1000 Students Stage 2 Day Hort Spectacle

Student organizations embracing more than 1000 members are coordinating efforts in a mammoth display at the annual Hort Show to be held in the Livestock Pavilion on Ag Hill all day today and tomorrow.

This year's show is being dedicated to Prof. Frank N. Fagan, former head of the College orchards and instructor in pomology, who retired on September 30 after 36 years' service.

Four Phases
The Hort Club's exhibits will consist of an ornamental and floriculture display—floral arrangements as employed in homes and gardens; pomology, comprising a fruit-canning display by 11 cooperating Pennsylvania companies, a model orchard, and a display of fresh fruits from the College orchards.

A vegetable and plant breeding display will show new hybrid products produced on the College farm, and will demonstrate the

Precipitation Predicted

The weatherman added a gloomy note to the weekend's festivities when he promised showers and colder weather for this afternoon's football clash with powerful Michigan State at New Beaver Field. Despite the dismal weather picture, a record crowd of 22,000 is expected to witness the spectacle, come rain or shine.

Court to Try Traffic Cases Of 36 Students Monday Night

Thirty-six students will be called to stand trial before the Campus Traffic Tribunal in 201 Old Main at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Harold Brown, chairman of the Tribunal, announced yesterday.

Brown stressed the importance of the defendants' attending and cautioned that failure to appear would automatically raise the fine to the next level of payment. He added that sufficient excuse for absence must be given him or Richard Morgan, secretary of the board, before the trial.

Some students have already advanced to the second offender classification for not reporting to the last meeting of the Tribunal Committee.

Because of the large number of defendants and in order to facilitate handling of cases, individuals will be divided into five groups.

The first group will appear at 7:30 o'clock and will include H. E. Allison, John Behrer, Bernard Bergstein, Charles Cameron, Vincent Chominski, William Cotner, and Richard DeCarlucci.

At 8 o'clock, Claud DiPasquale, T. W. Dohl, Lawrence Farb, Robert Frankhouse, Harold Frantz, John Gearhart, Kenneth Gehart and I. P. Harvey.

At 8:30 o'clock, Richard Huett, J. W. Irwin, Robert Kapp, Earl Koons, Paul Kossman, Loron Leonard and Carrol Leppo.

At 9 o'clock, Emil Lesko, John Leslie, John McKinney Jr., W. D. Merrylan, Frank Orendo, and E. Reynolds Jr.

At 9:30 o'clock, J. F. Robinson, John Sloan, Braden Souders, G. W. Stevenson, W. F. Stout, D. K. Strayer, G. A. Taylor, and J. L. Workman.

UN Neutrals Ask Lift of Blockade

PARIS—The six neutral countries of the UN Security Council yesterday proposed the immediate lifting of the Berlin blockade and western power concession on the currency dispute. Under their proposal, a four-power conference would later be held on the entire German question. No immediate reply was forthcoming from any of the Big Four.

Egypt, Israel Cease Fire

TEL AVIV—Both Egypt and Israel agreed yesterday to abide by the United Nations cease-fire order in southern Palestine, and according to an Israeli army spokesman absolute quiet existed in the whole front.

Nittany Gridders Seek 4th Victory

A record-breaking crowd of 15,000 alumni plus more than 5000 students and townspeople are expected to pack the New Beaver field stands this afternoon when the Penn State and Michigan State grid machines clash in a battle for national recognition at 2 o'clock.

Both the acting president of Penn State, James A. Milholland, and president of Michigan State, John A. Hannah, will view the afternoon's clash of single-wing attacks.

The Spartans' hopes of breaking the string of 13 games without a defeat compiled by the Lions were dampened yesterday with the news that their outstanding defensive end, Warren Huey, may miss the crucial contest.

Stellar End
Huey, who was being regarded as an All-American candidate after his stellar work in the Michigan and Notre Dame games, sprained his ankle in a scrimmage Tuesday. The injury is not a serious one, but it is likely to keep the Punxsutawney, Pa., end out of today's game.

As a replacement for the 200-pound Huey, Coach "Biggie" Munn has Ed Sobczak. Sobczak is leading the team in pass catching and is big and fast, but he is not expected to equal Huey's performance on the defense.

With the Nittany gridders' outstanding tackle, Negley Norton, out of the lineup, Coach Higgins

'Tri-Dorm Election Results Invalid,' AIM Committee Says

Results of Thursday night's elections for AIM council representatives in each of the Tri-dorms will be declared invalid, Donald Little, AIM committee chairman, said yesterday.

