Phila. Eagles-Wash.	28-21
N. Carolina-N. Car. State	28-7	Pitts. Steelers-Boston Yanks	21-7
Notre Dame-Nebraska	34-0	Cleveland-Buffalo Bills	28-14
Ohio State-Indiana	14-7	San Francisco-N. Y. Yanks	24-21
Oklahoma-Kansas State	34-0
Oregon-Southern Cal.	14-7
Penn State-West Virginia	27-7
Penn-Columbia	34-14
Pitt-Marquette	20-7
Princeton-Rutgers	14-7
Purdue-Iowa	20-7
San Francisco-Okla A&M	27-14
SMU-Rice	27-7

Four Out of Six

Four of Penn State's six all-America football players have been linemen, including the present coaches, Bob Higgins and Joe Bedenk.

PSC Accepts 127 Members; Plans Card Party Sunday

The Penn State Club gained 127 new members, William Betler, chairman of the membership committee, announced yesterday.

The Club will hold a card party in 321 Old Main, 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The new members are: Craig Aicher, Fred Attinger, Jack Bahlinger, Robert Bailey, Roger Bartels, William Bateman, Richard Bavala, William Bowser, Roland Bradley, Paul Briggs, Earl Bryant, Roland Bunting, Giles Burns;

John Butler, Edwin Carpenter, John Casner, Basil Choman, Fred Coy, Robert Craig, Robert Crowe, Hugh Daily, M. Dell, Herbert Detweller, Martin Doolin, Edwin Eiswerth, J. Erb, Jack Falk, Harry Ferguson;

Kermit Fink, Carl Forcheskie, Milton Ford, Bernard Friedman, George Gabriel, Norman Garber, Arnold Gasche, Robert Gebhardt, Richard Good, H. Graffius, Ralph Gundel, Charles Hable; Thomas Habzda, Arthur Hadley, Frank Halchin, Glenn Haney,

Ralph Hazzard, Richard Herold, Kenneth Hess, Clifford Hess, Robert Holmes, George Holonchock, Frederick Hopkins, Joseph Houser, Coyte Hunter;

Robert Jacobs, William Jeglenski, Emerson Jones, Paul Jones, Everett Kaukonen, Corbin Kidder, John Kirch, Warren Koehl, Jim Kohl, Samuel Koplovitz, Richard Kowal, Thaddeus Kowal, John Kraft, John Kugler, Joseph Kunitz;

Wesley Larsen, James Lindemann, Joseph Lipsky, Bill Malter, H. Mandes, David Maneval, Nicholas Matichak, Wallace Maurer, Warren Maurer, Joseph McKenna, Robert Mentch, Kenneth Miller, Joseph Michalski, Donald Mosher; Robert Myers, Charles Oerkvitz, James O'Malley, Anthony Piento, Francis Pollini, F. Pounds, Ben Raphael, R. Rehkopf, David Rice, Donald Riddag, Sanford Robbins, William Ross, George Saunders, Paul Schaeffer, W. Schott;

William Schminkey, James Shaffer, Raymond Shultz, Harold Shipley, Donald Silcosky, Dave Sinclair, Bruce Singer, Sam Sokolowski, Eugene Sobday, John Solyan, Dewey Sorenson, James Sperry, Herbert Spliethoff, Donald Stalcup, C. Studenmeier, Charles Swingle, William Taylor;

Robert Teats, John Tiley, Robert Tressler, Robert Turnbull, Thomas Vaught, Robert Watkins, Lin Watson, George Webber, Lewis Weinbrom, William Wells, Reynburn Wick, Charles Wilt and William Zakor.

Debate Team Adds Members

Richard K. Hill, manager of men's debate, has announced the addition of 17 members to the debate squad following tryouts held Wednesday night.

