

Four Smashing Fistic Brawls Usher In IM Boxing Schedule

The smell of resin and the splat of padded leather ushered in the 1948 intramural boxing season at Recreation Hall yesterday with four smashing bouts blazing away on the varsity ring.

Donald Arbuckle, Beta Theta Pi, fighting from an open, upright stance, kept the crowd at top pitch as he battered his way to a T.K.O. win over James Ferguson, Theta Chi, in the 135-pound class.

In the first bout of the card, 155-pounder Clark Young, Tau

On "All" Teams

Before many more football seasons go by, the annual swarm of All-America teams which glut sports pages about this time will evoke a rebellion from fans who try to follow them. We're about to throw in the towel ourselves right now and follow one of two courses:

1) Utter a disdainful "phooey" toward everybody's "all" selections and pick our own top grid eleven; 2) keep silent. (Unless we receive 1000 letters in tomorrow's mail urging us to pursue the first course, we shall rely on the second as the wisest.)

Opponents Judge

Approaching the meat of this discourse, however, we gain a refreshing spark of pleasure from another kind of "all" team. It's our opinion that a true judge of a player's ability on the gridiron is his opponent.

With this in mind, we come upon a release from West Virginia which lists the Mountaineers' 1948 all-opponent football team. The power-laden Nittany Lions captured six of the eleven posts, three on the line and three in the backfield.

Honored by their West Virginia foes were Sam Tamburo, end; Negley Norton, tackle; John Simon, guard; Chuck Drazenovich, quarterback; Elwood Petchel, halfback, and Wally Triplett, halfback.

All of which speaks well for Penn State football.

Lions Finish 18th In AP Grid Poll

Penn State, after being chosen the nation's fourth best football team last year, was eighteenth in the final Associated Press poll of the season.

Michigan captured the mythical national football title with a 123-point margin over runner-up Notre Dame.

AP Picks Sam On All-America

Sam Tamburo, lanky Lion terminal was named to the Associated Press third All-American team. This established him as one of the top six flankmen in the country, according to the AP.

Guard Joe Drazenovich and Backs Francis Rogel and Wally Triplett received honorable mention on the 1948 AP team.

Nittany guard Steve Suhey, now with the Pittsburgh Steelers, received a first place spot on last year's AP All-America team.

First-team honors this year went to ends Dick Rifenburg, Michigan, and Barney Poole, Mississippi; tackles Leo Nomellini, Minnesota, and Bill Fischer, Notre Dame; guards Paul Burris, Oklahoma, and Rod Franz, California; center Chuck Bednarik, Pennsylvania; and backs Doak Walker, Southern Methodist, Bobby Stuart, Army, Charlie Justice, North Carolina, and Art Murskowski, Northwestern.

Penn State's football team attracted a record 72,000 to its home games in 1948. The Michigan State contest attracted an all-time high of 24,000.

'X' Team Swamps IM Cage Rival

One intramural basketball team found "X" Tuesday night... found "X" all over the court.

A tricky quintet bearing the uninforming name, Team "X," showed up to block almost every shot the Watts Stars tried in their IM game at Rec Hall and walked off the floor a 27-6 winner. The "Xers" defense was too strong.

Meanwhile, John Falbar of Dorm 30 personally accounted for enough points himself as his mates downed Dorm 21, 20-7. Falbar swished an even dozen counters in his stellar cage exhibition.

Other scores Tuesday were: Ramblers over the Indians, 17-16; Coal Crackers over the Shrimps, 17-12; Warriors over the Century Boys, 20-12; Forsters over Dorm 3, 30-11.

Twenty-Niners, over Dorm 24, 16-11; Interrogatives over Dorm 27, 19-13; Drawlers over Penn Points, 17-16.

Tonight's schedule follows: 8:45 p.m.—Q. Quiet vs. Jordan Hall, court one; Ward 2 vs. Smooth Schmoos, court two; Privateers vs. Matilda Chi, court three. 9:25 p.m.—Beaver House vs. Speedsters, court one; Section 10 vs. Ath Hall Men, court two; Ceramics vs. Womers Roamers, court three. 10:05 p.m.—Architects vs. Cody Man-

Game More Complex

Joe Bedenk, line coach on Lion gridiron teams for the last 20 years, says football is a much more complex game than it once was.

Joe Colone, football captain, says, "Froth is my favorite magazine. Why, I'd rather read Froth than Famous Funnies any day." You'll agree with Joe when you read the new, nutty, non-alcoholic "Down with Demon Rum" issue of Froth, next Tuesday, December 7.

Bitter-Pitt Cage Rivalry Touches Off Lion Season

The bitter collegiate rivalry between Pitt and Penn State will switch from the gridiron to the basketball court this Saturday at Pittsburgh when both squads officially pry the lid off the 1948 season.

Dr. H. C. "Doc" Carlson's dribblers, perennial western Pennsylvania powerhouses, usually boast a well balanced, rapid-fire machine, and if early reports from the Smoky City are any criterion this year's Pitt squad will not prove an exception.

The S.R.O. sign is expected to be hung out early at the Pitt Stadium in anticipation of a typical Carlson-versus-John Lawther scrimmage. Violently opposed to the Lawther-styled sliding zone defense, the Panther mentor would like nothing better than to paste the Nittanymen with their first defeat.

If past performances can be used as a standard, the game promises to be a low scoring, nip-and-tuck battle right down to the wire. Last year the Pitt warriors of the wooden way defeated the Lions, 35-34 and 42-34.

Since the inception of court relations between the two clubs, Penn State has emerged the victor in 39 contests while Pitt has taken 31 tilts.

The Pitt scoring punch will be supplied by its two high-scoring co-captains, "Dodo" Canterna, forward, and Sammy David, his running mate at the other front court post.

Lou "Bimbo" Cecconi, football luminary, is expected to start at one of the ball handling slots.
