

Chinese Gov't Quits Nanking, Sources State

Late AP News, Courtesy WMAJ

WASHINGTON— Sources in the nation's capital said yesterday that the Chinese Nationalist government was moving out of Nanking.

The report was contained in a message to Under-Secretary of State Lovett from the American embassy in Nanking, the sources said.

Lovett stated that he had received a message but he would not discuss its contents.

Meanwhile, the Chinese government asked for a cease-fire order and called for immediate peace talks with the Communists.

Request Arms

NEW DELHI, India—A plea for arms and ammunition to combat the Dutch forces was placed before the 20-nation conference of Orient nations yesterday by the Indonesian republic. The conference will open here tomorrow.

Ships Collide

NEW YORK — Ten Coast Guardsmen lost their lives yesterday and at least 19 others were injured when the cutter East Wind and the tanker Gulfstream collided in a fog off the New Jersey coast. Most of the injured reached the port of New York on the freighter Suzanne. A supply of ammunition aboard the cutter was threatened by flames which swept the ship.

Hank Glass Emcees Talent Show; Guest Star, 11 Variety Acts

Hank Glass, veteran campus actor and comic, will serve as master of ceremonies at the All-College talent show for the third straight year.

Penn State Club, the show's sponsor, also announced yesterday that tryouts will be held either February 5 or 6. Students wishing to enter the show were reminded to apply at Student Union no later than noon Saturday.

Actual date of the show has not been set, but it will be presented early in the second semester, said William Betler, talent committee chairman.

Eleven variety acts have been signed up for the show. In addition, Jacqueline Heckert, soprano, who won in last year's show, will appear as a non-competing guest star.

Five new acts and their performers are the Cake - Walking Babies Jazz Band, composed of Donald Fuge, James Heanue, Jack

Glass

Windows Broken In McElwain Hall

Thirteen large window panes in McElwain Hall, soon to be completed women's dormitory, were broken Tuesday night by stones thrown by an unidentified person, Captain Philip Mark of the Campus Patrol reported.

The damaged window panes were on the north side of the dorm facing Pollock Road. The accident was believed to have happened some time after 11 p. m.

Captain Mark announced that the patrol is investigating the incident, and that anyone with information is requested to inform them immediately.

Compensation To Be Explained

Louis P. Nardi, contact representative for the Veterans Administration, will be in State College tomorrow between 10:30 a. m. and 3 p. m.

Many unremarried widows of World War 2 Veterans who were not killed in the service but were receiving compensation at the time of their death, may be entitled to payments of death compensation, Mr. Nardi reports.

In order to explain this matter and any other problems of veterans or their dependents, Mr. Nardi will be at the Veterans Administration building on the campus.

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

VOL. 48—NO. 72

STATE COLLEGE, PA., THURSDAY MORNING, JANUARY 20, 1949

Weather:
Cloudy and Extremely Cold

PRICE FIVE CENTS

Collegian Lists Appointments

Business and editorial senior boards of the Daily Collegian have made appointments to the various boards of the newspaper.

New advertising director will be George Latzo, who succeeds Barbara Keefer. The new office manager is K. John Bargas, succeeding Latzo. Louis Gilbert takes over the post of local advertising manager, succeeding Selma Lampert Smith and June Snyder will be personnel manager, taking Bargas' post.

Mark Arnold, Donald Baker, Robert Clark, and Edward Hinkle were promoted to the junior advertising board. June Elden was promoted to the junior promotion board.

Lewis Stone, editor, announced the promotion of 17 candidates to the sophomore editorial board.

Those promoted were Nancy Anderson, Shirley Austin, Arthur Benning, Barbara Buka, Norman Goode, Marian Hawkins, Gloria Isenberg, Helene Krebs, Dorothy Laine, Margaret Lazor, David Maneval, Helen McNally, Tracy McCormick, Albert Ryan, George Seibert, Virginia Sinclair and Ellen Sperber.

Engineer Features 'Largest Camera'

Penn State Engineer will go on sale today at Student Union and the Corner room. Among articles in this month's issue are "The World's Largest Camera," "Radio-Frequency Standards" and "New Developments in Science."

A feature article on automatic transmissions is included, for the interest of owners and future owners of automobiles, the editors announced. Two photo pages also are offered in this issue.

Wolfe To Give Science Talk

Dr. Dae L. Wolfe, executive secretary of the American Psychological Association, will discuss a proposal for "A National Science Foundation" at a meeting of Sigma Xi in 119 Osmond Lab at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

As secretary of the Inter-Society Council, an advisory group working with the congressmen, who are sponsoring the Science Foundation Bill, Dr. Wolfe is well qualified to trace the history of proposals and congressional action for the establishment of the National Science Foundation.

He will discuss in detail its present status, including any action which may be taken by the 81st Congress, and will indicate the possibilities of public support. He will conclude his address with a discussion of future prospects and will give his evaluation of how the proposed foundation would operate.

The lecture will be open to all who are interested.

Preceding the lecture, 31 new members recently elected to Sigma Xi, national graduate science fraternity, will be initiated at a closed ceremony.

Leos Wins Prize For News Photo

A news picture, taken by Edward Leos, Central Extension photographer, netted Penn State second place for the best news photo of 1948.

The picture, selected by District II, American College Public Relations Association, depicts Samuel Losch, 85-year-old fiddler of near State College, playing his violin while Samuel P. Bayard, assistant professor of English composition, jots the tune in his notebook.

