Committee To Probe Coeds' Cheerleading

All-College President William Lawless last night appointed a three-member committee to investigate the question of coed cheerleaders in general, and specifically, the possibility of coed cheerleaders performing at the Pitt game.

The 90-minute Cabinet meeting also brought appointment of a committee to probe winter recreation facilities, approval of a complimentary dance ticket list, and appointment of Jane Dinger to replace Virginia Fetter as junior class secretary-treasurer.

The cheerleader committee consists of Milton Stone, Horace Ashenfelter, and William Prosser, who earlier was seated as representative of the Association of Independent Men's Council.

Prolonged discussion preceded naming of the committee. Joseph Colone, athletic association president, said College tradition called for male cheerleaders, but Horace Ashenfelter said that students should have coed cheerleaders if they so desire.

Jack Fast was named chairman of the committee to look into winter recreation, including the status of the Ski Lodge, destroyed by fire last year.

A complimentary dance ticket list of 49 names of student leaders was accepted, with the addition of Theodore Allen, acting sophomore class president. Tickets to three dances per year are presented.

Miss Dinger's appointment to the junior class post was made by Junior Class President Robert Wine, since Miss Fetter is remaining at home because of illness in her family.

Seats Still Remain For Players' Show

About 25 seats remained yesterday afternoon for tonight's opening performance of "Ten Nights In A Bar Room," Players' current arena production. The old-fashioned melodrama, to be presented at Center Stage at Hamilton and Allen streets, will start at 7:30 o'clock to enable theatre goers to attend the Junior Prom afterwards. Tickets at $1.25 each include refreshments.

Instead of the traditional formal theatre seating, tables around the circular stage will be used to give the audience a feeling of real bar room atmosphere. The show will be repeated tomorrow at the same time, but all seats for tomorrow are sold.

The curtain will also go up in Schwab Auditorium at 7 p. m. today for players' second performance of Thornton Wilder's comedy, "Skin Of Our Teeth." Adequate seats still remain for tonight's performance and some good seats remain for tomorrow.

Food for Israel Drive Begins Collections Today

The Food for Israel Drive, which begins today and continues through next Friday, will have its headquarters at the Hillel Foundation, 133 West Beaver Ave. Requests are largely for canned goods.

Cartons will be placed in convenient places about the town and College, including the dining halls in Nittany Dorms, Pollock Circle and the girls' dorms.

News Briefs

Candidate Meeting

Collegian business candidates will meet in 8 Carnegie Hall at 7 p. m. Monday. A separate meeting will be held in 2 Carnegie Hall at 7 p. m. Tuesday for those persons who cannot attend on Monday.

Dairy Husbandry

Dr. D. V. Josephson, head of the dairy husbandry department at the College, will be guest speaker for the meeting of the Centre County Goat Society in 147 Dairy Building on Saturday.

Pitt Tickets Held AT AA Windows

Pitt tickets may be obtained by students who applied for them at the Athletic Association windows anytime between 8:30 a. m. until noon and from 1:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m., according to Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics. The ticket distribution began yesterday. Matriculation cards must be presented when claiming tickets.

Applications for tickets are still acceptable by mail when accompanied by the exact payment of $3.90 each.

'Trample Temple' Rally Planned

A "Trample Temple" pep rally is scheduled for the steps of Old Main at 7 p. m. today according to William Bonsall, head cheerleader.

Coach Bob Higgins will present a short talk on the outlook of tomorrow's encounter against Temple's Owls.

Higgins, still in a jovial mood over his team's excellent showing at Penn last week will warn the student body, as he did members of the quarterback club yesterday, that "you've got to be lucky to win." He well remembers last year when the Lions, a 30-point favorite over Temple, squeezed by with a 7-0 victory.

Great enthusiasm has been shown at the last two pep rallies, and a great crowd is expected tonight with many imports receiving their first taste of the "Penn State spirit."

