

State, Lion Parties Name Nominees

Proving that politics, in addition to making strange bedfellows can make strange adversaries, two former party affiliates will vie for the All-College Presidency in the April elections.

Theodore Allen, former sophomore class president on the State party ticket, and Robert Gabriel, for two years a staunch State party supporter, won nominations for the office of All-College President at clique meetings Sunday night.

Allen, a junior in agricultural education, heads the slate of Lion party candidates that will be put before the campus voters on April 6 and 7. Gabriel won the State party nomination for the same office.

The complete list of nominees for each party is as follows:

STATE PARTY
All-College
 President—Robert Gabriel
 Vice-President—Joel Bachman
 Secretary-Treasurer—James Barry
Senior Class
 President—Robert Keller

Vice-President—
 Francis Eshleman
Secretary-Treasurer—
 Joel Fleming
Junior Class
 President—David Owen
 Vice-President—John Meszaros
Secretary-Treasurer—
 Virginia Lee Diver
LION PARTY

All-College
 President—Theodore Allen
 Vice-President—Harry McMahon
 Secretary-Treasurer—James MacCallom
Senior
 President—James Balog
 Vice-President—Joseph Reinheimer
 Secretary-Treasurer—Lorraine Stotler
Junior
 President—Harry Kondourajian
 Vice-President—John Erickson
 Secretary-Treasurer—Rudolph Valentino

Plenty of fireworks were unearthed at the two clique get-togethers, and most of them were provided by the Lions.

The State clique went right down the line with its steering committee recommendations. Only three offices were opposed, senior secretary-treasurer, junior vice-president, and junior secretary-treasurer. In each of these contested nominations the steering committee nominee won easily.

State Changes List
 The clique's executive body did pull a few surprises though, shuffling its list of nominees and coming out with what it termed "a better-balanced slate."

Robert Keller, last year's State clique chairman, came out of his self-imposed political limbo to accept the nomination as senior class president. James Barry, last week's committee recommendation for the same office, was moved up to the All-College secretary-treasurer's post.

In another shift of nominees Frances Eshleman and Joel Fleming exchanged posts on the State ticket, Eshleman accepting the nomination as senior vice-president and Fleming dropping down into the senior secretary-treasurer's slot.

The entire State meeting, including acceptance of the party's platform, lasted less than an hour.

Long Session
 In contrast, Lion party members jammed 10 Sparks for over two and a half hours before they finally agreed on a full slate of nominees. Only three of the nine posts were uncontested, and two of the offices were filled only after a second ballot was made necessary.

In the evening's two most stiffly-contested elections, John Erickson captured the nomination for junior vice-president from Joan Lappin 106-93 on the second ballot, and Rudolph Valentino edged Rose Eifert, 93-65, to secure the nomination for junior secretary-treasurer, also on a second ballot.

Three Unopposed
 Only Allen, Lorraine Stotler for the nominee as senior secretary-treasurer, and James MacCallom, who secured the Lion nomination as All-College secretary-treasurer, were unopposed in their quest for a spot on the Lion ticket.

Allen, in his acceptance speech, pledged full support of the Lion party platform and explained his switch from the State party. He said that after comparing the two parties' policies, he felt that the State party had many shortcomings.

"We must work hard to defeat a powerful machine," the All-College nominee concluded.

Brief Speech
 Gabriel's speech of acceptance was extremely brief. He expressed confidence in the State party's victory and pledged his support to the State platform.

In accepting his nomination, Keller pointed to State party victories in the two previous years as examples of the party's strength.

Representatives of both cliques adopted the party platforms verbatim, without dissent.

Profs Display Their Talents For First Spring Week Event

Whistling and laughing at the prof will be in order tonight when faculty members cut loose for their second annual talent show in Schwab at 8 p.m.

Sponsored by the school student councils, the talent show will benefit Philippine students who need funds for books. Tickets at 50 cents including tax will be on sale at Student Union until 5 p.m. and from 7 to 8 p.m.

Neilly M. C.

As Virgil Neilly, master of ceremonies, tours the campus, he finds his former profs behaving in a most unacademic manner. On Ag Hill he finds Glenn O. Bressler, Michael A. Samchock, A. H. Imhof, and William Davey giving out with vocal harmony. Then Dr. Stuart A. Mahuran of the journalism department is found dabbling in magic. Clara A. Lamade, Ray Fortunato, and Prof. Hummel Eishburn follow suit with their "Keyboard Kap-ers."

Other numbers on the program include scotch ballads by Bonny Bill Jeffrey, "The Ol' Professor," Lynn Christy, on the drums, and a square dance.

Frank Morris is manager; Prof. Ken Holderman, stage manager. In addition to the student council members mentioned Saturday Lester Hackenberry is on the planning committee.

