Truman Okays Plan to Create 60-in-1 Agency

WASHINGTON—Former President Hoover said today that President Truman has approved a proposal to group about 60 government agencies in one "Housekeeping" unit.

Hoover announced this to reporters after a 45-minute conference with Mr. Truman at the White House.

The former President heads a commission which Congress set up to study reorganization of the executive branch of the Government. The commission's report to Congress is due in January.

Berlin Communists

BERLIN—Berlin communists have split the city wide open by manning their own rump government. The chief significance is that the Berlin split coincides with UN negotiations in Paris. Soviet officials had left the impression that they were willing to discuss a possible solution of the Berlin blockade.

WASHINGTON—The United States Army has run short of money and as a result draft calls have been cut in half. That knocks down the total January call from 20,000 to 10,000. Far from approaching the army's goal of 30,000 trainees monthly, the February call will be reduced to 5,000. Simultaneously with the announcement, the Army warned that there isn't enough money to build the 900,000-man army authorized by Congress.

Final Sale Begins For Artists Series

Final sale of series tickets for this year's Artists Course will be held at Student Union Monday, said Dr. Carl E. Marquardt, course committee chairman.

"There are still many good seats left for this series," added Dr. Marquardt, "but with such artists as Vladimir Horowitz, Helen Traubel, and Christopher Lynch we don't expect they will last long.

The series opens December 9 when Lynch, lyric tenor, termed a "second John McCormack," will present a varied program of Irish folk songs and classical numbers in Schwab Auditorium. Eugene Bossart will accompany the soloist.

Horowitz and Miss Traubel will appear January 6 and February 28, respectively.

Prices for the series are $8.70 and $7.50, including tax.

Food for Israel

The Food For Israel drive has been extended for a while longer. Any further contributions in canned foods would be greatly appreciated. Cartons have been placed in Pollock and Nittany Dorms, in the girls' dorms and at various points about the town. The central collection area is at Hillel Foundation, 133 W. Beaver Avenue.

Home Ec Students Win Scholarships

Margaret Lee Hills, Harrisburg, and Janet DeDolia, Philadelphia, juniors in the department of home economics, will receive the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women scholarships for the current semester, announced Dr. Grace M. Henderson, director of the department.

Rose Intorre, Masontown, and Lewis A. Miller, Summit Hill, were named winners of the Kroger company scholarships, awarded at the College for the first time this year. Miss Intorre is majoring in institutional administration, and Miller is a hotel administration student.

Chimes Rejuvenate Old 'Hello' Spirit With Doorstops

Although privacy is at a premium, there are times when the Open Door policy is advisable.

Ultra-modern Simmons Hall with its built-in dressers and bookcases, called among other descriptive names The Hotel by many students is complete in every way but one, according to the Hotel residents.

This missing quality is the lack of hominess in the dorm halls caused chiefly by the compression door closers which allow the doors to close immediately after a person enters the room.

Chimes, national junior women's honorary, in an attempt to add the missing hominess desired by the coeds and to create a friendlier atmosphere in the dormitories (not only Simmons) has made a "special" door stop.

These door stops are painted blue with a white "HI" on them, in keeping with the College colors and the Hello spirit.

Anyone interested may contact a Chimes member for further information.

Seniors Order Caps, Gowns

Seniors graduating in January must order caps, gowns, invitations, and announcements this week, according to Terry Ruhlmann, class president.

Orders will be taken at Student Union between 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. today through Friday. Invitations and announcements cost 10c each, and a $5 deposit will be collected for caps and gowns.

Members of the invitations committee include David Simms, chairman, David Naiven, Louis Cohn, Margaret Jones, Betty Lou Horn, Nancy Parent and David Barrow.

Caps and gowns committee, headed by Richard Hill, includes Louis Parent, Jane Schwing, Ruth Ballard, Jack Fast, Bernice Miller and Julia Kalback.

English to Discuss 'Kinsey Report'

"The Kinsey Report" will be the subject of the second in the series of community forums to be held in Schwab Auditorium at 8 p.m. tomorrow. Guest speaker will be head of the department of psychiatry at the Temple University Medical School and Hospital, Dr. O. Spurgeon English.

Single admission tickets are available today at Student Union and will also be on sale tomorrow.

Dr. English has been concerned with the study of human behavior for many years and is co-author of three books on the subject. A graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, Dr. English took special work in psychiatry at Harvard and in clinics in Vienna and Berlin.

The speaker will analyze the Kinsey Report objectively, and also discuss the question, "Are our moral standards changing?"

First Phase Registration

Many courses and sections have been limited in enrollment for the second semester, 1948-49. Priorities will be given on a semester basis. Eighth semester students will be given first choice.

Any student who intends to be enrolled on campus must prepare a schedule and have it signed by an advisor before December 11.

The time for students to meet with their advisors has been set by each school.

DEAN HALLER

Haller Speaks On 'Radar Aids'

Dr. George L. Haller, dean of the school of Chemistry and Physics and a colonel in the Air Force Reserve, will address the Centre County Reserve Officers in 3 Carnegie Hall, at 8 p.m. Thursday. Students who are reserve officers are invited to attend the lecture.

Colonel Haller, who will speak on "Radar Aids to Navigation," also is a visiting lecturer on the control of guided missiles at the Army Air Force Command and Staff School at Maxwell Field, Ala.

In 1945 he was awarded the Legion of Merit for research and development work on radar countermeasures for the AAF. His duties carried him to Trinidad, North Africa, and Sicily, and to Japan where he served as Chief of the Electronics Section of the Air Technical Intelligence Group.

