

Lions Leave for Battle With Red Raider Eleven

Penn State's grid forces, still minus the valuable services of regular tackle, Negley Norton, will leave the College at 12:15 p.m. today for Saturday's battle against Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y.

In a rough scrimmage session Wednesday night, three gridders reported injuries to increase Coach Bob Higgins' trepidation as he takes his team to the supposedly "snap" contest.

"Colgate is improving every game," remarked the Lion coach, "and I can't seem to make the team realize that they're just as dangerous as any other team we've played." He remarked that although everyone is thinking about next week's encounter with Penn, the team can only play one game at a time.

"Colgate will be 'up' for this game with nothing to lose and everything to gain," continued Coach Higgins, "and I'll be glad when the final whistle sounds Saturday."

Joining Norton on the injured list after the scrimmage were center Chuck Beatty, who suffered a slight shoulder injury; guard Fred Felbaum, who received a cut over his eye and fullback Pete Gorinski, who re-injured his knee and will be out of action for at least two weeks.

"Although Norton won't play against Colgate Saturday," said Dr. Alfred H. Griess, team physician, "he will be ready for the Penn game. As for Gorinski, he had a knee injury earlier in the season and right now he is in the infirmary. He may be ready for the Penn game but at this point it's doubtful."

"The other injuries are not serious, and with Joe Drazenovich and Paul Kelly ready to go Saturday, the team is in good shape for the coming game."

Coach Higgins was well pleased with the work of the guards and ends in last Saturday's contest and will start the same linemen who were on hand for the opening kickoff against Michigan State.

ENDS

Bob Hicks and Sam Tamburo will play the wing posts, Don Murray and John Finley will fill the tackle slots, John Simon and

Paul Kelly will start at the guards and Chuck Beatty, who played an outstanding defensive game last week, will fill the center position.

Sixty-minute Chuck Drazenovich will hold down the blocking back spot, Wally Triplett will run from the wingback position, Captain Joe Colone will fill the plunging position and Bill Luther will start at tailback.

In the four games played to date, the Lion gridders have rolled up 1216 yards in 257 plays for an average of 304 yards per skirmish. Exactly half, 33 out of 66 passes, were caught by the ends and backs for 363 yards or 93 per game.

Heading the Nittany running attack is Wally Triplett with 307 yards in 30 plays for an average of 10.2 yards per try. Fran Rogel with 235 yards in 58 tries and Elwood Petchel with 369 yards in 77 tries follow Wally.

PASSES

Almost every other pass thrown by Petchel landed in the hands of a receiver, according to the four-game statistics. The "Flying Fragment" pitched 52 passes and completed 27 for 310 yards and six touchdowns.

In the pass-receiving department, Sam Tamburo leads the team with four passes to his credit for 92 yards and two touchdowns. Wally Triplett, with five passes to his credit for 86 yards and one touchdown, Owen Dougherty with two passes, 61 yards and one TD, and Fran Rogel with two passes, seven yards and one touchdown, complete the list of scoring pass receivers.

Compared to opponents' 15 penalties for 144 yards, the Lions received a total loss of 215 yards for 24 rule infractions in just four games.

Between The Lions

The Neophyte

Big Ed Taggart, an eighth-semester journalism major, was covering soccer innocently enough for the Centre Daily Times.

But when he approached Coach Bill Jeffrey one day for an interview, the Jolly Scot—always on the lookout for potential soccer men—drafted Ed for his team.

The next thing we saw was Taggart guarding the net for dear ol' State in last Saturday's game with Maryland. He had never played soccer before being recruited last week by Jeffrey, and, for a journ student, we think he makes a crackerjack goalie.

Tussle Tonight

Nittany Lion football fans who aren't journeying to Colgate but still want a taste of the gridiron sport this weekend might take in the State College-Tyrone high school fray on Memorial field at 8 p.m. tonight.

Both elevens operate from the single wing, and Tyrone, one of the top scholastic teams in the state, boasts a 27-game winning streak.

Shades of Suhey

Paul Kelly, 210-pound titan, plays a lot of football while tackling a chem engineering course at the same time. In the first half of the Michigan State tilt, more often than not we spied Kelly's "64" on the bottom of the pile.

Equally impressive on defense was Guard John Simon, who also played a dramatic role in the Lion attack when he scored his first touchdown on a spectacular lateral from Sam Tamburo.

From the Morg(ue)

Quarterback Charlie "Blockbuster" Drazenovich logged 60 minutes in the Spartan tilt, marked by few Nittany substitutions.

Other iron-men were Wally Triplett with 59 minutes and Chuck Beatty with 56

Back in 1873, a group of Cornell students challenged some Michigan football enthusiasts to a game on neutral ground—Cleveland—with 30 men to a side. When the Cornell players asked permission to leave their studies to travel to Cleveland, President White of Cornell read their request and made the classic decision: "I will not permit 30 men to travel 400 miles merely to agitate a bag of wind." (taken from "The New Encyclopedia of Sports" by Menke.)

Contrary to popular thought, Bob Hicks, Lion end who's back in action after sitting out two games, still has one year of collegiate football eligibility left. Although he's listed as a senior, Bob says, "I'll be around for next year's football season."

Jayvee Gridders Play Lock Haven

The Penn State junior varsity football team will be out to hang up a .500 average when they tackle the Lock Haven freshmen Saturday to close their season.

So far, the Lion juniors have beaten Syracuse in the initial encounter, and then lost to Bucknell and Navy.

Some changes have been made in the Nittany starting lineup. Bill Mathers replaces Pete Chiesa at right guard, Link Van Sickle will be in for Val Troy at right guard, Danny Kline is starting at right end for Lloyd Amprim.

In the backfield Herb Kurtz replaces the injured Francis Smutney at fullback.

DTD Wins Meet In Extra Event

Winning the first Medley relay in intramural swimming history, Delta Tau Delta edged Sigma Chi, 21-20, at Glennland pool yesterday.

The Medley relay, a combination back-breast-free stroke of 90 yards, is employed only when a swimming meet ends in a tie.

Bob Burns, Ralph Fritts and Jack Wallace, making the distance in 56.9 seconds, earned victory for the DTD's.

In the same program, Sigma Nu easily swamped Phi Kappa, 29-11.

Wednesday, Cas Borowy tied the intramural free style record, 32.1 seconds for 60 yards, but his efforts failed to bring victory to Delta Sigma Phi. His team lost to Phi Sigma Delta, 22-18. Phi Gamma Delta beat Lambda Chi Alpha, 37-3 also.

Tonight, Acacia meets Tau Phi Delta while Phi Epsilon Pi squares off against Phi Kappa Sigma.