Bayard, who has collected many old tunes, has conducted extensive research in Pennsylvania folk music.

Alpha Sigma Phi

Officers elected at a recent meeting of Alpha Sigma Phi were Edward Peetz, president; Monty Mitchell, vice-president; Charles Hamilton, secretary; William Hartman, treasurer; Mark Del Vecchio, corresponding secretary; and James Rosemergy, pledge master.

Student News Agency Sells Sunday Papers

Solicitation for Sunday newspapers, to be delivered to rooms at no extra cost, will be started by the newly organized student news agency on February 3, the first day of registration, according to Joseph Reinheimer, manager.

This service, which is not now offered on campus, will be student-operated and managed, and will provide part-time employment for student agents.

Advance payments for delivery of Sunday newspapers from New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh will be solicited in all student living units by accredited agents between February 3 and 11.

Subscription periods will be 4, 7 or 14 weeks, with first delivery slated for February 13. Easter Sunday, which occurs during spring vacation, will not be included.

The news agency will be the first student agency established by the All-College student agency committee, to begin complete operations.

Abram Bosler is chairman of the student agency committee, and Alan Reece is its adviser. Patsy Meconi has been named assistant manager of the news agency.

Other student agencies which have been organized, but have not begun to function on a full scale are a campus guide and a secretarial agency. Newspapers from other cities may be added to the delivery service, if warranted by demand.

Graduating seniors are especially requested to pick up their copies and thus avoid the delay of having them mailed home, Gerton added.

Honorary Initiates 24 Members

Twenty-four new members were initiated into Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity, after a banquet held for them in the Allencrest last night.

Dr. Walter Coutu, professor of sociology at the College spoke on the socio-psychological implications of the motto "You shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

Seniors initiated were Nicholas Badida, Beatrice Cleveland, Robert Geise, Beverly Grossman, Walter Lander, Gloria Moulton, Walter Murray, Lucille Thomas, Bernard Udis, Malcolm White, Eugene Williams, Edward Wiza, Helen Dickerson, Leonard Levine, and Janet Long.

Graduate students accepted were Charles Barbour, Jean Ma Gulre, Margaret Moore, William Morris, Thomas Mullen, and Charles Parmer.

Three faculty members initiated were Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, instructor of economics, Miss Ellen L. Stanley, cataloger for the College library, and Demo G. Thevaos.

Bosler

B-X Construction Starts At TUB

Work was underway yesterday in construction of the new cooperative book exchange in the TUB in readiness for the operation of the exchange starting Saturday.

Joanne Hobbs, secretary of the board of control, said yesterday that supplies other than used books would not be sold at the exchange until early in the next semester. The first shipment of such student supplies already has arrived, she said.

The exchange will be operated during the first few weeks by the members of the board of control, and later interested students will be asked to take turns at managing it. The board may hire a manager at a later date if the turnover is great enough.

News Briefs

Dairy Club Meeting

Dr. John Almqvist is scheduled to speak on the subject "Test Tube Calves" at a meeting of the Dairy Science Club in 117 Dairy building at 7 p. m. tonight.

Bar Bell Club

The Penn State Bar Bell Club will hold its last meeting of the semester on Recreation Hall balcony at 7:30 p. m. tonight. All members are urged to attend to pick up the shirts which were ordered recently.

Bible Fellowship

"Prayer" will be the topic of the Rev. J. Harold Burtner, dean of the Harrisburg Bible School, speaking at a meeting of the Penn State Bible Fellowship in 405 Old Main at 7 p. m. tomorrow evening.

Cromer to Speak

Mrs. Abbie H. Cromer, curator of the Penn State room in the College library, will address a Faculty Luncheon Club meeting at the Hotel State College on Monday noon. Her topic will be "The Three Tenses of the Penn State Collection."

Five Brothers Enrolled at College

Here's a story we almost missed.

Quite some time ago, one of our reporters wrote an article on the names which occurred the most often in our student directory. It seems as if the name "Myers" ran only third in the race, but another angle to that family name was overlooked.

Five members of a York Springs family named Myers are now attending the College simultaneously. Four of the group reside, or at least make their College quarters, at 402 E. College avenue. The other lives with his wife at Windcrest.

Harold C. Jr., 24, is doing practice teaching in shop work under the industrial arts curriculum at Thaddeus Stephens Junior High School, Williamsport. He will be graduated January 31.

Kenneth I., 23, will be graduated, also, on January 31 in the curriculum of electrical engineering.

Sidney J., 21, who was married last June, is a junior in architectural engineering.

Theodore R., 20, will be a seventh semester student in industrial arts in February.

Arthur L., 19, is a sophomore in agricultural engineering.

These five brothers have two younger brothers at home, Edward, 16, and Donald, 13. The mother and father have no heirs.

All five are musically inclined; in high school, Harold, Kenneth, and Theodore played cornets in the band, while Sidney and Arthur played saxophones.

Harold spent three years in the Army Medical Corps; Kenneth, two years in the Navy's Pacific Mine Fleet; and Sidney, two years as a radioman in the Navy Air Corps. At present Theodore is enrolled in advanced ROTC.

Kenneth has two interesting hobbies, coin collecting, and photo development. In high school, he was named to the Honor Society for scholarship and character.

This amazing family should have many prospects for the future. As a local radio announcer said, if all the boys get married, "papa should have enough diplomas to paper the living-room wall."