

Coeds Plan Mass Meeting For Additional Nominations

Additional nominations for WSGA and WRA offices may be made at a mass meeting in 121 Sparks at 6:30 p.m. today. These names will be added to the slates already presented by WSGA and WRA.

Girls who wish to be nominated should attend the meeting and arrange to have someone else present her nomination, activities and qualifications. Minimum qualifications require at least a 1.5 all-college average and no major judicial record.

One Year's Experience

In addition nominees for WSGA and WRA president must have had at least one year's experience on the organization for which they are nominated and be sixth semester students. Nominees for WSGA vice-president must be fourth semester students; for senior senator, sixth; and for junior senator, fourth or fifth.

The WSGA slate presented includes: Joana Bergdoll and Shirley Gauger, president; Jessica Lightner and Ella Louise Williams, vice-president; Lois Evans, Barbara Sprenkle and Jeanne Smucker, junior senator; Mary Cohen, Louise Drozdak, and Ruth Lehman, senior senator; and Connie Keller and Marjorie Mead, town senator.

WRA Slate

Slate presented by WRA includes: Virginia Miller and Nancy Smith, president; Sally Foger and Helen Hemphill, vice-president; Betty Lou Jones, intramural chairman; and Helen Rusinko and Jo Ann Wagner, junior assistant intramural chairman.

Primary elections for both WSGA and WRA elections will be held Friday, while final elections will take place on Tuesday, March 29.

Engagements

Ashenfelter-Hess

The engagement of Edith Hess to Donald J. Ashenfelter, both of Collegeville, has recently been announced.

Miss Hess was graduated in 1948 from Ursinus College, where she was a physical education major. Ashenfelter is a fourth semester student in the School of Liberal Arts at the College.

Co-Edits

Alpha Gamma Delta

The newly elected officers of Alpha Gamma Delta are Gilda Grew, president; Helen Conroder, first vice-president; Joanne Callahan, second vice-president; Nancy Blough, recording secretary; Grace Kepple, corresponding secretary; Jane Merle, treasurer; Emma Lou Lynn, social chairman; and Mary Elizabeth Kriner, rushing chairman.

Fraternity Houses Adopt Bold Look In New Decor

No self-respecting man wants to let the women get ahead of him. In self-defense he adopted the "Bold Look" to combat the "New Look."

But now the men have gone one step further. The "Bold Look" is no longer confined to men's wear, for the latest thing at Penn State is the "Bold Look" fraternity house.

The Phi Sigma Kappa house is the most recent example of this experiment. The library now wears dark green walls topped by a chocolate brown ceiling, the paneled ceilings of the dining and living rooms are also dark green. To add a brighter note, the living room walls were painted a shell pink, while the dining room and front hall walls sport a canary yellow.

First to go out for the "Bold Look", as reported in one of last fall's Collegians, was the Pi Kappa Alpha house. Its decor is dramatic shades of green, pink, orange, and fuchsia contrasting to the dark brown woodwork.

The Phi Kappa Sig house has gone in for the "Bold Look" in a small way. At the beginning of the semester they splashed their two coathrooms with bright pink.

Sigma Phi Sigma

Sigma Phi Sigma entertained Delta Zeta at a tea dance at the chapter house Sunday afternoon.

We the Women

by Frances Keeney

We dislike the idea of discussing subjects which are continually hashed over in the editorial page, but on this occasion we feel justified in talking about one of their favorite topics—student participation at mass meetings.

Tonight, coeds from every class are invited, and urged, to attend the WSGA-WRA mass meeting in 121 Sparks at 6:30 p.m. At this meeting girls will be nominated for 1949-50 WSGA and WRA offices.

Every Undergraduate
The Women's Student Government Association and Women's Recreation Association are composed of every undergraduate coed enrolled in the College. As in all organizations of such a large membership a governing body must be selected to coordinate the activities and regulate the actions of the group. For this purpose WSGA and WRA officers are chosen.

In addition to the president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer of WSGA, each class and independent and town women are represented by a senator on the WSGA Senate. These are the girls which you will nominate tonight and elect later on this week. These are the girls which set up the rules to which you as undergraduates are liable.

Representative Nominations
To secure representative nominations and to eliminate any clique action, it is important for coeds to take an interest in their athletic and campus government. If any of you are displeased when the final nominations slate is presented at the primary elections on Friday, remember you have only your own apathy to blame.

House
The House of Representatives will meet in 121 Sparks at 8:30 p.m. today at the mass meeting of WSGA and WRA nominations instead of in the WSGA room in White Hall at 8:15 as previously announced.

125 Women Leaders Receive Invitations to Matrix Table

Approximately one hundred twenty-five outstanding campus women will receive invitations this week to hear Miss Laura Lou Brookman, managing editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, speak at the annual Matrix Table.

The affair, which commemorates the fortieth anniversary of Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism society, will be held at the Nittany Lion Inn, April 4.

In addition to honoring the campus leaders, Theta Sigma Phi sponsors of the dinner, will give special recognition to three women named Cap Girl, Quill Girl and Matrix Girl.

Awards
Cap Girl is awarded to the senior with the most varied activities, Matrix Girl for outstanding service to the school and Quill Girl will be selected by coeds at elections next week from the presidents of Mortar Board, Chimes, WSGA and WRA.

Those eligible for Quill Girl are Pauline Globisch Parsons, former president of WRA; Janet Lyons, WSGA president; Frances Eshleman, president of Chimes; and Sara Bieber Stover, president of Mortar Board.

Annual Event
The Matrix Table has been an annual event for a number of years. Its purpose is to provide a get-together for outstanding women in all phases of campus activities, such as debate, government, publications, music, sports, class honoraries, and sorority. A thorough coverage of all girls on campus is made before the final invitation list is completed.
