Cabinet Votes Carnival Funds; Proceeds Go to WSSF If —

At a special meeting last night, All-College Cabinet voted to give Spring Week Committee full responsibility for the Spring Week carnival and that Cabinet finance the prizes to be awarded to the most successful booths at the affair.

Although taking the carnival out of the hands of the World Student Service Fund, which had already made plans for the street fair to be held March 31, Cabinet decided to give the proceeds to the W.S.S.F. if that group uses the money as directed by Cabinet.

An entire hour of confused debate preceded the decision. Originally, the W.S.S.F. sent letters to fraternities, sororities, and other groups in an effort to secure booths for the carnival.

Points Vague
The letter was vague on a few points, and the Spring Week Committee organized a second letter which it intended to send out today. Cabinet member Norman Sims, Thespians, moved that Cabinet accept the second letter, but after heated debate, the motion was defeated 16-2.

Abram Bossler, president of the Chem-Phys Student Council, stated that the W.S.S.F. had voted to send the funds realized from its drive to Bulgaria and this was the point that stopped the original motion from securing Cabinet's approval.

Debate Ensues
After Milton Stone, president of the Engineering Student Council, stated, "I can't see sending our money to a Red-dominated country," Roslyn McCollom, W.S.S.F. representative, answered, "We will help the carnival in every way we can, but you can't tell us what to do with our money."

W.S.S.F. will hold a meeting Sunday evening to decide if it should accept Cabinet's proposal, and the Inter-Class Finance Committee will meet later this week to decide upon the prizes for the carnival booths.

Pi Gamma Mu Sponsors Panel

A panel discussion on "Psychology as Science and Profession," will be given by faculty members of the department of psychology in the Living Center, Home Economics, at 7:30 p.m. today.

The panel is being arranged by Pi Gamma Mu, social science fraternity at the College, as the third of its current monthly programs on the social sciences.

Comprising the panel will be Dr. Bruce V. Moore, head of the department, as moderator, and Dr. C. R. Adams, Dr. Robert Bernreuter, Dr. C. R. Carpenter, and Dr. William M. Lopley.

The public is invited to attend the meeting and to participate in the coffee hour discussion following the panel.

Treason Case Continues

WASHINGTON, D. C.—No decision has been reached by the Federal jury in the Axis Sally treason case. The jury, which got the case at noon yesterday, requested transcripts of all the Axis Sally broadcasts introduced in evidence. If Mildred Gillars is convicted of treason the maximum penalty is death, but the American government has never executed a civilian for treason.

Fillbuster Rages

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Administration will go into action today to try to end the nine-day filibuster against the fillbuster. The move would force Vice-President Barkley to rule whether debate can be limited at this time. He is expected to say it can. The Southerners are confident that the Senate will refuse to affirm his decision.

Skeleton Shows It's Never Too Late For Religion

A human skeleton once attended chapel services in Old Main. Not content with walking, he entered astride the skeleton of a mule.

This incident was related by Dr. W. F. Dunaway in his "History of the Pennsylvania State College." Pranksters from a class some 50 years ago were responsible. They had "borrowed" the assortment of bones from the College's museum.

Drive Passes Halfway Mark

The campus Red Cross Drive has passed the midway mark, and according to William McLain, chairman of the campus unit, the drive is progressing along satisfactory lines.

Jayne Pollard heads a system of two-woman teams who are contacting fraternities, and should complete this function tonight.

The girls who are soliciting contributions under Miss Pollard include Alvina Bartos, Lois Burrell, Shirley Gauger, Betty Gibson, Susanne Hill, Jean Hootman, Lois Hyde, Dorothy Knowles, Ruth Lehman, Gladly Lou Miller, Lou Phillips, Helen Pond, Lorraine Stotler, and Ann Zekauskas.

Other Solicitors
Girls soliciting in dormitories and sororities are under supervision of Frances Welker, assisted by Ruth Pollard. The women's buildings are being directed by Marie Card, in charge of the following volunteers:

McAllister Hall: Tracy McCormick and Jean Williams. Simmons: Mary Kennedy, Dolores Hocker, Elizabeth Renton, and Nancy Schott. Atherton Hall: Anne Forrest, Lois Kenyon, Helen Pond, and Eha Louise Williams.

It may prove impossible to contact the majority of independent men personally. If this is not accomplished by Thursday night, the men may use collection boxes already placed in the Tub, Nitany dining hall, Irvin Hall lounge, and the Student Union.

Golf Candidates

There will be a short meeting of all varsity golf candidates at the caddy house at 5 p.m. today.

AA Books Void For EIBA Meet

"No AA books are good for any intercollegiate championships held at Penn State," stated Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics, yesterday.

He said that students may not use AA books for tomorrow's and Saturday's Eastern boxing sessions in Recreation Hall. To avoid standing in line and missing any bouts, he urged students to buy tickets today at the Athletic Association office window, Old Main.

According to Walter R. Hosterman, assistant graduate manager, 600 reserved seat tickets are still available for the series of three boxing sessions. He said, also, that general admission tickets are still being sold.

