

Nittany Eleven Eyes Panthers

Only Larry Joe, who injured a rib in last week's Penn game, and Negley Norton, who has a shoulder injury, failed to appear in the deluge.

On the opening kickoff Joe Drazenovich recovered Chet Orsack's fumble and four plays later Colone plunged over for the first marker. Sturges kick, the first of five to hit their mark, made the score 7-0 after a minute and 20 seconds of the first period.

Tom Skladany's quick kicking kept the Lions at bay for the remainder of the period, but two first downs in the second period set the ball on the one and Rogel smacked over in 4:40.

Just eleven plays later the Lions were again on the Temple one via Colone's 66-yard race, and this time Chuckran dived over for the tally. Chuckran's pass to Cooney in the third period made the score 26-0, and then the sophomore team went in to bang out three more markers against the luckless Temple eleven.

This game marked the first time in seven battles that the Owls have been held scoreless, and also marked the 17th straight game for the Lions without a defeat.

Two more battles, Pittsburgh and Washington State, stand between Penn State and the second consecutive year unmarked by defeat.

More than five teams, 69 players, were used in the 47-0 rout by both teams.

IM Deadline For Boxing Set Thursday

Intramural boxing, the last IM sport to begin this semester, opened calls for entries this week. The entry lists are due at the intramural office in Recreation Hall by 5 p.m. Thursday, according to Eugene C. Bischoff, intramural director. The entry fee is 25 cents per man.

Each organization may enter one contestant in each of eight weight classes, each contestant indicating accurately on the entry form the weight class in which he plans to box. The weight classes are: 121, 128, 135, 145, 155, 165, 175 pounds and unlimited.

Champions

Champions from any previous tournament must move up at least one weight from that in which they won a championship, and they are not permitted to move down. A champion in the unlimited class may not defend his title, according to IM rules.

Competition in the fist sport will be conducted under the single elimination plan in each weight class, with separate tournaments being held for fraternities and independent men. A bout will consist of three two-minute rounds.

Physical examinations, required of all entrants, will be taken on one of the following days most suited to them: Friday, Nov. 19; Saturday, Nov. 20 (morning only); Monday, Nov. 22; Tuesday, Nov. 23; Wednesday, Nov. 24 (morning only); Monday, Nov. 29, and Tuesday, Nov. 30.

All preliminary bouts must be held between the hours of 5 and 6 p.m. and men who are unable to compete during these hours should not enter the tournament.

Ski Club To See Olympic Slides

Mr. J. E. Oller, of Huntingdon, will show color slides of last winter's Olympic games to the Penns Valley Ski Club in Room 3, White Hall, at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

Non-members who are interested may also attend the meeting.

Long Tenure

Bob Higgins has been on the Penn State campus as a football coach since 1928, as head coach since 1930.

The Nittany Realm

By Ray Koehler

One of the most brilliant stars among the galaxy of gems in the 1948 Penn State football orbit is the popular senior end, Sam Tamburo.

Playing his greatest season of football for Coach Bob Higgins' Lions, the hard-charging, four-year veteran is rated one of State's top prospects for all-America honors.

The Blue and White can consider itself lucky to have snared the six-foot, two-inch, 185-pound lineman, for Tamburo was born and played high school football in New Kensington, barely 18 miles from the football-conscious Pittsburgh area.

When asked the controversial question of the team's opinion to a bowl bid, the phys. ed. major replied, "Don't forget that we still have two games to win."

Contradictory to the story that recently appeared in a Pittsburgh newspaper, Tamburo believes that most of the squad is in favor of another jaunt to the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, scene of last year's 13-13 tie with Southern Methodist.

In answer to the query of how he rated this year's grid aggregation in comparison with the undefeated 1947 edition, Tamburo said, "We had a high-scoring team last year, but including the Pennsylvania game. I think we still have not hit our peak. Both teams had exceptional individual and team play, although the present Lion outfit has the edge in spirit."

He attributes this edge to the fact that more of the players are of the same age.

IN HIGH SCHOOL

One of the greatest athletes in New Kensington sport annals, Sam played three years of high school football, captaining the squad in his senior year. But his main claim to fame was earned on the basketball court where he was an all-WPIAL guard for two years and in his senior year gained honorable mention on the all-state team.

Sam's peevishness is slanted toward the distaff side where he confessed a dislike for artificiality in women. A favorite meal would include breaded veal garnished with mashed potatoes a la gravy and lots of greens. During the summer he keeps in condition via camp counseling and teaching swimming at the Salisbury health center, near Pittsburgh.

OFFERS

The clean-cut, 22-year-old upperclassman intends playing pro football for a few years after leaving college and then turning to the physical education field.

Tamburo revealed that he has received overtures from the New York Yankees and Los Angeles Dons, pro football teams, an indication that the career of "Big Sam" is being eyed greedily. Upon his departure from State he will also be placed on the college football draft list.

Sam isn't the only athletically inclined individual in the Tamburo household. He's anxious to talk of the success of his two brothers, both of whom have outstanding football reputations.

Harry, the elder, played two years at VPI, at end, and Dick, a senior in high school, was honored as all-state center last year. Competition for his services is now being waged by both Pitt and State.

Sam's parents are avid followers of their son's career and are present at every State home game.

Tamburo considers the 1945 and '46 Navy grid battles as the two outstanding games of his career.