Men who were added to the squad include: Leo J. Burns, Norman Dann, Paul Eisenberg, John Fedako, Peter M. Giesey, Mark Goldhirsh, Robert W. Houseworth, Edward A. Joyner, John E. Lambour, James H. McDougall, Marion A. Morelli, John P. Messzaros, Alfred G. Musrey, James O'Malley, Charles R. Petrie, David Schmuchler, and Richard C. Shultz.

To Oppose Mt. Mercy

The debate team will open its season on November 19, when it will oppose the women's debate team of Mt. Mercy College. The subject will be "Resolved, That women exercise an undue influence in American life." The Penn Staters will take the affirmative. The men's team will be composed of Richard K. Hill and Harold E. Brown.

Back from Last Year

Returning members of last year's debate squad are E. H. Abernethy, D. M. Barron, Harold E. Brown, Frank Glackin, G. Russell Drumm, Richard K. Hill, Melvin Katinsky, John H. Kelly, Herman A. Latt and Richard Schweiker.

Critique To Give Free Trip to Penn

One lucky student on campus will go to the Penn game as guest of Critique, College literary magazine, according to an announcement made by Ralph Lewis, editor. The expense-free trip to the gala Penn week-end is part of the promotion campaign which begins today when subscriptions go on sale.

Subscriptions at 60 cents for four semester issues will be sold throughout campus by a staff of 40 salesmen who will canvass dormitories. The first issue will be distributed next month.

The name of the Critique guest will be taken from among the subscription receipts to be retained by salesmen. The winner can either choose to attend the Penn game or the Pitt game, but the prize cannot be transferred.

All expenses, including a choice seat purchased at Penn from among the first sold, room accommodations, and transportation both ways will be provided. Another drawing will be held for Pitt week-end with similar prizes offered.

For the spring term of 1947, there was an enrollment of about ten thousand five hundred students. Seven thousand of these were attending classes on the campus; the remaining thirty-five hundred were sent to our undergraduate centers and to the colleges cooperating with the College in the training of freshmen.

HUR'S CLEANING SERVICE
PROMPT . . . EFFICIENT
DEPENDABLE
 Rear of Hur's Men's Shop
PHONE 4715
HUR'S MEN'S SHOP
 OPPOSITE MAIN CAMPUS
 E. College Ave., State College

GOOD NEWS TODAY!

TICKETS FOR THESPIANS' NEW SHOW GO ON SALE AT STUDENT UNION MONDAY!

Make Homecoming Complete SEE:

"Bring Back My Wingback"
 OCTOBER 21-22-23

Soccermen—

(Continued from page five) tain Dean Witmer, of Dalmatia and his running mate, Hal Hackman, of Madisonburg, will cover the right side of the line.

Aggressive Clarence Buss, a sophomore sensation, will get the nod at center while Harry Little, of Dover, the team's high scorer, and Ted Lieb, of Ardmore, a tanky flanker, are slated to fill the left side of the forward wall. Slated for relief duty in the line are Spence Boyer, George Phillips and Harry Lawroski.

NOW AT YOUR WARREN THEATER

Cathlamet
 Jean Arthur
 Marlene Dietrich
 John Lund
"A FOREIGN AFFAIR"

State
 Loretta Young
 Robert Mitchum
"Rachael and The Stranger"

Nittany
 Eddie Dean
 Roscoe Ates
"SHADOW VALLEY"
 Also: "Superman"

New Buildings—

(Continued from page one) utilities into Willard Hall. A pneumatic tube system will be installed, connecting this building with Old Main, but work on this will begin later.

Fireproofed Steel

The clatter of riveting hammers resounded from the Mineral Sciences framework this week as workmen put the final touches on the erected steel, preparatory to the start of brickwork. The steel is being fireproofed on this and on the Plant Industries building, at Shortlidge and Curtin roads.

Steel at the Plant Industries building is 75 per cent erected said a spokesman for the State Department of Property and Plies. The foundations and areas are complete, and grading is about eight per cent done.

The beginning of this semester marks the 77th anniversary of the admission of women students to the College. For the first sixteen years of its operation, The College was for men only.