Berlin Compromise Plan Fails As Soviet, Ukraine Dissent

PARIS — Russia has vetoed the compromise plan to settle the Berlin Blockade dispute.

American representative Philip Jessup told the council that the responsibility for failing to settle the dispute fell squarely on Russia.

Paraguay Revolt

BUENOS AIRES — A revolt is said to have broken out in Paraguay. Unconfirmed reports here said that gunfire could still be heard in Asuncion.

New Draft Call

WASHINGTON — In its third peace-time draft call, the Army has asked for 20,000 men during January. Previous calls were 10,000 men for November and 15,000 for December.

French Seize Mines

PARIS—French miners yielded meekly yesterday when armored cars and heavy machine guns arrived with French troops taking over strike-bound mines.

Artists' Tickets To Go on Sale

Series tickets for the 1948-49 Artists' Course program featuring appearances by three outstanding musical performers will go on sale Nov. 9 and 10.

Featured performers for the season will be Christopher Lynch, tenor, Vladimir Horowitz, pianist, and Helen Traubel, Wagnerian soprano.

Dr. Marquardt explained that the dates for the ticket sales were selected "to give students, faculty and townspeople a chance to get choice seats for what is undoubtedly the most distinguished program" in the history of the course.

Out-of-town, from whom a large demand is expected, will be able to purchase tickets after the sale.

PSCA To Arrange Election Day Rides

Only a few have signed up for the driver-passenger clearing house which was set up last week by the social responsibility commission of PSCA to aid students who need transportation to get home on election day.

The commission will start contacting those people who have registered as needing a ride. Students may sign up on the lists either at the Student Union desk or at the PSCA office in Old Main, indicating whether you want a ride or you are willing to take passengers in your car.

Campus Political Groups Name Sophomore Clique Chairmen

State Party The State party elected Jack Boddington sophomore clique chairman and approved its platform for the coming sophomore elections, at a meeting Sunday night.

Preliminary nominations of candidates for sophomore class offices will take place in 121 Sparks at 7 p.m. Sunday, a party spokesman said.

Party regulations allow anyone present at a meeting to make nominations. However, only "representatives" can vote on the nominations. Two representatives are allotted each fraternity, and one person represents 15 independents.

Alumni Crowd Breaks Mark

A record-breaking alumni gathering returned home yesterday after participating in one of the most successful homecoming weekends in the College's history.

Ridge Riley, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, said today that it would be impossible to know the actual attendance since a strict registration was not required.

The activities broke up officially after the cider party and annual dance in Recreation Hall Saturday night and opened Friday night at the student-alumni bonfire and pep rally.

A member of the class of 1917, W. S. Kintz, of Stroudsburg, Pa., was the first registrant Friday and the first State College alumnus to register, was Thomas A. Prater, '42, of 605 E. Fairmount avenue.

ROTC Band To Make Debut

A newly-organized volunteer band of the campus ROTC will make its first appearance next Tuesday afternoon when it performs at a ceremonial parade in which the 500 Cadet Corps members will march.

The 50-piece band, which already has held two rehearsals, is under the direction of Homer Savige, (cq) a graduate music student at the College. A military student conductor will be named later.

Weather permitting, the band is to perform for practice marches, drills and parades each Tuesday from 4 to 5 p.m., said Col. Ben-H. Chastaine, professor of military science and tactics.

Included in the band are some members of the Blue Band. Experience of the members ranges from four to eight years, said Col. Chastaine.

Lions Salvage Undefeated Streak

Personnel and prestige of the Penn State grid squad were slightly bruised in Saturday's tie with Michigan State, but the Lions ran through a normal Monday afternoon practice yesterday in preparation for a re-awakened Colgate team.

Still undefeated in 14 games over a two-year span, the Nittany Lions dropped below Army in Eastern ratings since the Cadets routed a previously undefeated Cornell eleven 27-6 while the Blue and White fought to a stalemate.

A one-touchdown win over Navy kept the University of Pennsylvania in the thick of the battle of the Atlantic area, while the only other team in the running, Cornell, dropped out of sight.

Paul Kelly, outstanding line-man in Saturday's fray, received a bruised shin in the game, and another guard, John Simon, sprained his thumb. Elwood Petchel, Bob Hicks, Fran Rogel, Wally Triplett, Duck Murray and Chuck Beatty received minor wounds in the Michigan State battle, but according to Dr. Alfred Griess, everyone, including Negley Norton who missed the Spartan fray, will be ready to battle against Colgate this Saturday.