BACKS, LINEMAN

Knitting his brow over the questions as to who he thought was the greatest back he has played against, he finally split the honor between little George Guerre, of Michigan State, and Hunchy Hoernschmeyer, of Navy. Without a moment's hesitation the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity man named Tackle John Nolan, a teammate in 1945, '46, and '47 now playing with the Boston Yanks, as his number-one lineman.

Although he would be the last one to admit it, Sam is in his own right a BMOC. Outside of an excellent all-College average he names among other activities, vice-president of Parma Nu, I.F.C. representative and chaplain usher.

When Sam was congratulated on his fine showing against Temple Saturday, his final words were: "Don't forget that it takes eleven men to field a football team."

Don Ashenfelter Wins First Competitive Race in Philly

Don Ashenfelter, younger brother of Lion cross-country captain Horace, was an easy victor in his first competitive race, as he crossed the finish line first in the Penn Athletic Club handicap cross-country run at Philadelphia Sunday.

The sophomore harrier, ineligible to compete in varsity competition this year because he is a transfer student, sped over the five-mile course in 27:56.

Ashenfelter elected to take the larger novice trophy in place of the winner's trophy at the conclusion of the meet. He was running under the auspices of Shanahan Catholic Club.

Alumnus Curt Stone, who raced the 5000 meters for the United States in the London Olympics last summer, captured the best time prize, at the meet.

Stone, also running for the Shanahan CC, circled the course in 25:04.

Intramural Basketball Opens in Rec Hall Tonight

Intramural basketball, the king of IM sports as far as College participation figures are concerned, bursts into the limelight at Recreation Hall at 8:45 tonight when six teams line up to start the season's action. Six other teams will begin at 9:25 p.m., with six additional squads competing at 10:05 p.m., making 18 basketball games in all. The schedule for tonight's action is as follows:

8:45 p.m.—Omega Phi Psi vs. Alpha Phi Delta, court one; Alpha Zeta vs. Delta Sigma Phi, court two; Tau Kappa Epsilon vs. Theta Chi, court three.

9:25 p.m.—Phi Epsilon Pi vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon, court one; Delta Upsilon vs. Alpha Chi Rho, court two; Zeta Beta Tau vs. Phi Delta Theta, court three.

10:05 p.m.—Tau Phi Delta vs. Alpha Tau Omega, court one; Pi Kappa Phi vs. Sigma Alpha, court two; Drewlers vs. Rummies, court three.

A record entry list of 100 teams, including 49 fraternity teams and 51 independents, signed to play the court game this season, including last season's champs, Phi Epsilon Pi. All first games begin promptly at 8:45 p.m. but the IM office requests players to keep off the courts until the varsity basketball squad leaves at 8:30 p.m.

Basketball schedules have been sent to all teams. Any manager who has not received his schedule should call at the Intramural office immediately.

Phi Kappa Phi Wins IM Swim Championship

Pi Kappa Phi outswam Phi Epsilon Pi, 21-20, at Glennland pool yesterday to win the 1948 intramural swimming championship.

Led by flashing Jack Senior, who set a new record in the free style event by sprinting the distance in an even 32 seconds, the winners moved out front, 21-15 after four events. They gathered enough points to sew up the meet even though the Phi Eps took the relay.

Senior also took first place points in the breast stroke, and added a third spot in diving to earn 11 of his team's total of 21. Dick Jung of Pi Kappa Phi captured the diving event, while Bob Conrad, Dave Wilson and Bob Good added points with seconds and thirds in the breast and back stroke events.

WEISER

Jerry Weiser, vainly striving to keep the losers in the race, tied the count after two events by streaking home first in the back stroke, but he was the only Phi Epsilon Pi man to capture a first spot, outside of the relay team of Dave Magaziner, Murray Rosetski, Al Goldenberg, and Weiser. Twice before the relayers had pulled wins out of the bag for Phi Eps, but last night the five points fell short.

Jack Senior was the man who broke the Phi Eps' heart. In the first event, the free style, he cracked the only record that hadn't been broken this season. Don Peck's 32.1 for the 60 yards. Cas Borowv of Delta Sigma Phi had tied the record this season, but Senior clipped .1 second off both their marks.

LEAD

Pi Kappa Phi stepped out to take the lead it never lost with Senior racing home first in the back stroke and Bob Good trailing David Greenwald of Phi Eps to out the Pi Kap's in front, 15-12.

Jung and Senior added six points in the diving. Leonard Allen of the losers rating second for three markers, and Pi Kappa Phi was in front, 21-15.

Phi Epsilon Pi's relay time was 2.5 seconds slower than its record time in the semi-finals.

Coach Calls For Gymnasts

Gymnastics Coach Gene Wettstone today issued a call to those who are interested in trying out for the varsity gym team. He urged gymnastic candidates to report to Rec Hall between 4 and 5 p.m. any day this week.

"Graduation has taken a few of our lettermen from last year," said Coach Wettstone, "but we are hoping that sufficient candidates will turn out to make up a formidable team. We need tumblers more than anything else, no matter how little experience they have," he added.

Those desiring positions of assistant manager should report to Head Manager Bob Sankey at Recreation Hall between 4 and 5 p.m. any afternoon this week.

Last year's Penn State gym edition captured an unprecedented triple victory—the National AAU championship, the Eastern Intercollegiate title and the National Intercollegiate diadem.
