Simmons Diners Ask Food Increase

Coeds who dine in Simmons Hall desire an increase in quantity of food served and less starches in their diet, a recent survey by the All-College Cabinet food investigating committee disclosed.

A similar complaint about starches was received from the men dining at Nittany commons, as reported Thursday. It was the second highest item mentioned by both men and women.

Men did not join the coeds, however, in demanding greater quantity of food, the most frequent complaint listed on the women's survey.

Other coed suggestions included a plea for more green vegetables, less pork and ham, more variety in desserts, a return to the cafeteria style of serving, and more muffins for breakfast.

The committee reported that action has been taken on the meat, muffin, and dessert questions. The cafeteria matter "would have to be discussed with the dean of women's office," the report said.

Less prevalent complaints which the committee said have been settled concern requests for less apples and apricots, more chocolate milk, posting of menus, and separate serving of gravy.

Nittany Gridders Close 1948 Home Season Today

The undefeated Nittany Lion football team will make its final 1948 appearance on New Beaver field at 2 p.m. this afternoon when it aims against Temple for game number 17 without a loss.

Rated fifth in the country by the Associated Press poll, the Lions will try to keep the Templars from scoring on the Nittany gridiron as they have ever since the inception of the series in 1931.

The Temple team specializes in upsets and will be aiming for one this afternoon. In 1944 a highly-favored Lion eleven barely licked the Owls at Philadelphia, 7-6, and last year a fair Cherry and White team held the undefeated bowl-bound Nittany squad to a lone touchdown.

The Penn State team will enter this afternoon's game with victories over Bucknell, Syracuse, West Virginia, Colgate and Penn and a tie with Michigan State, while the Templars can boast only two victories, Bucknell and Syracuse, against five defeats.

Only Lion regular missing from the squad list will be Larry Joe, speedy back who injured his rib in last week's game against Penn. Joe will probably be ready for next week's clash against Pittsburgh.

So far this season, no team has been able to hold the Owls scoreless although four teams—Lebanon Valley, West Virginia, Boston College and Cornell—have done so.