In last Saturday's 14-14 Michigan State deadlock, the Lions outshone the visitors in every department but the scoring column in the first half, but yielded to the tricky Spartan offense in the third and fourth frames.

Rogel Fran Rogel was the big gun in the Lion ground attack as he carried the ball on 27 drives through the Spartan line, including the important one-yard, last down (Continued on page three)

Old Oaks To Return Wearing New Face For Homecoming

Nature lovers saddened when stately oaks across from Rec hall "got the axe" to make room for the new men's dormitory may soon see the trees again—in a different form.

The O.W. Houts Lumber Company, which contracted to cut the trees, sold the lumber to the Tyrone paper mill to be converted to paper pulp. The pulp will eventually be used in the manufacture of newspaper.

The Daily Collegian you will read in a few months may be one of the old oaks back for its own special homecoming.

WSGA Meeting

Sorority and women's dormitory units should be certain that their representatives to WSGA attend the House of Representatives meeting in the Dean of Women's Office, Old Main, at 6:30 p.m. tonight.

17 Students Are Candidates For Soph Engineering Posts

Sophomore representatives to the Engineering Student Council will be elected Thursday in all-day balloting in the various engineering departments.

Plans for the election will be laid at a meeting of the council in 106 Old Main at 6:30 p.m. today.

Seventeen students are listed as candidates for five sophomore seats on the council, one from each department. No candidates from the aeronautical engineering department have been named.

Architectural engineering candidates are: Joseph Kelvington, Arthur Lukens, Walter Roberts, and Fred Sherida; civil engineering: James Etzel, Earnest Hartski, and John Roach; electrical engineering: Harry Chrzanoski, Blair Fissel, Dean Kane, and David Lockard; industrial engineering: Harold Bowditch, Don Fogelsanger, Howard Wilson, and Morris Deitch, and mechanical engineering: Michael Dzurenda and Howard Faust.

Voting will continue from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., with all sophomores voting required to identify themselves at the balloting places in the engineering building by matriculation or other cards.

Plans for the council's course rating program also will be drawn up at tonight's meeting, to which all interested faculty and engineering students have been invited.

ATO Lawn Display Captures IFC Trophy

Scoring 95 points out of a possible 100, Alpha Tau Omega's lawn display captured first prize in the judging conducted under the auspices of the Interfraternity Council. The fraternity will receive a cup donated by the Athletic Association, symbolic of its victory in the competition.

Three houses, Pi Kappa Alpha, Beta Sigma Rho, and Delta Tau Delta were given special mention by the judging committee composed of George Donovan, director of student activities, Robert E. Galbraith, veteran faculty advisor, and Wilmer E. Kenworthy, executive secretary to acting President James Milholland.

AA Office Lists Ticket Schedule

Penn football game tickets are available today for student applicants with initials from H to O and tomorrow for those from P to Z.

Matriculation cards must be shown to receive tickets at the Athletic Association windows in Old Main from 8 a.m. to noon and 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Tickets not called for on the assigned day may be obtained any day this week after tomorrow.

Winning Displays The winning display simulated college life past and present and present in two scenes. The first showed Penn State years ago by means of a hay wagon, a horse, pig, dog and flock of chickens, guarded by two students with rifles.

A trailer in front of which sat an ex-GI and a baby carriage presented the modern conception of life at the College. Various articles of clothing on a clothesline strung in front of the trailer spelled out "Welcome Alumni."

Alpha Chi Rho, Delta Sigma Phi, Sigma Phi Sigma, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Kappa Delta Rho, Phi Kappa Tau, Pi Kappa Phi, Lambda Chi Alpha, Theta Kappa Phi, Phi Kappa Sigma, Triangle, Phi Delta Theta, and Phi Gamma Delta all received honorable mention for their displays.

Excellence "The general excellence of this year's displays were far above average," the judges stated. "Many displays which might have won a prize in previous years were thus disregarded Friday night."

The judging committee made its decision Saturday following a tour of the fraternity section Friday night.

Beta Theta Pi, winner of last year's competition, failed to gain an honorable mention.

Mixers Entertain Phys Ed Students

Physical education majors will be entertained in White Hall from 7:30 to 10 p.m. tonight at the first of a series of mixers being planned to be held throughout the year.

The mixers are being sponsored by Phi Epsilon Kappa and Lakinodes, mens' and womens' physical education honoraries, and the Physical Education Student Council.

The entertainment tonight will be a Hallowe'en party. All students attending are asked to wear old clothes.

Horace Ashenfelter, president of the student council, is serving as general chairman of the mixer. Howard James, president of Phi Epsilon Kappa, is in charge of entertainment, and Jane McCormick is head of publicity.
