

Between The Lions

From the Morg(ue)

The 49th game in a traditional series between Pitt and Penn State has been announced by Pitt authorities for next season. . . . After Saturday's upset, a Pitt fraternity sported a sign proclaiming: "Penn State and Dewey. . . ."

The annual crop of "all" teams is upon us in bigger and broader proportions . . . not content just to select an All-American football squad and be done with it, United Press sends along a lengthy list of nominees for "all" consideration while not committing itself yet to favoring any of them for top national honors. . . .

Penn Staters nominated by the UP for All-American honors include End Sam Tamburo, Tackle Negley Norton, Guard Paul Kelly, Center Chuck Beatty, Quarterback Chuck Drazenovich, Tailback Elwood Petchell and Fullback Francis Rogel. . . .

Speaking of Rogel reminds us that the extraordinary Lion line-bucker dislikes to hear his name mispronounced. He says: "You pronounce it with the accent on the second syllable, like 'hotel.'"

. . . . Joe Colone's 66-yard romp against Temple was the longest of his career. . . . Even the ref congratulated Danny Kline, Lion terminal, on that spectacular block thrown in the Temple game. . . .

. . . . Ray Hedderick, number-two Nittany center, was a back in high school and at California State Teachers College as a freshman. . . .

rolled over Stanford, 14-7, Montana U., 48-0, and Washington, 10-0.

Oregon handed the Northwest team its second loss and then the Cougars bounced back to top Idaho, 19-14, and tie Oregon State, 26-26. California, the Rose Bowl bound aggregation, failed to shut out Washington State but conquered it by 30 points, 44-14.

This will be the 10th and final game for the Cougars and the 9th for the once-defeated Nittany Lions.

Outstanding in the Cougar roster is Frank Mataya, left handed quarterback who has compiled one of the best passing records on the Coast this year. In the first seven games, he has thrown a total of 80 passes and has completed 42 for a better-than-half average in completions. Six went for touchdowns.

In the ground attack, the Cougars will have Jerry Williams, who scored three touchdowns against Oregon State and hard-plunging fullback Gordy Brunswick.

The Washington State team runs for a "T" formation and on occasion uses the double "T" in which either the halfback of tailback can receive a direct pass from center.

The Lions have tangled with the Cougars only once before and in that contest, the Higginsmen emerged with a 27-6 win. That game, played in the "Chocolate Bowl" at Hershey, started the win streak that was interrupted only by ties with Southern Methodist and Michigan State and was broken last week by Pittsburgh.

Rogel Leads Nittany Ground Attack With 504-Yard Total

Fran Rogel on the ground and Elwood Petchel through the air continued to lead the Nittany yard-gainers after eight weeks of football competition.

Rogel, who smashed through the Pitt line for 110 yards last Saturday, has a total of 504 yards to his credit on the ground, while Petchel, completing four passes against the Panthers, brought his season total to 46 completions in 93 attempts with a total yardage gain in the air of 616 yards.

Wally Triplett still paces the team in yards per play from scrimmage with 424 yards in 63 plays for an average of 6.7 yards per carry.

The team as a whole has marched 2527 yards in eight games for an average of 316 yards each contest. In rushing, the team has piled up 1723 yards and in passing 808 yards.

Bill Luther still holds top position in the passing accuracy department with eight out of eleven passes going for 59 yards and one touchdown.

All-Eastern end, Sam Tamburo, is far ahead of the other Nittany aerial snaggers with 16 passes caught for 288 yards and three touchdowns. Fran Rogel, with four passes and two touchdowns, Wally Triplett with six and one marker and Chuck Drazenovich with eight passes round out the leading Lion pass catchers.

Defensively, the Lions have held opposition to 165 yards per game, 85 on the ground and 80 in the air. The eight teams battling the Nittany gridders have tried 129 passes with only 52 of them completed for a total of 641 yards.

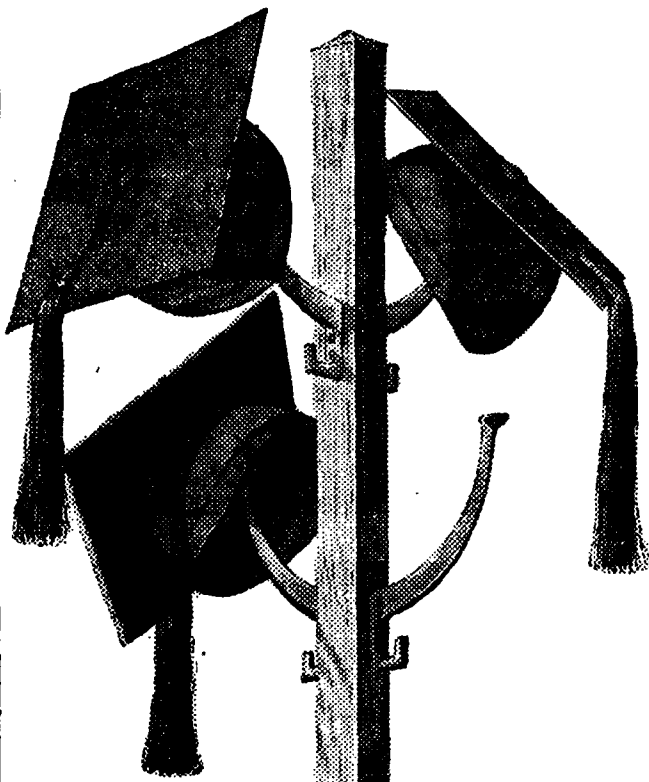

Lion Seniors Play Finale

Captain Joe Colone, Elwood Petchel, Wally Triplett and a host of others will close out their Penn State football careers against Washington State at Tacoma Saturday.

Of the Lion gridders scheduled to pick up their degrees in June, the most outstanding are Colone, Petchel, Triplett, Sam Tamburo, John Finley, John Simon, Larry Cooney, Dennis Hoggard, Larry Joe, Tom Smith and the extra point specialist Carl Sturges.

Tamburo, Colone, Triplett, Petchel, Finley, Simon, Cooney and Joe are four-year veterans who played their first varsity year as freshmen and three years thereafter.

Sturges, who was added during the last year as an extra point specialist, played just the one season.

7,200 years of college . . . and still learning

THE Bell Telephone Laboratories is known as a leader in communications engineering. On its staff are 1,622 engineers and scientists with college degrees. Among them they have 7,200 years of college training . . . and they are still learning.

They study many things. How to speed your voice across the street or around the world. How to keep your voice natural in tone and volume. How to make central office equipment capable of switching your call even faster. How to produce in laboratories the materials which are hard to get in their natural form—quartz, for instance. How to conserve the scarce metals which go into wire and cable, by making one circuit carry many conversations.

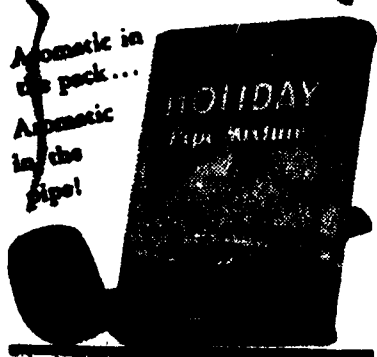

From such studies they learn how to make your service better and better, and keep its cost low.
