

Mortar Board Group Asks Alumni for Aid in Program

Mortar Board alumnae are being called upon to assist in the Mortar Board Mardi Gras which is scheduled for Recreation Hall from 8 to 11 p.m. October 29.

They are scheduled to have charge of the Mortar Board Tea Room, one of the features of the Mardi Gras. Alumnae who are interested in helping are asked to contact the Dean of Women's office immediately. Any alums from other colleges are also requested to lend their assistance.

One of the highlights at the Mardi Gras will be the crowning of a king from contestants submitted by sororities. Voting for the king will take place at Recreation Hall, and will cost a penny a vote. Sororities must hand in a picture of their candidate by Tuesday noon at Student Union.

Another new feature of the Mardi Gras is the inclusion of fraternity booths. Fraternities who are interested in running a booth and haven't registered are requested to contact Janet Lyons at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house as soon as possible.

In addition to carnival booths and refreshment stands will be an informal vic dance. General admission tickets will be 25c per person, which includes admission to the dance. Refreshment and entertainment tickets are three for 25c or ten cents apiece.

Patricia Kinkead is chairman of the affair. Committee chairmen include Martha Koons, tickets, Jo Fox, Claire Lee and Frances Keeney, publicity, Susan Bissey, king contestants, and Janet Lyons, booth arrangements.

'Little Sisters' To Be Honored

"Big sisters" will invite their "little sisters" to an informal tea sponsored by WSGA in Simmons Hall from 3 to 5 p.m., Nov. 9, said Janet Lyons, WSGA president.

In former years the policy has been for the little sister to invite her big sister, but this year it will be the big sisters who do the asking. Both big and little sisters are to attend the tea in casual clothes — skirts, sweaters, and socks.

Joan Bergdoll and Ann Fickenscher are co-chairmen of the tea. Committee chairmen are Nancy Parent and Phyllis Tamor, invitations; Margaret Bastian and Helen Pond, decorations; Dolores Hocker and Barbara Morris, refreshments.

Ann Forrest and Ella Louise Williams, hostess; Lois Kenyon and Cindy Settler, music; Shirley Gauger and Patricia McNarney, clean-up; and Marilyn Hoke and Nancy Schott, publicity.

Chimes Plans Soph Meetings

Chimes has a planned program of meetings for the remainder of the semester to conclude orientation of sophomore women and transfer students. This work was started during orientation week this fall.

The value of good study habits, honorary groups on campus and factors pertaining to a successful college career will be discussed at weekly meetings with these students. The meeting times will be announced later.

Chimes will tap eligible girls in the spring; the requirements being sophomore standing all-College average 1.5, plus extra curricular activities. Girls are chosen on the basis of scholarship and leadership.

Penn State is the official headquarters of Chimes, national junior women's honorary. The three other charter members are Ohio State, Temple and the University of West Virginia.

Officers in the College organization are Frances Eshelman, president; Elizabeth Taylor, secretary; Nancy Smith, treasurer, and Diana Scuderi, historian.

Chimes publishes "The Clapper" monthly. Barbara Brown, junior in education, is editor.

Officers Installed

Pre-Meds Meet

A meeting of Gamma Pi Epsilon, women's pre-medical organization, will be held in the southeast lounge of Atherton Hall at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Women students enrolled in the pre-medical curriculum and others interested in medicine are invited.

Football a la Fem

By Clarice Llinch

Well, this week the Lions climbed up to eighth place in the Associated Press football ratings. The big problem is, when do we reach the top? We're sure to be there by the end of the season if Michigan, the current holder of the top spot, Notre Dame, and North Carolina slip into a losing streak. If California and Georgia Tech drop a few games along the way, and if the Middies surge up to defeat Army. Then the Lions push Penn all over Franklin Field and we're in. That's all there is to it.

Don't look so happy, girls; just because Penn State has added Army to the '49 and '50 schedule, it doesn't mean that you'll get a close-up of the Cadets. It's a shame, but both games will be played away.

Call for Mirrors

There seems to be a demand for mirrors at New Beaver Field. The sophomores have no objections to holding and turning those blue and white flash cards, but they would like to see how it looks.

In case you didn't discover it for yourselves, we'd like to pass along the word that those cards are quite convenient if you forget those sun glasses.

Blue Ribbon Lion

If the girl who wants the Lion to wear a blue and white bow around his neck brings us the ribbon, we'll see what can be done about it.

Before beginning your football education, gals, there are just a few things you must bear in mind: the players are essentially honest even if you do hear about someone stealing the ball; a lighted torch isn't needed to successfully execute the "Statue of Liberty" play; and a tackle has nothing to do with ships.

If you have no portable radio of your own, just sit near one at the game. Follow closely, and you'll soon realize that there actually is a science to football.

Pennant-Winning RAINCOATS

You'll find the cost pictured in our rainwear department along with a grand selection of corduroys, gabardines, etc.

Smart gals always see what CHARLES has first.