Waring Salute

Fred Waring will salute the Penn State Glee Club on his 10 a.m. broadcast tomorrow. WMAJ has made arrangements to carry the program.

Froth Announces Lois Kenyon As 'Penn State Spring Queen'

Charming and vivacious Lois Kenyon, blonde sophomore class secretary-treasurer, was announced as "Penn State Spring Queen" by Frank Philippar and Arthur Ward, Froth co-editors, in the fortieth anniversary issue of the humor magazine, which went on sale today.

Miss Kenyon, whose full-page picture is featured in the magazine, will reign over this week's Spring Week festivities, and will be guest of honor at the IFC-Panhel Ball Friday night.

In addition, she will compete for the title of "Miss American Coed." Joyce Parker, '47, and Joyce Hodgins, '48, were national finalists the last two contests.

Miss Kenyon, a psychology major, has been quite active. In addition to her sophomore class post, she is president of southwest Atherton Hall, a member of the House of Representatives, and has participated in Aquacade swimming and modern dance. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Beauty "experts," Louis Bell, director of public information; James Coogan, assistant director of public information; Frank Neusbaum, professor of dramatics; and Ridge Riley, executive secretary-treasurer of the Alumni Association, made the selection.

Trustees Enact Changes; Clark, Baker Promoted

The executive committee of the Board of Trustees, in session at the College last Friday night, has approved several staff changes, announced James Milholland, acting president.

David C. Hogan was appointed bursar, filling the vacancy left by the appointment of Russell E. Clark to the newly-created position of director of housing. Miss Mildred A. Baker, previously made supervisor of dining halls and foods buyer, was elevated to the new position of director of foods service.

Clark who will assume his new position, is a graduate of the College, class of 1919, and has served as bursar since 1936. In his new office he will be responsible for maximum, efficient utilization of the College housing facilities.

Miss Baker, who served as director of food service at the University of Arizona, Tucson, until her appointment at the College in February 1948, will be responsible in her new role for food services operated by the College for students, guests, and staff members.

IFC Sing Enters Quarter-Finals

Two fraternities, Beta Theta Pi and Lambda Chi Alpha; and two sororities, Alpha Omicron Pi and Alpha Xi Delta, advanced into the quarter-final round of elimination in the IFC-Panhel sing contest.

Twelve fraternity and six sorority groups vied Sunday night at Schwab Auditorium. Last night the remaining fraternity and sorority groups completed the first round of eliminations.

The two fraternity and sorority winners of Sunday and Monday night compete in the semi-final round of the song fest tonight.

Two winners in each group, fraternity and sorority, will vie for the All-College song champion during intermission of the

WSGA-WRA Elections

Coeds are urged to vote for WSGA-WRA officers in the final elections today. Voting booths will be set up in the lobbies of Atherton, McAllister and Simmons Hall from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Extra booths will be located near the dining hall entrances at meal time. Town girls are asked to vote in McAllister Hall.

Voting for Quill Girl, the winner to be announced at the Matrix Dinner Monday night, will take place at Student Union from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. today and tomorrow. All coeds are eligible to vote for Quill Girl and for WSGA-WRA officers.

2 Days to Carnival

Coming down the home stretch toward the Spring Week Carnival, George Bearer and Abram Bosler, co-chairmen of the Carnival committee, have released some additional plans for the occasion. A parade beginning at the Pugh street entrance to the campus at 1:50 p.m. Thursday will precede the official opening of the Carnival. The parade will be made up of Windcrest children and a band. The Carnival will be officially opened at 2 p.m. when one of the children cuts the ribbon that will be extended across Allen street.

Late reports on the booth entries find a joint effort between the Phi Kappa Sigmas and Kappa Kappa Gamma. The booth named "A Burlesque on Burlesque" leaves much to the imagination but the two groups have promised barkers, a chorus line and novelty acts. The big question is, who it to do the performing?

Zeta Beta Tau plans call for a ball throwing booth with a gentleman in a top hat as the object. Could be that they may use "Red" Roth for a target in which case the success of the booth is practically guaranteed and they can be sure most of the customers will be coeds. However the entry blank says that the person under the hat will be protected by chicken wire.

"Sulton's Harem" sponsored by the Alpha Chi Omega promises oriental entertainment, magicians and a fire eater.

Lambda Chi Alpha will display its freaks to the curious and to lure customers inside they have planned a small outer stage to give you an idea of what awaits you inside.

DeNova To Speak At PSCA Meeting

"U.S. foreign policy in relation to Russia" will be the topic of Dr. John DeNova, of the history department, at the meeting of the PSCA commission groups and Club 51. The meeting which will take place in 304 Old Main at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow is the second in a series on Russian-American relations.

Nominations for members of the PSCA cabinet will be presented by the nominating committee and nominations will be accepted from the floor. Elections will be held on April 5. Group singing will be lead by William Hynes. Everyone is invited to attend.