The football team will be unable to attend tonight's rally but Hum Fishburn's Blue Band will supply the music with the cheerleaders furnishing the yell-leading talent.

"The pep rally will be very short," said Bonsall, "so that all couples will have ample time to attend the junior prom."

AIM Names Prosser Head

William Prosser was elected president of AIM at a meeting of the council Wednesday night. As president, Prosser will be the official representative to All-College Cabinet.

The constitution was amended and finally adopted after addition of a provision which reads: "It shall be unlawful under this constitution for the AIM Council as a body, or as a member acting for the council, to cause AIM to become affiliated with any campus political party. Any action of any officer contrary to the policy laid down in this amendment shall be construed as malfeasance."

Other officers elected were Jim MacCallum vice president on campus, Edmund Walacavage vice president in town, and Corbin Kidder secretary. The treasurer will be elected at the next meeting.

Vets' Book Receipts

Payment to veterans for book receipts will be made at the Bursar's office for those with names from A to L next Monday, and those from M to Z, next Wednesday.

Chem-Phys School Chooses Twelve

Twelve students were recently elected to the Student Council of the School of Chemistry and Physics.

The twelve named are: Seniors—Robert L. Miller and David Nalven, chemical engineering; William E. Laughlin, commercial chemistry; and Barbara Jean Parker, chemistry.

Juniors—G. Ross Seavy, and Harry Lawarski, chemical engineering; William Besser, pre-medical; and Jack Senior, physics. Sophomores — Robert Sharretts, chemical engineering; John Muma, pre-medical; Charles Rodgers, chemistry; and Robert Aiken, physics.

Abram Bosler, president of the Council, stated that 23 per cent of the school voted, constituting a heavy electorate.

Johnny Long Troupe Stars Young Vocalist

Janet Brace

Janet Brace, 21-year-old songstress will highlight the appearance of Johnny Long and his Orchestra at the Junior Prom in Rec Hall from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. today. Tickets at $4 a couple will be on sale today at the Student Union from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. and can also be purchased at Rec Hall tonight.

The Long ensemble will play to the theme of "Manhattan at Midnight". Sharing the spotlight with the band will be the Beachcombers, a vocal quartet, which includes four men and Natalie, a Hawaiian girl.

Miss Brace, newest addition to the Long organization, hooked up with the left-handed violinist's band this past March. Before that she attended Farmville State Teacher's College where she studied music and drama. Ambition of the tiny 5 foot 1 inch blond is to appear in legitimate musicals.

Natalie, vocalist with the Beachcombers, is probably the only real Hawaiian singing with a name band, although she can not do a hula dance. During the war Natalie and the Beachcombers toured the South Pacific and were known as the "The Mad Hatters."

The co-chairmen of the Junior Prom Committee are Jerome Leichtman and James Bachman.

Houseparty Dances Feature Novel Fraternity Themes

Go to Heaven. Journey to the lowest fleshpots of Pigalle. Chased by curvaceous Sadie Hawkins dressed in as little as the College authorities will allow.

Such fantasies will become realities here this weekend. Through the medium of houseparties, more than 30 different settings will be unveiled at fraternities all over the campus for "Big Weekenders."

Coupled with the Junior Prom tonight and the gridiron clash with Temple tomorrow afternoon, the effect adds up to Fall Houseparty Week.

Pi Lambda Phi will lead its guests through the portals of "Pi Lam's Heaven" where there will be dancing to the music of Newt Frishberg and his orchestra from Bethlehem.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon will have an informal dance with music by Mark McCune's orchestra from Wilkes-Barre. A buffet dinner after the game in a "French quarter" atmosphere and a record dance Saturday night will entertain Sigma Chi's and their guests.

Sigma Phi Alpha goes country-style with a hayride Saturday. The "Silhouette Ball" complete with the rhythms of the Mellos Macs from Harrisburg will be staged at the Sigma Phi Sigma chapter house Saturday night. Sigma Pi holds sway with Joe Stacy's orchestra, imported from Uniontown.

