

Dorm Inmate's Stunts Put Inferno to Shame

A night in Dante's Inferno just ain't nuttin' compared to one in a typical campus dorm. Inmates show endless variation in devising diabolical stunts to make study impossible.

Timed with the opening of the first text book, preparatory to digging in, giant firecrackers explode in the hall, and campus cops burst in searching for red lanterns or turkeys.

Ah, maybe after the secret police have gone we can get down to study. But no! Some jester takes at its word a door-sign reading, "Don't knock, kick it down", and his accomplice follows, playing fireman, hosing down halls, rooms, and anything that moves.

In the lounge a cheering section roots exuberantly for its favorite in the touch football game and wrestling bouts. Of course there are the common background noises of jangling telephones, radios being jammed by some ham toying with his oscillators, the relayed shout, "Sally's", tin cans rolling down the hall, roistering bull session until daylight.

Look out when you leave your room! In addition to the ever present danger of the hose, over there a group of junior zoologists is planning to bring a dead calf into the dorm for dissecting, and hanging from the fire extinguisher is an effigy of an ex-naval officer of the dorm which must be saluted when passed.

In the dorm every night is Walpurgis night.

Emancipation day may be just around the corner for America's kitchen-bound women. At the College, more men than women enrolled in curricula other than home economics choose home economics courses as electives.

Boro Parking Law Challenged

Enforcement of the boro's all-night parking ordinance was challenged Monday at a hearing before Burgess Albert E. Yougel when Attorney Musser Gettig of Bellefonte appeared as legal advisor for Ross W. Edmiston of High street who has been charged with violation of the ordinance on January 15.

Attorney Gettig said that "no alleged violator shall be held for any violation if at the time of the violation official signs are not posted."

He said that the failure of the boro to erect signs stating that no parking was permitted between 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. was contrary to the requirements of the vehicle code, and therefore the ordinance could not be enforced.

Burgess Yougel held his decision until a later date in order to make a complete study of the testimony and the law affecting the enforcement of the ordinance.

Truman Suggests Stalin Deal Through UN in 'Peace' Talks

Late AP News Courtesy Station WMAJ

WASHINGTON—President Truman has firmly suggested that Premier Stalin conduct business with the United Nations if he is interested in discussing so-called peace negotiations. The President emphasized that the United States will not spurn the UN for separate talks with Russia or any other nation. However, the chief executive said he is willing to meet Stalin if the Soviet leader wants to visit Washington.

'Operation Haylift'

WASHINGTON—Congress has voted a second $500,000 appropriation to pay for the cost of digging out the snowbound western area of the nation.

More snowstorms in Nevada have stopped the Air Force's haylift operations. However, steady progress is reported in other states hard-hit by recent blizzards. Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming officials said progress is being made in clearing snow-bound roads although the temperatures are sub-zero.

AF of L May Compromise

WASHINGTON—The AF of L has outlined an area of possible compromise if the Administration's labor law meets opposition in Congress. President William Green said his organization will have no serious objections to retaining three provisions in the Taft-Hartly labor law. They are the requirements for non-Communist affidavits from union leaders, filing financial reports and guaranteeing employers free speech rights in relations with employees.

Cardinal on Trial

BUDAPEST — Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, Catholic primate, emphatically denied that he had ever plotted to overthrow Hungary's Communist-dominated government. However, he pleaded partial guilt to charge of spying and black market operations. The court prosecution also accused Cardinal Mindszenty of making an attempt to get United States Minister to Hungary Selden Chapin to help him escape from prison and flee by plane.

Largest Flight Lands

WASHINGTON — The largest number of persons ever carried on a single flight non-stop across the nation arrived here Thursday night in the Navy's giant new plane, the Constitution. The record 90 persons aboard represented only half the possible passenger capacity.