The meeting Thursday night, is sponsored by the Centre County chapter of the Reserve Officers Association and is open to reserve personnel of all branches of the service.

Gettysburg College Should Be In Rose Bowl

According to the George "Littenhouse" Vadasz system of predicting football scores, a simple system of comparing two opposing teams' potential strengths by their scoring capabilities, Gettysburg College should oppose California in the Rose Bowl next January instead of twice-beaten Northwestern.

Why? Just by simply comparing a few scores it is easy to see that Gettysburg is rated 63 points better than the Big Nine Rose Bowl choice, Northwestern.

Let's just look at those scores. Gettysburg trounced F & M 39-6 so Gettysburg is 33 points better than F & M. F & M went on to beat Lehigh 13-12 and then Lehigh topped Muhlenberg by fifteen points which makes Gettysburg 49 points better than Muhlenberg. Muhlenberg romped over Bucknell 44-14 so Gettysburg is now 79 points better than Bucknell. Bucknell only lost by 35 points to Penn State so by right Gettysburg is a 44-point favorite over the Higginsmen.

The Lions smothered Temple 47-0 so now the Gettysburgers rate 91 points better than Temple. Temple shut out Syracuse 20-0 which makes our Gettysburg gridders 111 points better than Syracuse. Let's get to the point! Northwestern trounced Syracuse 48-0 making Gettysburg 63 points better than Northwestern. According to all these facts Gettysburg should be at the Pasadena classic on January first and not Northwestern.

There is "one" stumbling block in the whole system. Gettysburg, a 79 points favorite over Bucknell lost a 13-12 decision to the Bison. There just ain't no justice.

Booters To Play In Guatemala Tilt

"Cotton Bowl bound" was the battle cry last year. This year it's "Guatemala bound." During Christmas vacation the Lion soccer team will fly to the Central American country to participate in the Pan-American soccer tourney.

Through the efforts of Al Simpson, a 1937 alumnus of the College, an invitation was extended by the Guatemalan government to

College Shuns Harbor Bowl

A New Year's Day bowl invitation spurned last week by Penn State was accepted by Villanova College yesterday as the Wildcat players agreed unanimously to meet Nevada in the Harbor Bowl at San Diego, Cal.

The Villanova squad, which had won seven, lost two and tied one this season — voted unanimously to accept the bid and the College's board of trustees approved the action.

It was learned yesterday that James Milholland, acting president of the College, and Dr. Carl P. Schott, head of the School of Physical Education, had refused the Harbor Bowl invitation.

Neither could be contacted for comment yesterday. However, J. Harris Olewine, member of the College Senate Committee on Athletics, indicated that the post-season bowl was not considered a reputable business venture for Penn State since it is not well established.

The Harbor Bowl was created just this year by the National Broadcasting Company, which reportedly guaranteed Penn State $50,000 to accept. Olewine declared that no guaranty had been made, stating also that "no good reason" could be found for the College's acceptance of the bid.

The Daily Collegian also learned from several sources that the College turned down a "Pepper Pot" bowl, sponsored by a Philadelphia organization of hotelmen, and an American Legion-sponsored charity game in Los Angeles.

Ag School Issues New Publication

A new campus publication, Ag Hill Breeze, made its first appearance for students of the School of Agriculture yesterday.

The Breeze, which was published as part of Ag Hill Week, is a six-page paper with four columns to the page. It contains stories of news on the hill, an editorial, and a feature column entitled "In the Wind."

Members of the staff are Harry Schaffer, coordinator; Fred Hazelwood and Leonard Weinstein, co-editors; John Early, William Hannigan, Louis Ploch, and George Teel, editorial assistants.

William Hanlon, social reporter; Jay McDanel, business manager; Frank Cooper, Russell Darling, Robert Free, Norman Garber, Dick Herold, Carroll Howes, and Ray Singer, business assistants.

John Cohee, Richard Deppen, Lee Dymond, John Geyer, Jay Irwin, Arnold Kraft, Harold Rabinowitz, Tom Reese, W. F. Rissmiller, Don Seipt, and Thomas Woods, feature reporters. Technical advisors are C. H. Brown and A. H. Imhoff.

"Wheels For the World"

The Penn State Student Branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will show the sound film "Wheels For the World" at its meeting in 110 EE at 7 p.m. today.

Student Directories

Student directories for the current year are now on sale at 25 cents each in 109 Old Main, the Athletic Store and Keeler's, said Louis H. Bell, director of the department of public information.

the Blue and White turfmen to take part in the Pan American soccer tournament in Guatemala.

Simpson, a hotel chain manager in the Central American country, in extending the invitation to Coach Bill Jeffrey stated that it would be an all-expense paid trip with the Lions participating in five exhibition games.

According to Lou Bell, College Publicity Director, the Advisory Board voted to accept the invitation and the veteran booting coach, Jeffrey, immediately wired his acceptance.

Trounced Penn

The soccer Lions concluded one of their most successful campaigns last week by trouncing Penn 5-2 to give them a season's record of 7 wins, one tie and an early season upset loss to Navy.

Victories came over such powerhouses as Army, Temple and Maryland. Although Jeffrey doesn't consider his present aggregation up to par of his splendid pre-war teams, he does consider the 1948 soccer team as the finest he has coached this decade.

Penn State will be the only college team represented in the Pan American tourney as well as the only representative from the United States. Most South American countries and all Central American soccer powers will send teams to the tournament.

The Lions will fly to Guatemala for their soccer engagement. It marks the second time that Nittany soccer aggregations have crossed United States borders to represent the College.

In 1934 Coach Jeffrey took the Lions to his homeland, Scotland.