The elections have been rescheduled for Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock.

An exceedingly small turnout of voters, 41 out of a total of almost 300 eligible to vote, caused Little to void results of Tuesday's balloting.

Twenty inhabitants of Irvin hall and eleven each from Watts and Jordan were all that turned out for the AIM poll.

In making his decision, Little declared,

"We will not accept as official results of any elections for AIM representatives in which less than one-third of the eligible voters cast their ballots."

The turnout at Thursday's polling was particularly disappointing in light of the recent reception given to similar elections in the Pollock Circle and Nittany dormitories.

In those elections, conducted last week, approximately 50 per cent of all men eligible to vote did so.

Chairman Little expressed hope that at Tuesday's re-scheduled elections a much larger number of men would cast their ballots.

3 ROTC Students To Receive Medals

Three seniors in ROTC will receive medals from the Pennsylvania society of the Sons of the American Revolution at a luncheon at the Nittany Lion Inn Monday.

The medals, given for outstanding performance in the annual ROTC summer encampments, will be presented by Col. Ben-H. Chastaine, professor of military science and tactics.

Recipients of the decorations will be Everett F. Smolley Jr., Richard C. Manchester, and David L. Malickson Jr.

Critique

Those persons interested in joining the writing staff of Critique Magazine but could not attend the last meeting are invited to stop in 5 Carnegie Hall between 11-12 o'clock today.

Alumni Dance Tops Program For Visitors

The first alumni dance in approximately 20 years will highlight the homecoming program in Recreation Hall at 9 o'clock tonight. Michigan State alumni are also invited to this informal dance. Music will be by Pat Patterson and his orchestra and admission is by alumni registration tags.

Preceding the dance, State College Alumnae will serve as hostesses at the traditional cider party, also at Recreation Hall at 8 o'clock.

Alumni Registration

Today's program will begin with the continuation of alumni registration in Recreation Hall from 9 o'clock until 12 noon. An Alumni Golf Tournament will be held this morning on the College course. Applicants are asked to sign up at the Caddy House.

The remaining schedule for this morning includes an Alumni Council meeting in 121 Sparks and a soccer game with Maryland on New Beaver Field, both at 10 o'clock.

Luncheon in Rec Hall

A general alumni luncheon will be held in Recreation Hall at noon, with the College's Olympic contestants and their coaches as guests. Tickets for the luncheon must be purchased in advanced at the time of registration.

Kickoff for the Michigan State football game will be at two o'clock. Following the football game there will be an Open House at Simmons Hall, the new women's dormitory, for alumni and out-of-town guests.

Thespians Stage Homecoming Show

Thespians will present a special showing of "Bring Back My Wingback" for Alumni in Schwab Auditorium at 7 o'clock tonight. Alumni are entitled to four tickets each and may purchase them in Rec Hall after registering. They are priced at $1. each.

The Thespians' fifty-first fall show was praised highly by Loretta Neville, who reviewed it for yesterday's Daily Collegian. It presents a familiar dilemma to alumni—the grad returning to find that things have changed. Not so familiar, however, is the idea that the Nittany gridders have lost their importance and the Blue Band is now the whole show.

Alumni will see familiar faces in the cast. Robert Cabaugh, Peggy Cunningham, Billie Cooper, Tad Komorowski, Candy McCollum, Aaron Osipow, Sid Simon, Dick Trumbore, Kenny Emerson, and Selma Rudnick are all veteran troupers.

Alumnus to Speak in Chapel Service

Appropriate to homecoming weekend, an alumnus, Rev. William E. Kroll, class of '17, will be guest speaker at Sunday morning chapel. The Rev. Kroll, pastor of the Arlington Avenue Presbyterian Church, East Orange, N.J., will speak on "Living In A Time When Anything Can Happen." "Praise" by Rowley will be rendered by the Chapel Choir.

While at the College, the Rev. Kroll was a member of Forensic Council, YMCA, Cabinet, Student Council, Lion's Paw, Alpha Zeta, and Phi Delta Theta. He served as class historian, associate editor of the Collegian and the 1917 La Vie.

Handbook Pictures

The Handbook staff will have their pictures taken for La Vie at the Penn State Photo Shop 7 p.m. Monday.