TKE Circus

Peanuts, brass bands—anything goes at Tau Kappa Epsilon's "Circus Fantasy." Guests will swing from trapezes to the danceable tunes of Bleach Terantoni's combo from Johnsonburg. Theta Chi, in conjunction with other chapters all over the nation, will stage its annual "Bowery Brawl" with music by Bellefonte's Seat Davis.

"Timber-rr-rrr." Paul Bunyan, the legendary lumberjack, will reign over the dance being held at the Triangle house. Eddie Weisinger's hatchet men will chop trees in time with the dancers' feet.

Guests at Zeta Beta Tau's "Night in Comic Land" will have the unique opportunity of drinking panther punch brewed by the well-known firm of Lonesome Polecat and Hairless Joe. Cress Ottemiller's quintet will keep the house jumping.

Sedate Chi Phi will hold its annual formal dinner dance, music furnished by Huff Hall. Delta Chi has arranged an (oo-la-la) Parisian Ball. Delta Sigma Phi, living up to the nickname of its fraternity house, will make inebriates even more so at its "Pink Elephant" informal dance with Huff Hall's band presiding.

Beware coeds! Delta Upsilon has arranged a "Suppressed Desire" ball Saturday night. Kappa Sigma has plans for a "Cinderella Ball." Plenty of "merci beaucoup" and "oui oui" will be heard around the Lambda Chi Alpha house which also has a Parisian dance in the offing.

Phi Delta Theta disregards the recent cold snap by holding forth with a "Tropical Paradise" featuring Les Mitchner's band. Alpha Sigma Phi goes jolly old English with its "Black Lantern Inn." Bill Loomis's band will compete with the decorations for attention.

Theta Xi Hop

Swing your partner at Theta Xi's "Hayseed Hop" following a hayside earlier in the evening. Delta Tau Delta should have an interesting time, both the brothers and their guests prancing around in nighties at the "Pajama Fantasy" and (dancing?) to Chuck Master's orchestra from Altoona.

Beta Theta Pi, in honor of their pledges, will throw a dance featuring the music of Henry Bell and his orchestra. If you're superstitious stay away from the Alpha Epsilon Pi house. The AEPi's are holding a "Superstition Ball," music by Gene Wittnes.

Chem Engineers Organize Society

Students in chemical engineering have formed the Chemical Engineering Society.

It is intended that through a program of faculty-student mixers, field trips, plant motion pictures, and talks by men from industry, the society will better prepare students in chemical engineering for their profession.

Dr. Donald S. Cryder, professor and head of the department of chemical engineering, addressed the group at the organizational meeting. He reviewed the various movements by the students and the department leading to the formation of the society.

Officers elected were Theodore Williams, president; James Dixon, vice-president; John Haladyna, secretary; and Walter Stauffenberg, treasurer.

A constitution has been adopted by the society, and plans have been made for a functional meeting to be held in the near future.

Armistice Day

WASHINGTON—An uneasy world observed Armistice Day yesterday. The United States, France, Great Britain, and a few other nations held quiet ceremonies honoring the war dead of the first World War.

NANKING—There was no observance of Armistice Day in China. Instead, more than a million men went into action north of Nanking as fighting reached a scale unprecedented even during the war against Japan. The Communist forces are within 100 miles of the Chinese capital in one area of fighting near Suchow.

Avert Russian Showdown

BERLIN—Bad weather has averted a showdown on a Russian threat to force down any planes flying outside a 20-mile air corridor near Berlin. Some British and American aircraft ferried supplies to Berlin yesterday, but they did not spot any Soviet patrol planes.

Shipping Strike

NEW YORK—An AFL Longshoremen's leader predicts that all shipping along the Atlantic coast will be tied up today. Thousands of dock workers were idle yesterday in Philadelphia, New York, and Boston.

For the glory,
THE LION.
