

WRA Entertains Visitors At Traditional Play Day

WRA will hold its second Play Day since the war at White Hall tomorrow. This annual affair has been a tradition on the Penn State campus for many years but was discontinued during the war.

Several girls from Juniata, Lycoming, and Bucknell Colleges will be guests of WRA for the afternoon. Each school will send a group of girls representing them in modern dance, basketball, swimming, bowling and badminton. The various activities will start at 12:30 p.m. and continue until 5 p.m. All girls participating will meet in the gymnasium at 4 p.m. for a half hour of square dancing to be followed by refreshments. Everyone is welcome.

The schedule for the afternoon is as follows: 12:30-1:00, registration in the Main Lounge of White Hall, a tour of the building, and dressing for the sports in the locker room; 1:00-2:30, modern dance in the dance studio, basketball in the gymnasium, and bowling in the bowling alleys; 2:45-3:45, swimming in the pool and badminton in the gymnasium. At 3:45 the girls will go back to dress in the locker room and meet in the gymnasium at 4 for a half hour of square dancing. Refreshments will be served by members of WRA in the game room at 4:30.

General chairman of Play Day is Helen Milligan with badminton being supervised by Patricia Wolfe, basketball by Evelyn Lansing, bowling by Seely Snyder, modern dance by Gladys Lou Miller, and swimming by Reta Reed.

Co-op, Simmons Win IM Games

The Co-op trounced Gamma Phi Beta 50-12 in a fast-moving volleyball game Wednesday night.

Jean La Bar ran up 15 points for the Co-op, and Barbara Brown made six for Gamma Phi. Both were top scorers for the evening for their respective teams.

Simmons beat Chi Omega 42-35 in their League I game.

Lois Peters scored 13 points for Simmons, while Christie Post hustled up 10 for Chi Omega.

Kappa Kappa Gamma whipped Alpha Omicron Pi 40-26.

Kappa Camilla Lovett gave her team nine points. Effie Lou Lichter came close with eight for AOPi.

Kappa Alpha Theta won by default against Alpha Chi Omega.

The only badminton game played gave Kappa Delta the upper hand in their game with Ath III.

Bev Williams kept her Ath partner, Hareth Verbeeck, to a low of 11-3, 11-2, and KD Kay Doner did the same to Betty Lou Jones 11-1, 11-2. Delores Jelacic and Floss Wakeling lost the doubles for Kappa Delta when Suzanne Rauch and Viola Colaiaco beat the pair 16-14.

Sigma Delta Tau achieved a triple-win over Alpha Xi Delta in table tennis.

Fay Zeltich beat Mary Haesler 21-10, 21-6, and Sarabelle Mazer took her game with Joyce Cotter 21-15, 21-12. Alpha Xi forfeited the doubles.

Alpha Epsilon Phi beat Delta Zeta in their three matches, also.

Sue Feit won two games out of three against Theresa Gorka 21-16, 15-21, 21-14, and Barbara Delman whipped Lorraine Zimmerman 21-7, 21-13. In the doubles Marion Goldman and June Elden took both games against Joanne Bauer and Ann Lantz, 21-11, 11-0.

Home Ec Inaugural Successful; Exhibits Feature Handiwork

By Janet Rosen

The newly inaugurated Home Economics building was a busy place last week with its numerous meetings, demonstrations, speeches, movies, and exhibits. One of the outstanding features of this diversified program was the exhibits.

Those attractive, well-planned displays indicated clearly that the School of Home Economics is progressing rapidly. The exhibits stressed usefulness, beauty, and originality.

The Home Related Arts laboratory was the site of one of the most interesting exhibits, "Art in the Environment." Here, in attractive settings, were arranged the products of the handicraft students, textile designs, leather work, wood work, metal work, and furniture construction.

Nature and Room
One of the exhibits showed room plans in relationship to nature. Some object from nature was chosen and this suggested the color scheme for a room. For instance, one arrangement showed a group of fabrics and colors inspired by a sea shell, olive green, rust, brown, and light yellow-green which created a restful scheme.

Another part of the display featured the students' work with metals, wood, and leather. Modern design and originality were stressed in all these crafts. Thus, in order to construct her lamp base, Dot Whitney took a curled chair scrap, a piece of red wood, a piece of maple and fastened them together. Her original use of these materials fulfils the purpose of the course, which is to use material honestly and to preserve its natural beauty.

Furniture Making
The making of furniture also occupied a prominent part in the exhibit. A chair of functional design was constructed by Mary Gordon. She interwove red tape on a plywood chair frame. Not only was new furniture constructed, but old furniture was remodeled. One unusual piece was an old spool chest which was transformed into a chest for silver and linens by Martha Leitzell.

Of particular interest to college women was the display of costume accessories constructed from leather, copper, and fabric. A lovely red calf shoulder bag with white stitching was made by Shirley Robinson. Other popular leather items were sandals, belts, cigarette cases, buttons,

Fabric Designs
On display in the cases in the hall were some stenciled fabric designs. This versatile medium was used on luncheon sets, apparel, and textiles. Lois Fondy put her design on a white blouse, which she embellished further with colorful sequins.

TO MEET THE PUBLIC'S REQUIREMENTS for telephone service, this company has spent more than $176,000,000 on new facilities during the last three years alone.

During the next few years, we shall have to invest many more millions to meet expanding needs.

Most of this money—the lion's share—comes from people . . . from thousands of people in all walks of life who invest part of their savings in Bell Telephone securities.

We must pay a fair return for the use of these dollars, of course. And we must keep them secure. They are as vital to the telephone business as the telephone business is vital to those who invest in it.
