Senate Expects Filibuster Vote

WASHINGTON — The Senate was expected to vote late yesterday on the filibuster compromise. It appears certain that the Republicans and southern Democrats will push the measure through the Senate. Under the compromise, two-thirds of the Senate could limit debate except in cases involving changes in Senate rules.

Armed Forces Merge

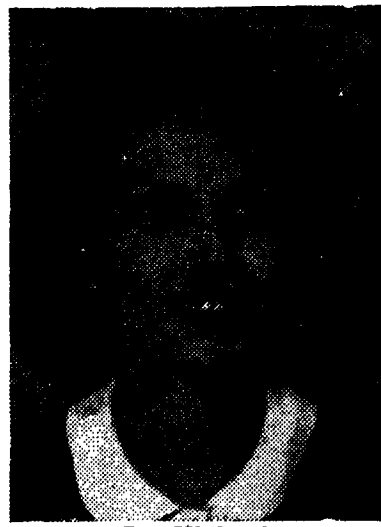

WASHINGTON — The Armed Forces are merging and making changes in their public relations sections. The order to revamp the public relations set-up has been in preparation for a number of months. Secretary of Defense Forrestal took a copy of the reorganization order to a meeting of a House committee yesterday. The National military establishment has been criticized in Congress for alleged leaks of military secrets.

Lewis Appeals Fine

WASHINGTON — The fine of over one million dollars levied against the United Mine Workers and John L. Lewis last year for contempt of court was appealed today by Lewis.

Rent Control

WASHINGTON — The Senate Banking committee is said to have approved a sort of states rights provision on rent control. Senator A. Willis Robertson, Virginia, says the committee voted to let the states drop federal rent controls on two conditions: if the state legislature favors an end of controls; or if the governor certifies that the state has an adequate rent law. Robertson talked with newsmen while the committee was in session yesterday.

Pershing Rifles Selects Kinkead

Patricia R. Kinkead, of Philadelphia, senior in arts and letters at the College, has been chosen to represent the Fifth Regimental Headquarters, Pershing Rifles, in the national beauty queen contest sponsored by the collegiate military honorary.

David L. Malickson, of Bala-Cynwyd, commander of the regiment, announced the selection today, explaining it had been made after a preliminary photographic contest.

National winner of the contest will receive a shingle and shoulder shield designating her as an honorary brigadier general and 1949 Queen of the National Society of Pershing Rifles. Four honorable mention awards also will be made.

Miss Kinkead is president of her sorority, Delta Gamma; served as secretary of the Sophomore Class; is a member of Mortar Board and Cwens; and has been active in the Penn State Christian Association and the Rifle Club.

spots easily and molding the play into a well-knit whole by fine timing. A feeling for the eerie and weird aspects of the story is combined with a profound understanding of human nature to breathe life into every scene.

Admirable Performances

Not one individual performance falls below average, and the play abounds in strikingly portrayed roles. Highest honors go jointly to Dianne Scuderi and Richard Evans as the ill-fated lovers. Evans, although a newcomer to Players, meets Miss Scuderi's versatility and range of expression admirably.

Equalling the principals in natural portrayal are the multitude of minor characters who emphasize the awe and fear of the supernatural of the uneducated but pious people of the valley.

Dan Wargo as the soul-saving preacher, June Williams as Barbara's tormented mother, and Robert McLean as her father stand out as particularly natural and appealing in their minor roles. But there is scarcely a portrayal among the villagers that cannot be called inspired.

Student Union

James MacCallum reported on the activities of the Student Union Planning Committee in its plans for a new Union building. Cabinet voted to give complimentary tickets to the presidents of Nittany, Pollock and West (Tri) Dorms, and Milton Stone and William Lawless were appointed to arrange for the addition of extra-curricular activities to students' transcripts.

Friends Group Offers Students Summer Service Opportunities

Work camps, seminars, institutes, internships in industry and cooperatives, work in mental and correctional institutions will be among the service opportunities offered to college students this summer by the American Friends Service Committee.

Work camps and community service units will be held in the United States, Mexico and Europe. Campers in the United States will help build recreational and community facilities in various parts of the country.

The group in Mexico will work on many projects including one to move a village from low, swampy ground to a higher, more healthy place. Approximately 60 students will participate in work camps in 11 European countries.

Interne-In-Industry programs which include discussions and field trips in addition to regular jobs are available for those interested in industrial relations and the problems of labor.

Opportunity for more than 300 students from many parts of the world to study together the problems of world peace will be provided by the International Service Seminars which are sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee. The Service Committee will sponsor ten seminars in various parts of the United States.

Further information about any of these projects may be obtained from the American Friends Service Committee, 20 S. Twelfth Street, Philadelphia 7, Pennsylvania.

time it and other bills will be taken up by the basketball rules committee.

Two of the rules would hit directly on the methods a team can use to control the ball and retain possession.

1) Place a limit on the time a team can control the ball without attempting a try for a goal.

(2) Consider it a violation whenever one player is in control of the ball in his front court longer than five seconds

NEW LOOK?

As yet, the newly-appointed Penn State court coach, Elmer Gross, has not commented on the type of cage fashion the 1949-'50 State quintet will be sporting.

Years ago the rules prevented the game from becoming farcically slow by incurring fouls if the ball was not moved beyond the ten seconds after the ball had been put in play.