Coaches of the six competing teams will decide first-round pairings of individual boxers at 9:30 p.m. today.

Tribunal Fines Six Offenders

Tribunal issued six fines, two suspended sentences, and dismissed one case of the ten handled at Tuesday's meeting.

Four of those fined were assessed $1 for parking violations. In another instance the guilty party was fined $2 for reckless driving and his parents were notified of the charge. The third fine was for $3, incurred by two traffic violations.

Tribunal will increase fines for guilty parties at future hearings if their attitude or cooperation is not becoming to college students. Tribunal Secretary James Richards said yesterday.

Basis for such action is contained in the minutes of All-College Cabinet of April 15, 1948, which gives Tribunal its authority.

Students who feel that they have received unfair treatment at Tribunal hearings may appeal to All-College Cabinet.

Embosograf Offers Students New Sign Printing Service

A new service to the College, in the form of an Embosograf machine, is now being offered by the Office Services Division of the Department of Public Information. The machine, made by the Embosograf Corporation of New York, can be used to make signs, nameplates, notices, announcements, direction signs and other similar items.

The machine has been used here experimentally for the past two weeks and signs made by it have already put in an appearance on campus. They have been used to designate the voting places for the "Miss Penn State Freshman" contest, for certain Student Union activities, in the Placement office and at the TUB.

Not Poster Machine
The Embosograf is not to be considered a poster machine since the cost of duplicating a large number of posters with it would be prohibitive. It is possible, however, to produce a large quantity of posters from an original Embosograf sign by using a photo-image process.

The machine embosses letters of various colors onto a colored piece of heavy cardboard. The maximum width of signs is 14 inches and the maximum length is 44 inches. This will not restrict the use of the machine since several poster cards can be put together to form larger signs. A wide variety of layouts can be made by the use of type sizes ranging from one-quarter inch to three inches, and any one of ten color schemes. Pictures can be included in the sign.

Samples Soon
The Office Service will soon have available samples of various sizes and layouts of signs in order to give interested groups an estimate of the cost. Further information about the machine can be obtained at 308 Old Main or by telephoning Extension 183-M. Any group planning to have work done should allow 48 hours for service.

Parade, Premiere, Prizes Reward Freshmen Entrants

Tonight Penn State gets its first movie premiere. Although it will not be graced by the presence of Hollywood stars, home-grown beauty and talent will be featured in the form of freshman coeds.

Festivities will begin with a parade of the beauties in new convertibles, headed by a 27-piece ROTC band, beginning at the Allencrest at 7 p.m. and ending at the Cathaum theater about 7:30.

From Allen street and Beaver avenue, the motorcade will proceed south to Hamilton avenue, east to Garner street, north to East Fairmount avenue, west to Locust lane, north to East Beaver, west to South Allen, north to College avenue and west to the Cathaum.

Women Enter Debate Meet

Women's Debate is sending a representative team to Allegheny College today to participate in the Annual Debate Tournament to be held today and tomorrow, said Mary Louise Coleman, manager of the team.

The tournament will consist of debates, an extemporaneous speaking contest, and an oratorical contest.

Barbara Schiffman and Diana Miller will take the affirmative, while Jean Hootman and Mary Louise Coleman will represent the negative side on this year's question, "Federal Aid to Education."

Extemporaneous speaking will be done by Miss Hootman and Margaret Jones will represent the College in the oratorical contest, announced Prof. Clayton Schug, coach for women's debate.

Keys will be awarded to the first, second, and third place winners of the speaking contests. A cup is the award to the debate team judged best.

Last year the women came through to defeat the men's team from Penn State and tied for third place.

Pride Is Cause Of War—Mayer

Pride is the cause of all wars, proclaimed Milton Mayer, during his speeches Monday at a dinner conference in the Reformed Church and later in Schwab Auditorium. A former member of the University of Chicago faculty and presently engaged in promoting the Harvard Classics, Mr. Mayer was sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee.

Pride and War
Pride is a loss of faith in God; a lack of faith in God brings a lack of faith in man; and a lack of faith in man breeds war, he said.

Our country, our world cannot be saved by force, he ventured as he quoted Einstein's and Oppenheimer's statements that the present atomic bomb is 30 times as powerful as those bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. In the next war, two-thirds of all the world will be destroyed if the atomic bomb is used, he quoted these two authorities as saying.

Ed School Picks Council Officers

New officers of the Education Student Council, elected by old and new members of the council at a recent meeting, are Robert Gabriel, president; Ruth Lehman, vice-president; and William Brodsky, secretary-treasurer.

In order to achieve a well-coordinated program, both old and new members of the council will meet for the remainder of this semester.

Results of the professor and course rating sheets have been scored and will soon be available to students.

Work is being completed on a comprehensive School of Education orientation booklet to be made available to incoming students in the fall.

Presents Finalists
After presentation of the five frosh finalists and introduction of five student judges, the queen, who will reign over the premiere of "Mother Is a Freshman," will be announced, and presented with $100 from Twentieth Century-Fox, producers of the film.

Doors of the theater will open to the public at 7:15 with crown-
